history geography religion and devotion to the Abbasid cause shared by the Turks and their rivals While extolling the Turks merits as soldiers al J i stresses unity and reconciliation over discord and division The result is a remarkable essay offering insight into social and political cohesion in the Abbasid empire at its height and the rifts that threatened its stability A bilingual Arabic English edition Deception in Medieval Warfare James Titterton,2022 First full length study of the use and perception of deceit in medieval warfare Deception and trickery are a universal feature of warfare from the Trojan horse to the inflatable tanks of the Second World War The wars of the Central Middle Ages c 1000 1320 were no exception This book looks at the various tricks reported in medieval chronicles from the Normans feigning flight at the battle of Hastings 1066 to draw the English off Senlac Hill to the Turks who infiltrated the Frankish camp at the Field of Blood 1119 disguised as bird sellers to the Scottish camp followers descending on the field of Bannockburn 1314 waving laundry as banners to mimic a division of soldiers This study also considers what contemporary society thought about deception on the battlefield was it a legitimate way to fight Was cunning considered an admirable quality in a warrior Were the culturally and religious other thought to be more deceitful in war than Western Europeans Through a detailed analysis of vocabulary and narrative devices this book reveals a society with a profound moral ambivalence towards military deception in which authors were able to celebrate a warrior s cunning while simultaneously condemning their enemies for similar acts of deceit It also includes an appendix cataloguing over four hundred incidents of military deception as recorded in contemporary chronicle narratives charity and giving in monotheistic religions Haldon, 2016-04-22 The transformation of the eastern provinces of the Roman empire from the middle of the seventh century CE under the impact of Islam has attracted a good deal of scholarly attention in recent years and as more archaeological material becomes available has been subject to revision and rethinking in ways that radically affect what we know or understand about the area about state building and the economy and society of the early Islamic world and about issues such as urbanisation town country relations the ways in which a different religious culture impacted on the built environment and about politics This volume represents the fruits of a workshop held at Princeton University in May 2007 to discuss the ways in which recent work has affected our understanding of the nature of economic and exchange activity in particular and the broader implications of these advances for the history of the region
