The Oxford Handbook of Dewey Steven Fesmire,2019 This handbook is currently in development with individual articles publishing online in advance of print publication At this time we cannot add information about unpublished articles in this handbook however the table of contents will continue to grow as additional articles pass through the review process and are added to the site Please note that the online publication date for this handbook is the date that the first article in the title was published online John Dewey's Theory of Art, Experience, and Nature Thomas M. Alexander,2012-02-16 Thomas Alexander shows that the primary guiding concern of Dewey s philosophy is his theory of aesthetic experience He directly challenges those critics most notably Stephen Pepper and Benedetto Croce who argued that this area is the least consistent part of Dewey s thought The author demonstrates that the fundamental concept in Dewey s system is that of experience and that paradigmatic treatment of experience is to be found in Dewey s analysis of aesthetics and art The confusions resulting from the neglect of this orientation have led to prolonged misunderstandings eventual neglect and unwarranted popularity for ideas at odds with the genuine thrust of Dewey s philosophical concerns By exposing the underlying aesthetic foundations of Dewey s philosophy Alexander aims to rectify many of these errors generating a fruitful new interest in Dewey Art Scents Larry E.

The Metaphysics of Self and World Elie Maynard Adams, 1991 A great fissure occurred in Western civilization in the early modern period with the divorce between the humanities and the sciences and the rise of scientific naturalism The Metaphysics of Self and World is a philosophical exploration of the relationship between the individual the culture and the world It is in the author's words a philosophy of the humanities a philosophy of humanity and a philosophy of social reality It explores the implications of a world view that would integrate the perspective of the sciences with humanistic ways of thought E M Adams claims that we do violence to ourselves as human beings by trying to fit into the world as delineated in scientific categories Rejecting cultural subjectivism and scientific naturalism he argues for the irreducibility and validity of the categories of the humanities and for a fully developed humanistic philosophy of self and world In generating this world view he utilizes the humanities as a source of culture therapy in order to close the fissure in Western civilization Author note E M Adams is Kenan Professor of Philosophy Emeritus at the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill He has written numerous books and articles and a festschrift celebrating his work Mind Value and Culture Essays in Honor of E M Adams

