Authoritative reference guide using the documents in which arms and armour first appeared to explain and define them. A substantial and impressive piece of scholarship, one that will serve scholars and enthusiasts of medieval arms and armour very well indeed. Dr Robert W Jones Franklin and Marshall College. Medieval arms and armour are intrinsically fascinating. From the smoke and noise of the armourer's forge to the bloody violence of the battlefield or the silken panoply of the tournament weapons and armour and those who made and bore them are woven into the fabric of medieval society. This sourcebook will aid anyone who seeks to develop a deeper understanding by introducing and presenting the primary sources in which these artefacts are first mentioned. Over a hundred original documents are transcribed and translated, including wills and inventories, craft statutes, chronicle accounts and challenges to single combat. The book also includes an extensive glossary, lavishly illustrated with fifty-two images of extant armour and weapons from the period and contemporary artistic depictions from illuminated manuscripts and other sources. This book will therefore be of interest to a wide audience, from the living history practitioner, crafter and martial artist to students of literature, military history, art and material culture. Western Warfare In The Age Of The Crusades, 1000-1300 John France, 2020-09-16. In 1095 the First Crusade was launched, establishing a great military endeavour which was a central preoccupation of Europeans until the end of the thirteenth century. In Western warfare in the age of the Crusades 1000-1300, John France offers a wide-ranging and challenging survey of war and warfare and its place in the development of European society, culture and economy in the period of the Crusades. Placing the crusades in a wider context, this book brings together the wealth of recent scholarly research on such issues as knighthood, siege warfare, chivalry and fortifications into an accessible form. Western warfare in the age of the Crusades 1000-1300 examines the nature of war in the period 1000-1300 and argues that it was primarily shaped by the people who conducted war, the landowners. John France illuminates the role of property concerns in producing the characteristic instruments of war, the castle and the knight. This authoritative study details the way in which war was fought and the reasons for it, as well as reflecting on the society which produced the crusades. Oriental Armour H. Russell Robinson, 2013-05-22. Detailed scholarly study enhanced with over 400 illustrations, surveys defensive armor of Persia, Turkey, India, China, Ceylon, the Philippines, Korea, Tibet and other regions. Splendid overview brings together much previously inaccessible material. Tracing Old Norse Cosmology Anders Andrén, 2015-01-01. The study of Old Norse religion is a truly multidisciplinary and international field of research. The rituals, myths and narratives of pre-Christian Scandinavia have been studied and interpreted in detail, relying mainly on Christian Icelandic literature from the Middle Ages. Here Anders Andrén offers a long-term perspective on Old Norse cosmology and argues that the fundamental ideas of an ordered universe time and space in Old Norse religion can be studied in a dialogue between archaeology and the Icelandic narrative tradition Ideas about the world tree middle earth and the sun can be traced in images and material culture from Scandinavian prehistory By combining the prehistoric representations with the later written record the author presents a fresh and nuanced study of the fascinating Old Norse world A Companion to Paleopathology Anne L.
