Landscape and Branding Nicole Porter, 2015-10-05 Landscape and branding explores the way landscape is conceptualised conceived represented and designed by professionals in a brand driven age Landscape incorporating tangible physical space as well as intangible concepts narratives images and experiences of place is constructed by a number of creative industries This book tests the hypothesis that place branding a powerful marketing and management practice increasingly blurs the distinction between the promotion of landscape and its production in design terms Place branding involves the strategic and systematic composition of single minded experiential and market friendly place identities which are consistently communicated across various media including physical space How does this implicate or transform notions of place nature landscape experience and the qualitative value of landscape itself How does this affect the role of landscape architecture To answer these questions place branding theory and practice is critically examined alongside an in depth case study of one specific landscape the Blue Mountains Australia Projects undertaken between 1995 and 2015 including a branding strategy for the region media campaigns television cinema and several landscape architectural works in the public and private domain are comparatively analysed focusing on the discourse conventions and values informing their production and the landscape narratives they convey

Lighting the Way Dianne Johnson, 2002 Lighting the Way Reconciliation Stories captures the spirit of reconciliation A collection of stories about individual and community acts of reconciliation it is honest and engaging and shows what reconciliation means and why so many Australians wish to achieve it Each story is personal and immediate Some trace families and relationships over generations between Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians This book reveals Australia for all that it is has been and can be

Artificial Horizon Thomas, Martin, 2014-05-20 Martin Thomas takes the reader on a journey through a compelling study of culture landscape and mythology For both Aboriginal people and their colonisers the rugged landscape of the Blue Mountains has stood as an intriguing riddle and a stimulus to the imagination The author evokes this dramatic and bewildering landscape and leads his readers through the cultural history of the locality in order to probe the dreamwork of imperialism

Sydney's Aboriginal Past Val Attenbrow, 2010

This second edition of Sydney's Aboriginal Past draws on the latest historical archaeological geological environmental and linguistic research as well as oral evidence of present day Aboriginal people to reveal the diversity of Aboriginal life in the Sydney region before during and for the first thirty years of British settlement PaGaian Cosmology Glenys

Livingstone, 2005 PaGaian Cosmology brings together a religious practice of seasonal ritual based in a contemporary scientific sense of the cosmos and female imagery for the Sacred The author situates this original synthesis in her context of being female and white European transplanted to the Southern Hemisphere Her sense of alienation from her place which is personal cultural and cosmic fires a cosmology that re stories Goddess metaphor of Virgin Mother Crone as a pattern of Creativity which unfolds the cosmos manifests in Earth's life and may be known intimately PaGaian Cosmology is an ecospirituality grounded in indigenous Western religious celebration of the Earth Sun annual cycle By linking to story of the unfolding universe this practice can be deepened and a sense of the Triple Goddess central to the cycle and known in ancient cultures developed as a dynamic innate to all being The ritual scripts and the process of ritual events presented here may be a journey into self knowledge through personal communal and ecological story the self to be known is one that is integral with place PaGaian Cosmology may be used as a resource for individuals or groups seeking new forms of devotional expression and an Earth based pathway to wisdom within Archaeologies of Art Inés Domingo Sanz, Dánae Fiore, Sally K

May, 2016-07 This international volume draws together key research that examines visual arts of the past and contemporary indigenous societies Placing each art style in its temporal and geographic context the contributors show how depictions represent social mechanisms of identity construction and how stylistic differences in product and process serve to reinforce cultural identity Examples stretch from the Paleolithic to contemporary world and include rock art body art and portable arts Ethnographic studies of contemporary art production and use such as among contemporary Aboriginal groups are included to help illuminate artistic practices and meanings in the past The volume reflects the diversity of approaches used by archaeologists to incorporate visual arts into their analysis of past cultures and should be of great value to archaeologists anthropologists and art historians Sponsored by the World Archaeological Congress Jenolan Caves Mark

Walking to Connect with Nature and Respond to

Anthropogenic Climate Change Margaret Somerville, 2024-07-19 The author Margaret Somerville collected the insights contained within the present volume over a year of walking the ridge daily linking globally significant scientific findings on the origins and deep time evolution of landscapes and living things to her own intensely observed embodied interactions with rocks trees plants birds weather and the seasons informed by decades of work with Indigenous researchers It draws on the formation of Gondwana Land and how the planet came to be when life emerged from the sea and trees in symbiosis with fungi The Gondwana forests contained the oldest trees and plants on the planet and the first song birds in the world that are said to be the beginning of music and song It also addresses seasonal change This book is a valuable resource for any course that aims to address global issues and bring hope to the global movement of young people facing climate change in their local places