 Ever since Freud put religion on the couch in The Future of an Illusion there has been an uneasy peace with occasional skirmishes between these two great disciplines of subjectivity As prime meaning givers God and the unconscious have vied for supremacy in our thinking about ourselves especially our thinking about our human nature our moral stature and our destiny Freud in his bold manner found projection fear and denial to be the wellspring of religion s domination over man In analogous fashion those giving primacy to the soul over the unconscious have long dismissed psychoanalysis as mechanistic reductionistic and hence inadequate to the examination of spirituality Soul on the Couch is premised on the belief that discourse about the soul and discourse from the couch can inform and not simply ignore one another It brings together scholars and psychoanalysts at the forefront of an interdisciplinary dialogue that is vitally important to the growth of both disciplines Their essays are not only models of reflective inquiry they also illuminate the syntheses that emerge when analysts and scholars of religion bridge the gap that has long separated them and speak to one another Chronophobia Pamela M. Lee, 2006-02-17 An examination of the pervasive anxiety about and fixation with time seen in 1960s art In the 1960s art fell out of time both artists and critics lost their temporal bearings in response to what E M Cioran called not being entitled to time This anxiety and uneasiness about time which Pamela Lee calls chronophobia cut across movements media and genres and was figured in works ranging from kinetic sculptures to Andy Warhol films Despite its pervasiveness the subject of time and 1960s art has gone largely unexamined in historical accounts of the period Chronophobia is the first critical attempt to define this obsession and analyze it in relation to art and technology Lee discusses the chronophobia of art relative to the emergence of the Information Age in postwar culture The accompanying rapid technological transformations including the advent of computers and automation processes produced for many an acute sense of historical unknowing the seemingly accelerated pace of life began to outstrip any attempts to make sense of the present Lee sees the attitude of 1960s art to time as a historical prelude to our current fixation on time and speed within digital culture Reflecting upon the 1960s cultural anxiety about temporality she argues helps us historicize our current relation to technology and time After an introductory framing of terms Lee discusses such topics as presentness with respect to the interest in systems theory in 1960s art kinetic sculpture and new forms of global media the temporality of the body and the spatialization of the visual image in the paintings of Bridget Riley and the performance art of Carolee Schneemann Robert Smithson s interest in seriality and futurity considered in light of his reading of George Kubler s important work The Shape of Time Remarks on the History of Things and Norbert Wiener s discussion of cybernetics and the endless belaboring of the present in sixties art as seen in Warhol s Empire and the work of On Kawara Engaging Communities Through Civic Engagement in Art Museum Education Bobick, Bryna, DiCindio, Carissa, 2020-12-25 As art museum educators become more involved in curatorial decisions and creating opportunities for community voices to be represented in the galleries of the museum museum education is shifting from responding to works of art to developing authentic opportunities for engagement with their communities Current research focuses on museum education experiences and the wide reaching benefits of including these experiences into art education courses As more universities add art museum education to their curricula there is a need for a text to support the topic and offer examples of real world museum education experiences Engaging Communities Through Civic Engagement in Art Museum Education deepens knowledge on museum and art education and civic engagement and bridges the gap from theory to practice The chapters focus on various sectors of this research including diversity and inclusion in museum experiences engaging communities through new techniques and museum and university partnerships As such it includes coverage on timely topics that include programs and audience engagement with the LGBTQ refugee disability and senior communities socially responsive museum pedagogy and the use of student workers This book is ideal for museum educators museum directors curators professionals practitioners researchers academicians and students who are interested in updated knowledge and research in art education curriculum development and civic engagement Viktor Frankl and the Book of Job Marshall H. Lewis, 2020-01-01 As a Holocaust survivor neurologist and psychiatrist Dr Viktor E Frankl had a personal stake in the effectiveness of his approach to psychology he lived the suffering about which he wrote With this new reading of the Book of Job Lewis further develops Frankl's concept of Logotherapy as a literary hermeneutic presenting readers with the opportunity to discover unique meanings and clarify their attitudes toward pain guilt and death Key issues emerge from the discussion of three different movements which address Frankl's concept of the feeling of meaninglessness and his rejection of reductionism and nihilism the dual nature of meaning and his ideas of ultimate meaning and self transcendence Discovering meaning through participation with the text enables us to see that Job's final response can become a site for transcending suffering The Eclipse and Recovery of Beauty John Dadosky, 2014-02-24 According to the Swiss theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar a world that has lost sight of beauty is a world riddled with skepticism moral and aesthetic relativism conflicting religious worldviews and escalating ecological crises In The Eclipse and Recovery of Beauty John D Dadosky uses Kierkegaard and Nietzsche's negative aesthetics to outline the context of that loss and presents an argument for reclaiming beauty as a metaphysical property of being Inspired by Bernard Lonergan's philosophy of consciousness Dadosky presents a philosophy of beauty that is grounded in contemporary Thomistic thought Responding to Balthasar he argues for a concept of beauty that can be experienced understood judged created contemplated and even loved Deeply engaged with the work of Aquinas Kierkegaard Nietzsche and Kant among others The Eclipse and Recovery of Beauty will be essential reading for those interested in contemporary philosophy and theology Explorations in Art, Theology and Imagination Michael Ridgwell Austin, 2016-04-08 Christianity has repeatedly valued the Word over and above the non verbal arts Art has been seen through the interpretative lens of theology rather than being valued for what it can bring to the discipline Explorations in Art Theology and Imagination argues that art is crucially important to theology The book explores the interconnecting themes of embodiment and incarnation faith and imagination and the similarities and differences between art and theology Arguing for a critique that begins with art and moves to theology Explorations in Art Theology and Imagination offers a radical re evaluation of the role of art in Christian discourse The Recovery of Self Kevin Fauteux,1994 Sigmund Freud believed that regression to primitive behavior was a pathological escape from reality However all religions in some manner or another have urged their adherents to return to a simple way of being Some have declared child like behavior to be a high form of holiness So is religion pathological or not Or better yet how and when does religious regression support psychological growth and when does it not The Recovery of Self is a pioneering study of regression in religious experience It maintains that certain kinds of regression offer opportunities to confront unresolved childhood processes and repair them Just as an artist may be put in touch with his or her primal self during the creative process so a religious seeker can journey backward into primitive modes of being and recover there a sense of original unity which when carried into the present can be redemptive and transforming BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Essays on the Blurring of Art and Life Allan Kaprow,2023-11-15 Allan Kaprow s happenings and environments were the precursors to contemporary performance art and his essays are some of the most thoughtful provocative and influential of his generation His sustained inquiry into the paradoxical relationship of art to life and into the nature of meaning itself is brought into focus in this newly expanded collection of his most significant writings A new preface and two new additional essays published in the 1990s bring this valuable collection up to date Allan Kaprow s happenings and environments were the precursors to contemporary performance art and his essays are some of the most thoughtful provocative and influential of his generation His sustained inquiry into the paradoxical relationship of

of its notorious resistance to words and concepts But an increasing number are discovering again what many of our forbears realized centuries ago that the kinship between this pervasive feature of human life and the search for a Christian intelligence of faith is intimate and ineradicable Maeve Heaney s ambitious wide ranging and energetic book pushes the conversation further forward still Her approach is unapologetically theological grounded in the passions and concerns of mainstream doctrinal theology And yet she is insisting that music must be given its due place in the ecology of theology Although convinced that music should not be set up as a rival to linguistic or conceptual articulation let alone swallow up traditional modes of theological language and thought she is equally convinced that music is an irreducible means of coming to terms with the world a unique vehicle of world disclosure and as such can generate a particular form of understanding there are things which God may only be saying through music If this is so it is incumbent on the theologian to listen Jeremy Begbie from the Foreword
