Developing an All-School Model for Elementary Integrative Music Learning Carol E. Reed-Jones, 2014-03 The purpose of this study was to investigate the potential for increasing informal music making in elementary school culture and create a model of such music making Precedence for this model can be found in the literature of ethnomusicology educational psychology and learning theory multicultural music education and cultural anthropology Literature from four distinct traditions and contexts of music making in integrative sociocultural contexts sub Saharan African ngoma and Community Music as manifested in New Orleans second lines old time music and dance and summer camp music making was parsed with a philosophical lens to determine and assess possible areas of intersection between these four participatory cultures and North American public school culture Each of these five areas was examined through a comprehensive review of literature to define their salient characteristics These characteristics were sorted to determine commonalities between areas and the zones of intersection became the basis for a speculative model of integrative music learning featuring the inclusion of musical opportunities and interludes throughout the school day thus taking school music beyond the confines of the music room Instruction in music classes would still continue enhanced in this model by supplemental learning opportunities inspired by the informal learning of traditional world musics the participatory practice of New Orleans second line parades old time music and dance and summer camp music culture This model of integrative learning is also informed by current educational best practices such as child centered learning peer tutoring experiential learning and multicultural perspectives

It acknowledges the diversity of traditions consulted while aiming for the unity in their seemingly disparate disciplines Five universal characteristics were uncovered in the search for areas of intersection between North American elementary school culture child culture ngoma music making and Community Music style music making in New Orleans old time music and dance and summer camp contexts a Song b play c informal learning as evidenced by oral tradition peer tutoring self learning d kinesthetic learning and e contextualized learning as evidenced in the sociocultural uses of music and situated learning This model strives for the enactment of school music as a vital and integral part of daily school culture

Proulx, 2009-08 For almost eight hundred years 100 BC AD 650 Nasca artists modeled and painted the plants animals birds and fish of their homeland on Peru's south coast as well as numerous abstract anthropomorphic creatures whose form and meaning are sometimes incomprehensible today In this first book length treatment of Nasca ceramic iconography to appear in English drawing upon an archive of more than eight thousand Nasca vessels from over 150 public and private collections Donald Proulx systematically describes the major artistic motifs of this stunning polychrome pottery interprets the major themes displayed on this pottery and then uses these descriptions and his stimulating interpretations to analyze Nasca society After beginning with an overview of Nasca culture and an explanation of the style and chronology of Nasca pottery Proulx moves to the heart of his book a detailed classification and description of the entire range of supernatural and secular themes in Nasca iconography along with a fresh and distinctive interpretation of these themes Linking the pots and their iconography to the archaeologically known Nasca society he ends with a thorough and accessible examination of this ancient culture viewed through the lens of ceramic iconography Although these static images can never be fully understood by animating their themes and meanings Proulx reconstructs the lifeways of this complex society

The Anthropology of Music Alan P. Merriam, Valerie Merriam, 1964-12-01 In this highly praised and seminal work Alan Merriam demonstrates that music is a social behavior one worthy and available to study through the methods of anthropology In it he convincingly argues that ethnomusicology by definition cannot separate the sound analysis of music from its cultural context of people thinking acting and creating The study begins with a review of the various approaches in ethnomusicology He then suggests a useful and simple research model ideas about music lead to behavior related to music and this behavior results in musical sound He explains many aspects and outcomes of this model and the methods and techniques he suggests are useful to anyone doing field work Further chapters provide a cross cultural round up of concepts about music physical and verbal behavior related to music the role of the musician and the learning and composing of music The Anthropology of Music illuminates much of interest to musicologists but to social scientists in general as well beauty as the central aim of art the modernist avant garde were deeply suspicious of beauty and its perennial symbols woman and ornament preferring instead the thrill and alienation of the sublime They rejected harmony empathy and femininity in a denial still reverberating through art and social relations today Exploring this casting of Venus with all her charms into exile Wendy Steiner s brilliant ambitious and provocative analysis explores the twentieth century s troubled relationship with beauty Tracing this strange and damaging history starting from Kant s aesthetics and Mary Shelley s horrified response in Frankenstein Steiner untangles the complex attitudes of modernists toward both beauty and the female subject in art She argues that the avant garde set out to replace the impurity of woman and ornament with form the new arch symbol of artistic beauty However in the process of controlling desire and pleasure in this way artists admitted the exotic fetish objects of primitive cultures someone else s power and allure that surely would not overmaster the sophisticated modernist A century of pornography shock and alienation followed and this rejection of feminine and bourgeois values domesticity intimacy charm kept the female subject an impossible and remote symbol Ironically as Steiner reveals the feminist hostility to the beauty myth had a parallel result leaving Western society alienated from desire and pleasure on all sides In the course of this elegantly constructed and accessibly written argument Steiner explores the cultural history of the century just ended from Dada to Futurism T S Eliot s Wasteland and Picasso s Les Femmes d'Alger to Pumping Iron II The Women and Deep Throat Jean Michel Basquiat and Outsider Art Naomi Wolf and Cindy Sherman Thomas Pynchon and Don DeLillo ranging across art and architecture poetry and the novel feminist writing and pornography Only in recent years Steiner demonstrates has our culture begun to see a way out of this damaging impasse revising the reputations of neglected artists such as Pierre Bonnard and celebrating pleasure and charm in the arts of the present By disentangling beauty from a misogynistic view of femininity as passive narcissistic sentimental inefficacious Western culture now seems ready to return to the female subject and ornament in art and to accept male beauty as a possibility to explore and celebrate as well Steiner finds hints of these developments in the work of figures as varied as the painter Marlene Dumas the novelist Penelope Fitzgerald and the choreographer Mark Morris as she leads us to a rediscovery and a reclamation of beauty in the Western world From one of our most thoughtful and ambitious cultural critics this important and thought provoking work not only provides us with a searching analysis of where we have been in the last century but reveals the promise of where we might be going in the coming one
