Deep Blue Sylvie Shaw, Andrew Francis, 2014-12-05 Nature religions look to rivers lakes and oceans for inspiration and spiritual transformation Deep Blue brings together the work of influential scholars in the field of nature religion ranging across anthropology mythology sociology and psychology The essays examine the interrelationship between spiritual practice critical thinking and environmental concern Tracing the ancient history of humanity s close relationship with both salt and fresh water the book calls for a sustainable relationship with water in contemporary western culture Deep Blue will be of interest to students of paganism and religion environmental researchers and activists and all those involved in the intersection between religion and ecology Narrative of an Explorer in Tropical South Africa Francis Galton, 1889

In-between Two Worlds Béatrice Bijon, Gérard Gacon, 2009 Fourteen essays provide a challenging outlook on narratives by women explorers and travellers from five different continents spanning nearly one century from 1850 to 1945 The map thus drawn enables one to revisit restore and reassess the content and the originality of these narratives by women The essays are relevant to the fields of travel writing and gender studies and all draw from referential contemporary theoretical and critical works Michel Foucault Homi Bhabha Edward Said Roland Barthes Michel de Certeau Gilles Deleuze Sara Mills Kristi Siegel and Jane Robinson The main interest and originality of the volume result from the perspectives adopted by the different authors The text oriented analyses rely on close reading thus definitely providing accurate and perceptive critical insights into the narratives Such perspective precludes erasing the differential features characterizing each geographical space and each travelling subject It also moves away from any temptation at creating a naturalized mythical image of these women

The Exo-Weather Report David S. Stevenson, 2016-08-25 David Stevenson's new book links the meteorology of the Earth to that of other planets stars and clusters of galaxies showing the similarities and differences between terrestrial weather and that of weather on other worlds Because Earth is not unique in having weather there is much to learn from other planets with atmospheres that show the movement of energy from hotter to colder areas The weather seen on Earth and other known planetary systems are examined to elaborate the connection between climate and the development of life The weather on Earth and other Solar System planets is a manifestation of the huge energy budget imparted by our star the Sun but weather doesn't stop at the shores of our Solar System The author brings together the latest information from satellites and probes such as Cassini and Hubble to show its larger place in the astronomical picture Inferences are drawn about the weather and climate of a large number of other planetary systems that lie far from our own Additionally the author expands our understanding of what exactly weather is comprised of by exploring the kind of weather experienced on the largest observable scales in the universe
