1919 - The Year That Changed China Elisabeth Forster, 2018-03-05 The year 1919 changed Chinese culture radically but in a way that completely took contemporaries by surprise At the beginning of the year even well informed intellectuals did not anticipate that for instance baihua a precursor of the modern Chinese language communism Hu Shi and Chen Duxiu would become important and famous all of which was very obvious to them at the end of the year Elisabeth Forster traces the precise mechanisms behind this transformation on the basis of a rich variety of sources including newspapers personal letters student essays advertisements textbooks and diaries She proposes a new model for cultural change which puts intellectual marketing at its core This book retells the story of the New Culture Movement in light of the diversified and decentered picture of Republican China developed in recent scholarship It is a lively and ironic narrative about cultural change through academic infighting rumors and conspiracy theories newspaper stories and intellectuals hell bent on selling agendas through powerful buzzwords How the Market Is Changing China's News Xin Xin, 2012-09-14 This book provides a critical account of the transformations both structural and in terms of journalism practice undergone by Xinhua the top Party organ of the Communist regime in China since the start of the reform age in the late 1970s It sets out to answer a number of key questions How far has the most influential news organization in China been marketized How far has the marketization process changed the way in which Xinhua practices journalism What has the impact of marketization been on Xinhua's relationship with central local and global actors What does the case of Xinhua tell us about the transformation of Chinese media more generally The book draws on a wealth of empirical data derived from a combination of documentary research at Xinhua and Reuters together with more than 100 semi structured interviews with news executives journalists officials and academics in Beijing Shanghai Guangzhou Macau Hong Kong and London This book also offers A critical review of theories of globalization as they relate to media and communication studies as well as Chinese studies A discussion of the historical roots of Party journalism in China An authoritative guide to China's contemporary media and political environment The book will be an invaluable reference for students and academics in communication and media studies Chinese studies Asian studies international studies and development studies Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent, 2002-12-04 This volume comprises indexes to Volumes 48-72 a contributing author index a reference author index and a subject index Creating China's Climate Change Policy Olivia Gippner, 2020-02-28 Drawing on first hand interview data with experts and government officials Olivia Gippner develops a new analytical framework to explore the vested interests and policy debates surrounding Chinese climate policy making Authorship and Text-making in Early China Hanmo Zhang, 2018-10-08 This book is a timely response to a rather urgent call to seek an updated methodology in rereading and reappraising early Chinese texts in light of newly discovered early writings For a long time the concept of authorship in the formation and transmission of early Chinese texts has been misunderstood The nominal author who should mainly function as a guide to text formation and interpretation is considered retrospectively as the originator and writer of the text This book illustrates that although some notions about the text as the author s property began to appear in some Eastern Han texts a strict correlation between the author and the text results from later conceptions of literary history Before the modern era there existed a conceptual gap between an author and a writer A pre modern Chinese text could have had both an author and a writer or even multiple authors and multiple writers This work is the first study addressing these issues by more systematically emphasizing the connection of the text the author and the religious and sociopolitical settings in which these issues were embedded It is expected to constitute a palpable contribution to Chinese studies and the discipline of philology in general
