Keyser, 2002-06-20 Provides an intellectual framework for guiding prospective major donors in giving more effectively to higher education Although most major gifts are profoundly motivated by charitable intentions the noble impulse to give to higher education can quickly generate complicated choices Which school Which program Under what terms or conditions Even very talented people who have enjoyed exceptionally successful careers in business and other fields can become disoriented by academe's idiosyncrasies This book provides an intellectual framework for guiding prospective major donors in giving more effectively to higher education It supplies some insight into the higher education sector donor opportunities the development process and how to think about and get the most from a _negotiation_ with the institution of the donor's choice The insights and strategies are culled by a RAND research team mainly from interviews with development officers institutional leaders and donors themselves Ultimately the giving process that works best for any donor will depend on his or her individual interests and needs The best advice is to be clear on what effect the donor wants his or her gift to have to seek as much information on the school situation as possible and to consult with an attorney and a good financial advisor at all stages of the giving process

Bass, 2004 Bibliographic Guide to Music New York Public Library. Music Division, 2004 The American Faculty Jack H. Schuster, Martin J. Finkelstein, 2008-12-15 Higher education is becoming destabilized in the face of extraordinarily rapid change The composition of the academy's most valuable asset the faculty and the essential nature of faculty work are being transformed Jack H. Schuster and Martin J. Finkelstein describe the transformation of the American faculty in the most extensive and ambitious analysis of the American academic profession undertaken in a generation A century ago the American research university emerged as a new organizational form animated by the professionalized discipline based scholar The research university model persisted through two world wars and greatly varying economic conditions In recent years however a new order has surfaced organized around a globalized knowledge based economy powerful privatization and market forces and stunning new information technologies These developments have transformed the higher education enterprise in ways barely imaginable in generations past At the heart of that transformation but largely invisible has been a restructuring of academic appointments academic work and academic careers a reconfiguring widely decried but heretofore inadequately described This volume depicts the scope and depth of the transformation combining empirical data drawn from three decades of national higher education surveys The authors' portrait at once startling and disturbing provides the context for interpreting these developments as part of a larger structural evolution of the national higher education system They outline the stakes for the nation and the challenging work to be done The Rise of the City Karima Kourtit, Peter Nijkamp, Roger R. Stough, 2015-08-28 Cities and city regions are growing throughout the world and this trend is forecast to continue well into the 21st century The authors of The Rise of the City see the next 100 years as being the Urban Century In this book they examine urban growth Business Periodicals Index , 2001
