Boulware, Gustavo R. Heudebert, 2003

Clinical Primer of Rheumatology is designed as a concise essential reference to aid practitioners in diagnosing and treating rheumatoid diseases. More than 200 photographs and many tables and charts provide easy access to information necessary to identify the cause of a patient's complaint and plan a course of therapy. Arthritis and Related Affections Arnold Soren, 2012-12-06

This comprehensive text presents an introduction to the basic knowledge of the anatomy and histology of joints as well as a thorough information on the histochemistry of the articular cartilage. All modalities of examination leading to the ascertainment of the diagnosis in joint affections are discussed in detail and according to the recent results of scientific research. All known 59 entities of arthritis and related affections are considered as to their etiology, pathogenesis, symptomatology, clinical examination, laboratory tests, radiological findings, pathologic anatomy, histopathology, differential diagnosis, conservative treatment, and surgical treatment. Each chapter is supplemented with illustrations of exemplary clarity and instructiveness. Many of these presented changes were never published before. This didactically well organized and systemic book is of highly informative use to rheumatologists, general practitioners, orthopaedic surgeons, radiologists, pathologists, and physical therapists.

Pathology of Rheumatic Diseases H.G. Fassbender, 2013-03-09

Pathology is no longer the dead science it was reputed to be a few decades ago. The famous Canadian pathologist William Boyd expressed the newer attitude aptly when he stated that pathology should no longer be concerned simply with describing the WHAT of disease but must be increasingly concerned with the HOW and the WHY. By this he implied that the preoccupation of the usual student of disease in the architecture of diseased tissues and descriptions of participating cells, their staining characteristics, etc. must give way to study and understanding of the dynamics of each disease process, the pathogenetic mechanisms producing the changes in body tissues. This study is not limited simply to etiologic factors and portals of entry to the site of the lesion but includes the physical and chemical factors involved, the variations of host response conditioned by immunologic reactions of differing intensities.