What's Changing: Population Size Or Land-use Patterns? Val Attenbrow, 2007-02-01 The Upper Mangrove Creek catchment was an ideal locality in which to undertake field investigation into Aboriginal use of the coastal hinterland The area 101 square kilometres in size is rich in sites that provided significant archaeological evidence of Aboriginal use of the coastal hinterland The catchment became the focus of major archaeological salvage work in the late 1970s prior to the construction of the Mangrove Creek Dam Further research undertaken by Val Attenbrow on the total catchment expanded upon the results of earlier work This monograph describes the later research project and summarises the salvage program results This evidence is used by the author to explore current research issues relating to the interpretation of the mid to late Holocene archaeological record in Australia particularly quantitative changes relating to population numbers and aspects of human behaviour such as risk management subsistence mobility and land use patterns

Through Hell to Heaven & Back!

Michael Cassidyne, 2009-03-23 Through Hell To Heaven And Back is that rare book that captivates the imagination AND offers profound spiritual insights into the nature of life death and the human spirit First published in 2003 in Kelowna B C Canada this true life chronicle is based on a hitherto lost Russian language manuscript written by Russian man who recounts in detail his experiences leading up during and after the time when he was persecuted tortured and left to die by Soviet authorities in a frigid prison cellar for three day and three nights in Stalinist Russia in 1931 The poignant and compelling afterlife experiences and insights expressed by the author and translated into English in the early 2000 s by a linguist selected by the original author s son offer spiritual insights that are totally unique and deeply thought provoking They are insights that challenge the reader to venture beyond conventional wisdom and the mostly unquestioned reference points from which most people view life and the world Rather than suggesting like many self help books do that the truth is out there somewhere this book encourages us to look inside ourselves for the true causal factors that give rise to our experiences and the world around us Consistent with the defining principles of quantum physics leading to the as yet unproven notion that the fundamental constituents of the material world may not exist independently of human observation it boldly suggests that the causal determinants of what we experience are to be found within the inner most psyche of each individual Indeed while encouraging intimate self reflection the account guides us to nurture the bond between our minds and our hearts and to understand that all that we see and all that we ever will see with all our senses and through all our experiences is all ours is all of us is all for us is all through us and is all to us and that there is no death In the writing of his story this author offers humanity profound answers and inspiration His exceptionally descriptive simple and cogent narration can t help but both transport the reader into those realms of heavenly experience and speak to the inner spirit of every human being A truly life changing read

The Hawkesbury River Paul Boon,2017-07 The Hawkesbury River is the longest coastal river in New South Wales A vital source of water and food it has a long Aboriginal history and was critical for the survival of the early British colony at Sydney The Hawkesbury s weathered shores cliffs and fertile plains have inspired generations of artists It is surrounded by an unparalleled mosaic of national parks including the second oldest national park in Australia Ku ring gai National Park Although it lies only 35 km north of Sydney to many today the Hawkesbury is a hidden river its historical and natural significance not understood or appreciated Until now the Hawkesbury has lacked an up to date and comprehensive book describing how and when the river formed how it functions ecologically how it has influenced humans and their patterns of settlement and in turn how it has been affected by those settlements and their people The Hawkesbury River A Social and Natural History fills this gap With chapters on the geography geology hydrology and ecology of the river through to discussion of its use by Aboriginal and European people and its role in transport defence and culture this highly readable and richly illustrated book paints a picture of a landscape worthy of protection and conservation It will be of value to those who live visit or work in the region those interested in Australian environmental history and professionals in biology natural resource management and education

Mountains Figured and Disfigured in the English-Speaking World Françoise Besson,2020-06-01 The essays in this book written by poets novelists mountain climbers and academics from all over the world evoke the representation of mountains in the English speaking world as artists writers philosophers or mountain climbers have represented them from the sixteenth to the twenty first centuries From the Alps to the Pyrenees from Mount Fuji to Mount Shasta from the Himalayas to the Scottish Highlands from Ikere in Nigeria to Devil s Tower in the United States from Uluru in Australia to the most northern mountain of the Arctic the shapes of the world speak the same language and tell the world its own story This interdisciplinary book weaving together mountaineering literature philosophy painting

