The Intimate Screen Jason Jacobs, 2000 This book explores the formative period of British television drama concentrating on the years 1936-55. It examines the continuities and changes of early television drama and the impact this had upon the subsequent golden age. In particular it questions the caricature of early television drama as photographed stage plays and argues that early television pioneers in fact produced a diverse range of innovative drama productions using a wide range of techniques. It also explores the often competing definitions about the form and aesthetics of early television drama both inside and outside the BBC. Given the absence of an audio visual record of early television drama the book uses written archive material in order to reconstruct how early television drama looked and how it was considered by producers and critics whilst also offering a critical examination of surviving dramas such as Rudolph Cartier's Nineteen Eighty Four. The Films of Terence Fisher Wheeler Winston Dixon, 2017-10-24. This book traces the entire career of the British director Terence Fisher best known for his Gothic horror films for Hammer such as The Curse of Frankenstein 1957 and Dracula 1958. Wheeler Winston Dixon covers not only his horror films but also his film noirs comedies and early work to create a full picture of Fisher's life and work.
