London and Its Environs Findlay Muirhead,1922 The Development of the Polis in Archaic Greece Lynette Mitchell,P.J. Rhodes,2003-10-04 Beyond the historical development of the Greek polis the authors ask questions about the civic institutions of ancient Greece as a whole and their relationships to each other Willing's Press Guide ,1933 A guide to the press of the United Kingdom and to the principal publications of Europe Australia the Far East Gulf States and the U S A The Rome of Peter and Paul Brian Schmisek,2017-10-12 This handbook is a short guide for those who are interested in Roman sites that have something to do with the New Testament and in particular with Peter and Paul For more than ten years Dr Schmisek has led graduate ministry programs in the Eternal City This book is informed by the questions insights and comments from students over those years While not addressing each and every claimed New Testament artifact in the city of Rome the handbook focuses on the more significant churches and locales that have a connection to Petrine and Pauline legends places such as St Peter's at the Vatican and St Paul's outside the Walls are included but also St Peter's at Montorio and Tre Fontane. There are two primary parts to this book: the first is a brief survey of what is known and not known regarding Peter and Paul's time in Rome. The various sources of Pauline and Petrine legends are included in this survey as those legends are key to interpreting many sites and their significance. The second part of the book is more akin to a tour book laid out in four subsections generally corresponding to geographical areas of the city. This brief handbook will be a valuable guide to those who seek a greater understanding of the historical and legendary background to Petrine and Pauline sites in Rome.

The Philosophy of Autobiography Christopher Cowley, 2015-10-26

This book promises to be the first of its kind: a philosophical investigation of autobiographical writing. All of us are autobiographers at least some of the time and all of us crave certain kinds of recognition and confirmation from others just as we fear blame and reproach from those who know us well. The philosophy of autobiography examines this fundamental story-telling process and its place in our lives. As such it straddles a number of long-standing philosophical questions having to do with the meaning of life, the problems of autonomy and responsibility and authenticity, the nature of self-deception and bad faith, the structure of the self and its existence through time, the question of the reliability and meaning of memory and the problem of understanding another person and imaginatively identifying with him. The contributors to the volume are mostly philosophers but many of them have interests outside philosophy and have been informed by research findings from literary theory and from psychiatry. Some of the contributors are also literary theorists and one of them has even published autobiographical work. Contributors also examine specific autobiographies and diaries of philosophers and non-philosophers as well as fictional works using an autobiographical format in order to explore the philosophical implications and presuppositions of the genre. The result is a most useful and productive interdisciplinary exchange.
