Army Letters from an Officer's Wife, 1871-1888 Frances M. a. Roe, 2017-06-09 ARMY LETTERS FROM AN OFFICER'S WIFE KIT CARSON COLORADO TERRITORY October 1871 IT is late so this can be only a note to tell you that we arrived here safely and will take the stage for Fort Lyon to morrow morning at six o'clock I am thankful enough that our stay is short at this terrible place where one feels there is danger of being murdered any minute Not one woman have I seen here but there are men any number of dreadful looking men each one armed with big pistols and leather belts full of cartridges But the houses we saw as we came from the station were worse even than the men They looked in the moonlight like huge cakes of clay where spooks and creepy things might be found The hotel is much like the houses and appears to have been made of dirt and a few drygoods boxes Even the low roof is of dirt The whole place is horrible and dismal beyond description and just why anyone lives here I cannot understand I am all upset Faye has just been in to say that only one of my trunks can be taken on the stage with us and of course I had to select one that has all sorts of things in it and consequently leave my pretty dresses here to be sent for all but the Japanese silk which happens to be in that trunk But imagine my mortification in having to go with Faye to his regiment with only two dresses And then to make my shortcomings the more vexatious Faye will be simply fine all the time in his brand new uniform Perhaps I can send a long letter soon if I live to reach that army post that still seems so far away FORT LYON COLORADO TERRITORY October 1871 AFTER months of anticipation and days of weary travel we have at last got to our army home As you know Fort Lyon is fifty miles from Kit Carson and we came all that distance in a funny looking stage coach called a jerkey and a good name for it too for at times it seesawed back and forth and then sideways in an awful breakneck way The day was glorious and the atmosphere so clear we could see miles and miles in every direction But there was not one object to be seen on the vast rolling plains not a tree nor a house except the wretched ranch and stockade where we got fresh horses and a perfectly uneatable dinner It was dark when we reached the post so of course we could see nothing that night General and Mrs Phillips gave us a most cordial welcome just as though they had known us always Dinner was served soon after we arrived and the cheerful dining room and the table with its dainty china and bright silver was such a surprise so much nicer than anything we had expected to find here and all so different from the terrible places we had seen since reaching the plains It was apparent at once that this was not a place for spooks General Phillips is not a real general only so by brevet for gallant service during the war I was so disappointed when I was told this but Faye says that he is very much afraid that I will have cause sooner or later to think that the grade of captain is quite high enough the 19th century to protect and defend the new settlements established there some of the military men brought their wives and families particularly officers who might be stationed in the west for years Most of the women were from refined eastern bred families with little knowledge of the territory they were entering Their letters diaries and journals from their years on army posts reveal untold hardships and challenges faced by families on the frontier These women were bold brave and compassionate They were an integral part of military posts that peppered the West and played an important role in civilizing the Arizona frontier Combining the words of these women with original research tracing their movements from camp to camp over the years they spent in the West this collection explores the tragedies and triumphs they experienced Army Letters
