Weiner, Les Paul Gallo-Silver, 2019-01-03 Fatherhood is a foundational human endeavor steeped in the history of familial and societal development Every father has within himself the makings of a complete parent in terms of his sense of fulfillment Are you the type of father that you truly want to be Do you feel secure in your decision making Do you sense that you come across as too strict at times or too lenient Can you be playful and spontaneous when you want to be Are you comfortable with having those difficult conversations Drawing on Carl Jung s

Jungian Psychology in Perspective Mary Ann Mattoon, 1985

The Unconscious and Its Narratives Zvi Giora, 1992-07

Dreams often appear as remarkably coherent narratives. How does the mind organize the unconscious into the narrative forms exhibited by dreams, literary inspiration, and neuroses? Although the discovery of the unconscious is undeniably Freud's most crucial contribution to psychology, one that forms the cornerstone of psychoanalysis, the unconscious and its narrative tendencies remain largely a mystery despite years of investigation. We still wonder about the meaning and origin of the stories told in our sleep. In The Unconscious and Its Narratives, Professor Zvi Giora gives insight into the narrative elements of the unconscious by applying ideas gained from recent developments in cognitive psychology. To gain an understanding of unconscious narratives, Giora carefully considers the merits and limits as well as the major achievements and contradictions of Freudian theory.

The Quick Theory Reference Guide Karin Jordan, 2007

Since the beginning of the concepts of family therapy, mental health professionals have known that the family system is a powerful source of support for change or a powerful force for resistance to change. Some professionals work with individuals, some with families, and some with groups. However, all work with the context of the systems: family, group, community, country, etc. Students, especially beginning students, are overwhelmed and confused at the variety of approaches to working with clients. Many programs introduce students to individual as well as systems concepts in the course of training. Students need assistance in learning this variety of theories. They need to be able to compare and contrast theories and techniques to determine when and where to utilize the best skills in order to facilitate client change. Dr. Karin Jordan has compiled a comprehensive text that enables the students to discover each theory as it is presented in its purist form. The text is accessible yet the content provides comprehensive knowledge of each theory. Dr. Jordan has brought together the master educators and clinicians in our fields to write about their particular expertise.

Personology Irving E. Alexander, 1990

How can we know what another human being is like in some meaningful, dynamic way? Can we distill the signature-like features of an individual's personality? What is the relationship between personal experience and our attempts to describe the person who has that experience? This work by a highly respected senior psychologist is an effort to answer these questions. Irving E. Alexander presents a case for considering the personal narrative of a human life as the most compelling aspect of that life to be decoded and understood. In part, a critique of an exclusive reliance on general theories about the development of personality and ways of knowing based primarily on comparison with others, Personology is illustrated with material drawn from the lives, personal writings, and theories of Freud, Jung, and Sullivan. Alexander develops new insights into the lives of these men and offers methods and guidelines for investigating and teaching personology and psychobiography.
