Imagining Architects Ajay J. Sinha,2000 Imagining Architects explores the nature of visual inventions in the religious architecture of India using an analytical framework that gives makers of religious monuments a visibility commonly denied to them in the historiography of Indian art and architecture The exploration is based on a series of unusual formal experiments documented in a group of stone temples built in the eleventh century in the Karnataka region of southern India The author shows in these experiments a deliberate search for a new architectural principle using textual evidence and inscriptions referring to architects The author also demonstrates a self conscious modernity of Karnataka s makers who negotiated architectural traditions and religious ideas to radically change a previous architectural norm dominating the region
