Town, 2015-01-24 Much has been written about America's troubled teens particularly endangered teenage girls Works like Mary Pipher's Reviving Ophelia and many others have contributed to the general perception that contemporary young women are in a state of crisis Parents educators social scientists and other concerned individuals worry that our nation's girls are losing their ambition moral direction and self esteem as they enter adolescence which can then lead them to promiscuous sex anorexia drug abuse and at the very least declining math scores In spite of evidence to the contrary in life and literature this bleak picture is seldom challenged but a good place to begin may be with recent literary representations of young women fictional and autobiographical which show proud young women who are highly focused and use their brains and good humor to work toward satisfying adult lives This book addresses the ways in which 12 women writers use their heroines stories to challenge commonly held and frequently damaging notions of adolescence femininity and regional identity The book begins with a chapter on sociological and literary theories of adolescent female development This chapter also includes theoretically informed discussions of young adult fiction and Southern literature Chapters that follow focus on adolescent heroines in the novels and autobiographies of the contemporary Southern women writers Anne Tyler Bobbie Ann Mason Josephine Humphreys Dorothy Allison Kaye Gibbons Tina Ansa Janisse Ray and Jill McCorkle and young adult writers Katherine Paterson Mildred Taylor and Cynthia Voigt Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Embroidering the Scarlet A Janet Mason Ellerby, 2015-04-15 The first book length study of changing cultural representations of unwed mothers in American fiction and film from The Scarlet Letter to Juno Love and Money Lisa Henderson, 2013-01-01 Love and Money argues that we can't understand contemporary queer cultures without looking through the lens of social class Resisting old divisions between culture and economy identity and privilege left and queer recognition and redistribution Love and Money offers supple approaches to capturing class experience and class form in and around queerness Contrary to familiar dismissals not every queer television or movie character is like Will Truman on Will and Grace rich white healthy professional detached from politics community and sex Through ethnographic encounters with readers and cultural producers and such texts as Boys Don't Cry Brokeback Mountain By Hook or By Crook and wedding announcements in the New York Times Love and Money sees both queerness and class across a range of idioms and practices in everyday life How it asks do readers of Dorothy Allison's novels use her work to find a queer class voice How do gender and race broker queer class fantasy How do independent filmmakers cross back and forth between industry and queer sectors changing both places as they go and challenging queer ideas about bad commerce and bad taste With an eye to the nuances and harms of class difference in queerness and a wish to use culture to forge queer and class affinities Love and Money returns class and its politics to the study of queer life
