Webster, 2004-08-12 This is the first comprehensive catalogue of the sculpture from this region of Roman Britain including the first proper record of the sculpture from Wroxeter The sculptures all in local sandstone were carved locally and provide an index of Romanisation in the far north west of the Roman Empire at the Fortress of Legio II Adivtrix and then Legio XX Valeria Victrix at Devra Chester and at the Fortress and subsequently the civil town of the Cornovii at Viroconium Wroxeter The sculpture from Letcetum Wall Staffs is also considered The works range in quality from highly accomplished and decorative altars and tombstones to rather ham fisted efforts which hint that it was not always possible to attract sculptors to these relatively remote places Such factors are discussed in an extended introduction A Companion to Roman Art Barbara E. Borg, 2019-11-04 A Companion to Roman Art encompasses various artistic genres ancient contexts and modern approaches for a comprehensive guide to Roman art Offers comprehensive and original essays on the study of Roman art Contributions from distinguished scholars with unrivalled expertise covering a broad range of international approaches Focuses on the socio historical aspects of Roman art covering several topics that have not been presented in any detail in English Includes both close readings of individual art works and general discussions Provides an overview of main aspects of the subject and an introduction to current debates in the field Fish Harlan Walker, 1998 The annual volume of the proceedings of the Oxford Symposium the longest running colloquy on food and food history in the western world The subject of this year's discussions was not just fish but the diet of fishermen and any foodstuff that may be culled from the waters such as seaweed Blue/Green Glass Bottles from Roman Britain H.E.M. Cool, 2024-04-04 Square bottles came into use in the AD 60s and rapidly became the commonest glass vessel form in the empire For the next two centuries their fragments dominate all glass assemblages This book presents a classification scheme for the moulded base patterns which allows their chronological development to be reconstructed Journal of the Society of Arts Royal Society of Arts (Great Britain),1875 Agriculture and Industry in South-Eastern Roman Britain David Bird, 2016-12-31 The ancient counties surrounding the Weald in the SE corner of England have a strongly marked character of their own that has survived remarkably well in the face of ever increasing population pressure. The area is however comparatively neglected in discussion of Roman Britain where it is often subsumed into a generalised treatment of the civilian part of Britannia that is based largely on other parts of the country This book aims to redress the balance The focus is particularly on Kent Surrey and Sussex account is taken of information from neighboring counties particularly when the difficult subsoils affect the availability of evidence An overview of the environment and a consideration of themes relevant to the South East as a whole accompany 14 papers covering the topics of rural settlement in each county crops querns and millstones animal exploitation salt production leatherworking the working of bone and similar materials the production of iron and iron objects non ferrous metalworking pottery production and the supply of tile to Roman London Agriculture and industry provides an up to date assessment of our knowledge of the southern hinterland of Roman London and an area that was particularly open to influences from the Continent Beyond Boundaries Susan E. Alcock, Mariana Egri, James F. D. Frakes, 2016-05-01 The Roman Empire had a rich and multifaceted visual culture which was often variegated due to the sprawling geography of its provinces In this remarkable work of scholarship a group of international scholars has come together to find alternative ways to discuss the nature and development of the art and archaeology of the Roman provinces The result is a collection of nineteen compelling essays accompanied by carefully curated visual documentation seven detailed maps and an extensive bibliography organized around the four major themes of provincial contexts tradition and innovation networks and movements and local accents in an imperial context Easy assumptions about provincial dependence on metropolitian models give way to more complicated stories Similarities and divergences in local and regional responses to Rome appear but not always in predictable places and in far from predictable patterns The authors dismiss entrenched barriers between art and archaeology center and provinces even good art and bad art extending their observations well beyond the empire s boundaries and examining phenomena sites and monuments not often found in books about Roman art history or archaeology The book thus functions to encourage continued critical engagement with how scholars study the material past of the Roman Empire and indeed of imperial systems in general Thom's Irish Almanac and Official Directory of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland ,1870

Roman Art, Religion and Society Martin Henig, 2006 This volume contains a range of papers from a seminar held in Oxford in 2005 What did art in its widest sense mean to them the Romans and what might it or even should it mean to us The approach adopted avoids fashionable theory mainly culled second hand from the social sciences and tries to engage directly with material culture
