Pinning Down the Past Mike Corbishley, 2014-04-17 In a relatively short period of time the pursuit of archaeology has evolved from an antiquarian interest to a specialised scientific activity Part of this evolution has always included the interest of the public and archaeologists efforts to educate them As each new method and technique is developed and each new specialism is created the challenge of making archaeology available as a learning resource grows with it Today for example the issues which surround archaeology and heritage such as the pressures of tourism on sites now form part of many formal educational curricula This book the first to deal with the subject in such depth examines the place of education and outreach within the wider archaeological community Written by one of Britain's leading archaeological educationalists it charts the sometimes difficult and painful growth and development of education and archaeology Packed full of informative and enlightening case studies from the circus at Colchester to Sutton Hoo and Hadrian's Wall this work examines exactly how we have reached the point we are at where that place is and suggests areas for future development By drawing upon many decades of experience at the front line of archaeological education the author has produced a key text that will play a major role in the on going development of the heritage industry Publisher's website

The Old French Chronicle of Morea, 2016-01-28 Numerous Byzantine and Western sources describing the events of the Fourth Crusade have now been translated into English However the same is not true for material on Frankish Greece despite this region's importance to late medieval crusading The Chronicle of Morea is the key source for the history of the Frankish states established in Greece after the conquest of Constantinople in 1204 and their relations with the reviving Byzantine Empire during the 13th century It is also an important source for the growth of the Venetian maritime empire Most of the action centers on the Peloponnese then called Achaia or Morea where crusaders William of Champlitte and Geoffrey of Villehardouin nephew of the famous chronicler established a principality and the Villehardouins a dynasty Preserved in a unique fourteenth century manuscript the Old French version of the Chronicle of Morea is a contemporary account of Frankish feudal life transposed onto foreign soil It describes clashes conquests and ransoms between the Franks and Byzantines as well as their alliances and arranged marriages A rich source the Chronicle of Morea brims with anecdotes giving insight into the operation of feudal justice the role of noble women in feudal society the practice of chivalry and the conduct of warfare Versions of the Chronicle exist in Aragonese Greek and Italian as well as in Old French However this is the first translation into English or any other modern language of the Old