cinema ecology history palaeontology geography geopolitics toponymy law religion and myth invites people to an innovative reading of mountains it reveals the close relationship existing between the shapes of the world and all forms of writing and at the same time it shows how the representations of the imagination may be instrumental in protecting the natural world The story told by the landscape inscribes a broken line in the shapes of the world tearing the landscape like a fragile page whenever historical and political events wars mining or deforestation leave scars in the landscape but writers and artists representations of mountains constitute a path to awareness as they are not only a painting of beauty but an image of our link to nature and a warning as well For centuries the image of the mountain has conveyed a symbolism telling the story of human thought and this book shows to what extent literature and art play an essential part in our awareness of nature A Visit to Europe and the Holy Land Hiram Francis Fairbanks,1888 Altered Ecologies Simon Haberle,Janelle Stevenson,Matthew Prebble,2010-11-01 Like a star chart this volume orientates the reader to the key issues and debates in Pacific and Australasian biogeography palaeoecology and human ecology A feature of this collection is the diversity of approaches ranging from interpretation of the biogeographic significance of plant and animal distributional patterns pollen analysis from peats and lake sediments to discern Quaternary climate change explanation of the patterns of faunal extinction events the interplay of fire on landscape evolution and models of the environmental consequences of human settlement patterns The diversity of approaches geographic scope and academic rigor are a fitting tribute to the enormous contributions of Geoff Hope As made apparent in this volume Hope pioneered multidisciplinary understanding of the history and impacts of human cultures in the Australia Pacific region arguably the globe s premier model systems for understanding the consequences of humans colonization on ecological systems The distinguished scholars who have contributed to this volume also demonstrate Hope s enduring contribution as an inspirational research leader collaborator and mentor Terra Australis leave no doubt that history matters not only for land management but more importantly in alerting settler and indigenous societies alike to their past ecological impacts and future environmental trajectories Aboriginal Placenames Luise Hercus,Harold Koch,2009-10-01 Aboriginal approaches to the naming of places across Australia differ radically from the official introduced Anglo Australian system However many of these earlier names have been incorporated into contemporary nomenclature with considerable reinterpretations of their function and form Recently state jurisdictions have encouraged the adoption of a greater number of Indigenous names sometimes alongside the accepted Anglo Australian terms around Sydney Harbour for example In some cases the use of an introduced name such as Gove has been contested by local Indigenous people The 19 studies brought together in this book present an overview of current issues involving Indigenous placenames across the whole of Australia drawing on the disciplines of geography linguistics history and anthropology They include meticulous studies of historical records and perspectives stemming from contemporary Indigenous communities The book includes a wealth of documentary information on some 400 specific placenames including those of Sydney Harbour the Blue

Mountains Canberra western Victoria the Lake Eyre district the Victoria River District and southwestern Cape York Peninsula     Trekking the Shore Nuno F. Bicho, Jonathan A. Haws, Loren G. Davis, 2011-05-19 Human settlement has often centered around coastal areas and waterways Until recently however archaeologists believed that marine economies did not develop until the end of the Pleistocene when the archaeological record begins to have evidence of marine life as part of the human diet This has long been interpreted as a postglacial adaptation due to the rise in sea level and subsequent decrease in terrestrial resources Coastal resources particularly mollusks were viewed as fallback resources which people resorted to only when terrestrial resources were scarce included only as part of a more complex diet Recent research has significantly altered this understanding known as the Broad Spectrum Revolution BSR model The contributions to this volume revise the BSR model with evidence that coastal resources were an important part of human economies and subsistence much earlier than previously thought and even the main focus of diets for some Pleistocene and early Holocene hunter gatherer societies With evidence from North and South America Europe Africa Asia and Australia this volume comprehensively lends a new understanding to coastal settlement from the Middle Paleolithic to the Middle Holocene     Dreaming of Dior Charlotte Smith, 2010-04-13 Charlotte Smith had already had more than her fair share of fabulous dresses and adventures She lived life to the fullest in London Paris and New York before falling in love with Australia and making it her home Then she discovered that she had inherited a priceless vintage clothing collection from her American Quaker godmother Doris Darnell When the boxes started arriving they were filled with more than three thousand pieces dating from 1790 to 1995 from Dior and Chanel originals to a dainty pioneer dress But when she unearthed her godmother s book of stories the true value of what she had been given hit home This wasn t merely a collection of beautiful things it was a collection of lives Women s lives Tiny snapshots of our joys and disappointments our entrances and exits triumphant and tragic This is a book for any woman who knows a dress can hold a lifetime of memories
