Onscreen Allusions to Shakespeare Alexa Alice Joubin,Victoria Bladen,2022-05-05 Allusions to Shakespeare haunt our contemporary culture in a myriad of ways whether through brief references or sustained intertextual engagements Shakespeare s plays and motifs have been appropriated in fragmentary forms onstage and onscreen since motion pictures were invented in 1893 This collection of essays extends beyond a US UK axis to bring together an international group of scholars to explore Shakespearean appropriations in unexpected contexts in lesser known films and television shows in India Brazil Russia France Australia South Africa East Central Europe and Italy with reference to some filmed stage works

Sofia Coppola and Generation X (So Far) Robert C. Sickels,2024-08-19 While the work of Sofia Coppola is sometimes dismissed as being stereotypically feminine and placing more focus on spectacle over substance Sofia Coppola and Generation X So Far Anxious and Effervescent draws attention to common characteristics present in Coppola s films to present an authorial signature and aesthetic that are both familiar yet evocative of Generation X s perception in the public consciousness In analyzing Coppola s films from The Virgin Suicides 1999 to Priscilla 2023 this book argues that her filmography acts as a reflection of her generation s evolving mindset and self image from its initial rise to prominence during the late 1980s to its current sentiment of discomfort with its fading influence French Cinema Dudley Andrew,2023 It is often claimed that the French invented cinema and although their prominence may have been supplanted by Hollywood today the French film industry remains both prolific and highly lauded Exploring the entire French cinematic oeuvre Andrew teases out the distinguishing themes to bring the defining features of French cinema to light Moral Atmospheres Timothy

P. A. Cooper, 2024-03-12 Lahore's Hall Road is the largest electronics market in Pakistan. Once the center of film and media piracy in South Asia, it now specializes in smartphones and accessories. For Hall Road's traders, conflicts between the economic promises and the moral dangers of film loom large. To reconcile their secular trade with their responsibilities as devoted Muslims, they often look to adjudicate the good or bad moral atmosphere, a maelstrom that can cling to film and media. Timothy P. A. Cooper examines the diverse and coexisting moral atmospheres that surround media in Pakistan, tracing public understandings of ethical life and showing how they influence economic behavior. Drawing on extensive ethnographic work among traders, consumers, collectors, archivists, cinephiles, and cinephobes, Moral Atmospheres explores varied views on what the relationship between film and faith should look, sound, and feel like for Pakistan's Muslim majority public. Cooper considers the preservation and censorship of film in and outside of the state bureaucracy, contestations surrounding heritage and urban infrastructure, and the production and circulation of sound and video recordings among the country's religious minorities. He argues that a focus on atmosphere provides ways of seeing moral thresholds as mutable and affective rather than as fixed ethical standpoints. At once a vivid ethnography of a market street and a generative theorization of atmosphere, this book offers fresh perspectives on moral experience and the relationship between religion and media. French B

Movies David A. Pettersen, 2023-03-07 In the impoverished outskirts of French cities known as the banlieues, minority communities are turning to American culture, history, and theory to make their own voices, cultures, and histories visible. Filmmakers have followed suit, turning to Hollywood genre conventions to challenge notions of identity, belonging, and marginalization in mainstream French film. French B Movies proposes that French banlieue films, far from being a fringe genre, offer a privileged site from which to understand the current state of the French film industry in an age of globalization. This gritty style appears in popular arthouse films such as Mathieu Kassovitz's La Haine and Bande de filles, Girlhood, along with the major Netflix hit series Lupin. David Pettersen traces how, in these works and others, directors fuse features of banlieue cinema with genre formulas associated with both Hollywood and Black cultural models, as well as how transnational genre hybridizations such as B movies have become part of the ecosystem of the French film industry. By combining film analysis, cultural history, critical theory, and industry studies, French B Movies reveals how featuring banlieues is as much about trying to imagine new identities and production models for French cinema as it is about representation. Is it

French? Popular Postnational Screen Fiction from France Mary Harrod, Raphaëlle Moine, 2024-01-30 This book investigates the recently accelerated phenomenon of mainstream French film and serial television's remarkable popularity, not only within but more novelly for European audiovisual narratives outside the domestic context. Treating changes that have taken place in France's production landscape during the mass rollout of global streaming platforms as revelatory of broader tendencies in media production and circulation in Europe and beyond, the collection explores emergent influential players, Omar Sy, Camille Cottin, Alexandre Aja, and Fanny Herrero, companies such as Netflix and Gaumont, and new genres.

identities and representations on screen It thus draws together a body of new research by international experts in French and European media production to analyse popular film and television series from France through a postnational lens with regards to both economic and institutional norms and to culture as a whole This book is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer com
