The Duque's willing captive      The Preparation of the Novel Roland Barthes, 2011 Completed just weeks before his death the lectures in this volume mark a critical juncture in the career of Roland Barthes in which he declared the intention deeply felt to write a novel Unfolding over the course of two years Barthes engaged in a unique pedagogical experiment he combined teaching and writing to simulate the trial of novel writing exploring every step of the creative process along the way Barthes's lectures move from the desire to write to the actual decision making planning and material act of producing a novel He meets the difficulty of transitioning from short concise notations exemplified by his favorite literary form haiku to longer uninterrupted flows of narrative and he encounters a number of setbacks Barthes takes solace in a diverse group of writers including Dante whose La Vita Nuova was similarly inspired by the death of a loved one and he turns to classical philosophy Taoism and the works of François de La Rochefoucauld Gustave Flaubert Franz Kafka and Marcel Proust This book uniquely includes eight elliptical plans for Barthes's unwritten novel which he titled Vita Nova and lecture notes that sketch the critic's views on photography Following on The Neutral Lecture Course at the Collège de France 1977-1978 and a third forthcoming collection of Barthes's lectures this volume provides an intensely personal account of the labor and love of writing

Philosophical Presences in the Ancient Novel J. R. Morgan, 2007 This collection of essays the result of a 2006 conference at the University of Wales in Lampeter look at the influence of philosophical texts on the ancient novel In both Greek and Latin novels substantial traces of philosophical ideas can be found these essays discuss the levels on which they were intended to operate and how they were meant to resonate with their audiences Specific authors discussed include Xenophon of Ephesus Achilles Tatius Longus Apuleius and Lucian while the philosophical influences include Plato Aristotle and the Stoics

Nat Turner Kenneth S. Greenberg, 2003-02-01 Nat Turner's name rings through American history with a force all its own Leader of the most important slave rebellion on these shores variously viewed as a murderer of unarmed women and children an inspired religious leader a fanatic this puzzling figure represents all the terrible complexities of American slavery And yet we do not know what he looked like where he is buried or even whether Nat Turner was his real name In Nat Turner: A Slave Rebellion in History and Memory Kenneth S. Greenberg gathers twelve distinguished scholars to offer provocative new insight into the man his rebellion and his time and his place in history The historians here explore Turner's slave community discussing the support for his uprising as well as the religious and literary context of his movement They examine the place of women in his insurrection and its far reaching consequences including an extraordinary 1832 Virginia debate about ridding the state of slavery Here are discussions of Turner's religious visions the instructions he received from God to kill all of his white oppressors Louis Masur places him against the backdrop of the nation's sectional crisis and Douglas Egerton puts his revolt in the context of rebellions across the Americas We trace Turner's passage through American memory through fascinating interviews with William Styron on his landmark novel The Confessions of Nat

Turner and with Dr Alvin Poussaint one of the ten black writers of the 1960s who bitterly attacked Styron's vision of Turner. Finally we follow Nat Turner into the world of Hollywood. Nat Turner has always been controversial, an emblem of the searing wound of slavery in American life. This book offers a clear-eyed look at one of the best-known and least-understood figures in our history.

The Art of Civilization Didier Maleuvre, 2016-06-22. Didier Maleuvre argues that works of art in Western societies from Ancient Greece to the interconnected worlds of the Digital Age have served to rationalize and normalize an engagement with bourgeois civilization and the city. Maleuvre details that the history of art itself is the history civilization giving rise to the particular aesthetics and critical attitudes of respective moments and movements in changing civilizations in a dialogical mode. Building a visual cultural account of shifting forms of culture, power and subjectivity, Maleuvre illustrates how art gave a pattern and a language to the model of social authority rather than simply functioning as a reflective one. Through a broad cultural study of the relationship between humanity, art and the culture of civilization, Maleuvre introduces a new set of paradigms that critique and affirm the relationship between humanity and art, arguing for it as an engine of social reproduction that transforms how culture is inhabited.

The Early Novels of Benjamin Disraeli Ann Hawkins, 2024-07-31. Benjamin Disraeli 1804-81 was one of the most important political figures in 19th-century Britain. However, before rising to political prominence, he had established himself as a major literary figure. This set takes a critical look at Disraeli's early work.

From Innocence to Arrogance Ezekiel King, 2019. The Arrogance of Love Anne Mather, 1976. Contemporary Historical Fiction, Exceptionalism and Community Susan Strehle, 2020-10-19. This book analyzes a significant group of contemporary historical fictions that represent damaging even catastrophic times for people and communities written after the wreck they recall instructive pasts. The novels chronicle wars, slavery, racism, child abuse and genocide; they reveal damages that ensue when nations claim an exalted exceptionalist identity and violate the human rights of their Others. In sympathy with the exiled writers of these contemporary historical fictions, create alternative communities on the state's outer fringes. These fictive communities include where the state excludes; they foreground relations of debt and obligation to the group in place of individualism, competition and private property. Rather than assimilating members to a single identity with a unified set of views, the communities open multiple possibilities for belonging. Analyzing novels from Britain, Australia and the U.S. along with additional transnational examples, Susan Strehle explores the political vision animating some contemporary historical fictions.

Essentials of the Theory of Fiction Michael J. Hoffman, Patrick D. Murphy, 2005-07-06. A third edition of this anthology of the most influential and comprehensive writing on the theory of fiction from the 19th century through modernism and postmodernism to the present.
