Suspended Conversations Martha Langford, 2021-10-13 In Suspended Conversations Martha Langford shows how photographic albums tell intimate and revealing stories about individuals and families Rather than isolate the individual photograph treat albums as texts or argue that photography has supplanted memory she demonstrates that the photographic album must be taken as a whole and interpreted as a visual and verbal performance that extends oral consciousness Exhibiting a collection of photographic travelogues memoirs thematic collections and family sagas compiled between 1860 and 1960 and held by the McCord Museum of Canadian History this second edition includes a revised and expanded preface along with new photographs of the Notman albums Printed in colour throughout the enhanced material draws out the distinct nuances and details of each album giving them new life to tell their stories Albums are treasured by families collected as illustrations of the past by museums of social history and examined by scholars for what they can reveal about attitudes and sensibilities but when no one is left to tell the tale the intrigue of the album becomes a puzzle a suspended conversation Langford argues that oral consciousness provides the missing key Correlating photography and orality she explains how albums were designed to work as performances and how we can unlock their mysteries A fascinating glimpse of the preoccupations of previous centuries Suspended Conversations brings photography into the great conversation of how we remember and how we send our stories into the future

The Invention of Art Larry Shiner, 2001-09 Larry Shiner challenges our conventional understandings of art and asks us to reconsider its history entirely arguing that the category of fine art is a modern invention and that the lines drawn between art and craft emerged only as the result of key European social transformations during the long eighteenth century Publisher's description

Canaletto's Camera Philip Steadman, 2025-06-05 Canaletto's Camera explores the ways in which the great Venetian artist Antonio Canaletto 1697-1768 made use of the camera obscura the forerunner of the photographic camera as an aid to drawing and painting It surveys Canaletto's contacts with contemporary Venetian and Paduan scientists in particular Francesco Algarotti who wrote on Newton's philosophy and the camera obscura Canaletto also relied on many measured drawings of Venetian buildings by his colleague Antonio Visentini a debt that has not previously been recognised Steadman proposes that Canaletto used the camera for two purposes tracing from real scenes and copying and collaging drawings and engravings by other artists By analysing camera sketches made by Canaletto in a notebook he shows how the artist traced views in Venice and then altered the real scenes in his finished drawings and paintings By using a reconstructed eighteenth century design of camera obscura the author and his colleagues have made drawings of views that Canaletto painted in London Steadman has recreated both a veduta a real view and a capriccio a fantasy using Canaletto's processes of photomontage The experiments are detailed in the book shedding new light on the artist's procedures and emphasising how weak and permeable the boundary is between the two types of picture Portraits by Degas Jean Sutherland

Boggs,2023-12-22 Downcast Eyes Martin Jay,1993-10-01 Long considered the noblest of the senses vision has increasingly come under critical scrutiny by a wide range of thinkers who question its dominance in Western culture These critics of vision especially prominent in twentieth century France have challenged its allegedly superior capacity to provide access to the world They have also criticized its supposed complicity with political and social oppression through the promulgation of spectacle and surveillance Martin Jay turns to this discourse surrounding vision and explores its often contradictory implications in the work of such influential figures as Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty Michel Foucault Jacques Lacan Louis Althusser Guy Debord Luce Irigaray Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida Jay begins with a discussion of the theory of vision from Plato to Descartes then considers its role in the French Enlightenment before turning to its status in the culture of modernity From consideration of French Impressionism to analysis of Georges Bataille and the Surrealists Roland Barthes's writings on photography and the film theory of Christian Metz Jay provides lucid and fair minded accounts of thinkers and ideas widely known for their difficulty His book examines the myriad links between the interrogation of vision and the pervasive antihumanist antimodernist and counter enlightenment tenor of much recent French thought Refusing however to defend the dominant visual order he calls instead for a plurality of scopic regimes Certain to generate controversy and discussion throughout the humanities and social sciences Downcast Eyes will consolidate Jay's reputation as one of today's premier cultural and intellectual historians Photography Fifth Edition Mary Warner Marien,2021-06-24 The fifth edition of this indispensable history of photography spans the history of the medium from its early development to current practice and providing a focused understanding of the cultural contexts in which photographers have lived and worked throughout this remains an all encompassing survey Mary Warner Marien discusses photography from around the world and through the lenses of art science travel war fashion the mass media and individual photographers Professional amateur and art photographers are all represented with Portrait boxes devoted to highlighting important individuals and Focus boxes charting particular cultural debates Mary Warner Marien is also the author of 100 Ideas that Changed Photography and Photography Visionaries New additions to this ground breaking global survey of photography includes 20 new images and sections on advances in technology and the influence of social media platforms An essential text for anyone studying photography Techniques of the Observer Jonathan Crary,1992-02-25 Jonathan Crary's Techniques of the Observer provides a dramatically new perspective on the visual culture of the nineteenth century reassessing problems of both visual modernism and social modernity This analysis of the historical formation of the observer is a compelling account of the prehistory of the society of the spectacle In Techniques of the Observer Jonathan Crary provides a dramatically new perspective on the visual culture of the nineteenth century reassessing problems of both visual modernism and social modernity Inverting conventional approaches Crary considers the problem of visibility not through the study of art works and images but by analyzing the historical construction of the observer He insists that the problems of vision are inseparable from the operation of social power and examines how beginning in the 1820s the observer became the site of new discourses and practices that situated vision within the body as a physiological event Alongside the sudden appearance of physiological optics Crary points out theories and models of subjective vision were developed that gave the observer a new autonomy and productivity while simultaneously allowing new forms of control and standardization of vision Crary examines a range of diverse work in philosophy in the empirical sciences and in the elements of an emerging mass visual culture He discusses at length the significance of optical apparatuses such as the stereoscope and of precinematic devices detailing how they were the product of new physiological knowledge He also shows how these forms of mass culture usually labeled as realist were in fact based on abstract models of vision and he suggests that mimetic or perspectival notions of vision and representation were initially abandoned in the first half of the nineteenth century within a variety of powerful institutions and discourses well before the modernist painting of the 1870s and 1880s

Impossible Presence Terry E. Smith, 2001-09-15 Impossible Presence brings together new work in film studies critical theory art history and anthropology for a multifaceted exploration of the continuing proliferation of visual images in the modern era It also asks what this proliferation and the changing technologies that support it mean for the ways in which images are read today and how they communicate with viewers and spectators Framed by Terry Smith's introduction the essays focus on two kinds of strangeness involved in experiencing visual images in the modern era The first explored in the book's first half involves the appearance of oddities or phantasmagoria in early photographs and cinema The second type of strangeness involves art from marginalized groups and indigenous peoples and the communicative formations that result from the trafficking of images between people from vastly different cultures With a stellar list of contributors Impossible Presence offers a wide ranging look at the fate of the visual image in modernity modern art and popular culture Contributors Jean Baudrillard Marshall Berman Jeremy Gilbert Rolfe Elizabeth Grosz Tom Gunning Peter Hutchings Fred R Myers Javier Sanjines Richard Schiff Hugh J Silverman Terry Smith
