Colour in Sculpture Hannelore Hägele,2013-09-11 This book introduces the reader to the art of sculpture across five millennia up to the present and from the Near East to the west In each of the eleven chapters a number of selected works are discussed to exemplify the circumstances and conditions for making pieces of sculpture objects peculiar to place time and context Within each cultural framework characteristics are observable that suggest various reasons for the use of colour in sculpture These encompass local preferences customs or cultural requirements and others point to an impulse to enhance the expression of the phenomenal Whether colour is really necessary or even essential to sculpted works of art is a question especially pertinent since the Renaissance Surface finishes of sculptural representations may allude to the sensory world of colour without even having pigment applied to them What makes polychromy so special is that it functions as an overlay of another dimension that sometimes carries further encoded meaning In nature the colour is integral to the given object What the present survey suggests is that the relationship between colour and sculpture is a matter of intentional expression even where the colour is intrinsic as in the sculptor s materials

Catalogue of Sales Christie, Manson & Woods International Inc,1983-05-26 Designing Women Lucy Fischer,2003-07-30 Grand sensational and exotic Art Deco design was above all modern exemplifying the majesty and boundless potential of a newly industrialized world From department store window dressings to the illustrations in the Sears Roebuck Co catalogs to the glamorous pages of Vogue and Harper s Bazar Lucy Fischer documents the ubiquity of Art Deco in mainstream consumerism and its connection to the emergence of the New Woman in American society Fischer argues that Art Deco functioned as a trademark for popular notions of femininity during a time when women were widely considered to be the primary consumers in the average household and as the tactics of advertisers as well as the content of new magazines such as Good Housekeeping and the Woman s Home Companion increasingly catered to female buyers While reflecting the growing prestige of the modern woman Art Deco inspired consumerism helped shape the image of femininity that would dominate the American imagination for decades to come In films of the middle and late 1920s the Art Deco aesthetic was at its most radical Female stars such as Greta Garbo Joan Crawford and Myrna Loy donned sumptuous Art Deco fashions while the directors Cecil B DeMille Busby Berkeley Jacques Feyder and Fritz Lang created cinematic worlds that were veritable Deco extravaganzas But the style soon fell into decline and Fischer examines the attendant taming of the female role throughout the 1930s as a growing conservatism challenged the feminist advances of an earlier generation Progressively muted in films the Art Deco woman once an object of intense desire gradually regressed toward demeaning caricatures and pantomimes of unbridled sexuality Exploring the vision of American womanhood as it was portrayed in a large body of films and a variety of genres from the fashionable musicals of

Josephine Baker and Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers to the fantastic settings of Metropolis The Wizard of Oz and Lost Horizon Fischer reveals America's long standing fascination with Art Deco the movement's iconic influence on cinematic expression and how its familiar style left an indelible mark on American culture Catalogue of auction ,1983-03-26
