The Wolf at the Door Geoffrey Cocks, 2004 Discovers a Holocaust subtext in Kubrick's films culminating in his 1980 adaptation of Stephen King's horror novel The Shining Maintains that this is reflected in his depiction of harsh struggles with and over power and violence Several of his films deal with war and state power The Shining is seen as an artistic and philosophical response to the horrors of World War II Among the influences on the filmmaker are Hilberg's The Destruction of the European Jews Kubrick's Jewish past and his early years that were affected by fascism and war Kubrick's marriage into an artistic German family also contributed to his preoccupation with the history of Nazi Germany and the Holocaust which were indirectly reflected in his oeuvre

The Material Unconscious Bill Brown, 1996 Within the ephemera of the everyday old photographs circus posters iron toys lies a challenge to America's dominant cultural memory What this memory has left behind Bill Brown recovers in the material unconscious of Stephen Crane's work the textual residues of daily sensations that add up to a new history of the American 1890s As revealed in Crane's disavowing appropriation of an emerging mass culture from football games and freak shows to roller coasters and early cinema the decade reappears as an underexposed moment in the genealogy of modernism and modernity Brown's story begins on the Jersey Shore in Asbury Park where Crane became a writer in the shadow of his father a grimly serious Methodist minister who vilified the popular amusements his son adored The coastal resorts became the stage for debates about technology about the body's visibility about a black service class and the new mass access to leisure From this snapshot of a recreational scene that would continue to inspire Crane's sensational modernism Brown takes us to New York's Bowery There in the visual culture established by dime museums minstrel shows and the Kodak craze he exhibits Crane dramatically obscuring the typology of race Along the way Brown demonstrates how attitudes toward play transformed the image of war the idea of childhood and nationhood and the concept of culture itself And by developing a new conceptual apparatus with such notions as recreational time abstract leisure and the amusement knowledge system he provides the groundwork for a new politics of pleasure A crucial theorization of how cultural studies can and should proceed The Material Unconscious insists that in the very conjuncture of canonical literature and mass culture we can best understand how proliferating and competing economies of play disrupt the so called logic and work of culture

Interpretation and Genre Thomas Kent, 1986 Kent proposes a general theory of genre classification and applies this genetic model to American fiction written during the last half of the nineteenth century Combining theory and application Kent attempts to demonstrate that what we say about texts is related directly to our generic perception of them The Real Thing Miles Orvell, 2014-08-25 In this classic study of the relationship between technology and culture Miles Orvell demonstrates that the roots of contemporary popular culture reach back to the Victorian era when mechanical replications of familiar objects reigned supreme and realism dominated artistic representation Reacting against this genteel culture of imitation a number of artists and intellectuals at the turn of the century were inspired by the machine to create more authentic works of art that were themselves real things The resulting tension between a culture of imitation and a culture of authenticity argues Orvell has become a defining category in our culture The twenty fifth anniversary edition includes a new preface by the author looking back on the late twentieth century and assessing tensions between imitation and authenticity in the context of our digital age Considering material culture photography and literature the book touches on influential figures such as writers Walt Whitman Henry James John Dos Passos and James Agee photographers Alfred Stieglitz Walker Evans and Margaret Bourke White and architect designers Gustav Stickley and Frank Lloyd Wright Uganda Philip Briggs,2007 A thoroughly revised and updated guide to East Africa s center of adventure

The Nineteenth-century American Short Story A. Robert Lee,1986-01-01 This collection addresses the key American short story writers Poe Irving Melville Hawthorne Twain Crane Bierce Chopin and James and addresses both the vision and the design of their collective achievement Management, Leadership and Entrepreneurship in Latin America. Dr. Librado Enrique Gonzalez,2014-03-25 Latin America a region that is constantly recognized as one of the top economies in the world is growing at an amazing rate Although Latin America is doing very good it is facing a severe problemthe local talent is not receiving the correct attention Every time I talk to managers of large multinational corporations and professors about the talent and human resources in Latin America I always seem to find a consensus most of the local talent is not well trained According to them key positions inside mid and largesized companies are rarely occupied by local talent Corporations fill the hole with foreign talent which is more expensive and difficult to find This could be Latin Americas Achilles heel I personally understand that developing Leadership Management skills and Entrepreneurship takes time and that in some cases that time will be wasted but it amuses me how some companies complain about the talent and they dont take the time to develop it They rely on employees from other companies to fill the empty spots Companies in Latin America need to start working proactively and not reactively Over the last 10 years economic growth averaged 4.2% and 70 million people escaped poverty Macroeconomic stability open trade policies and pro business investment climates have supported and will continue to support strong growth in the years to come Crucially economic gains are being broadly shared Latin America grew by 50 million people between 2003 and 2009 an increase of 50% For a region long riven by wealth inequality this is a remarkable achievement The importance of family and personal relationships also impacts the workplace For example it is more common in Latin America to seek employment with family members hire family members and look to the family for help in times of need In addition many Latin Americans feel more comfortable doing business with people they know personally and developing that relationship is often considered an essential first step Americans who try to move things along more quickly and get to the point may become frustrated and or offend Latin Americans This means that establishing business contacts and closing deals are best done in person and may take more time than is customary in the U S What So Proudly We Hail Amy A. The Ethos of Romance at the Turn of the Century William J. Scheick, 2014-10-14 The romance genre was a popular literary form among writers and readers in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries but since then it has often been dismissed as juvenile unmodern improper or subversive In this study William J Scheick seeks to recover the place of romance in fin de siècle England and America to distinguish among its subgenres of eventuary aesthetic and ethical romance and to reinstate ethical romance as a major mode of artistic expression Scheick argues that the narrative maneuvers of ethical romance dissolve the boundary between fiction and fact In contrast to eventuary romances which offer easily consumed entertainment or aesthetic romances which urge upon readers a passive appreciation of a wondrous work of art ethical romances potentially disorient and reorient their readers concerning some metaphysical insight hidden within the commonplace They prompt readers to question what is real and what is true and to ponder the wonder of life and the text of the self there to detect what the reader might do in the art of his or her own life The authors whose works Scheick discusses are Nathaniel Hawthorne H Rider Haggard Henry James C J Cutcliffe Hyne H G Wells John Kendrick Bangs Gilbert K Chesterton Richard Harding Davis Stephen Crane Mary Austin Jack London Robert Louis Stevenson Mary Cholmondeley and Rudyard Kipling This wide selection expands the canon to include writers and works that highly merit re-reading by a new generation

Deadly Musings Michael Kowalewski, 1993-07-26 Violent scenes in American fiction are not only brutal bleak and gratuitous writes Michael Kowalewski They are also by turns comic witty poignant and sometimes strangely enough even terrifyingly beautiful In this fascinating tour of American fiction Kowalewski examines incidents ranging from scalpings and torture in The Deerslayer to fish feeding off human viscera in To Have and Have Not to show how highly charged descriptive passages bear on major issues concerning a writer's craft Instead of focusing on violence as a socio-cultural phenomenon he explores how writers including Cooper Poe Crane Hemingway Faulkner Wright Flannery O'Connor and Pynchon draw on violence in the realistic imagining of their works and how their respective styles sustain or counteract this imagining Kowalewski begins by offering a new definition of realism or realistic imagining and the rhetorical imagination that seems to oppose it Then for each author he investigates how scenes of violence exemplify the stylistic imperatives more generally at work in that writer's fiction Using violence as the critical occasion for exploring the distinctive qualities of authorial voice Deadly Musings addresses the question of what literary criticism is and ought to be and how it might apply more usefully to the dynamics of verbal performance
