Arizona Ranch Houses Janet Ann Stewart, 1987 Janet Stewart's overview of Arizona ranch houses not only recounts the development of a popular architectural form it also offers a practical guide for modern homebuilders who wish to recapture this famous style Photographs and floor plans accompany the text Historic structure report, historical and archeological data sections Louis Torres, Mark Baumler, 1985 A History of the Buildings and Structures of Faraway Ranch, Chiricahua National Monument, Arizona Louis Torres, Mark Baumler, 1984 A Guide to Southern Arizona's Historic Farms & Ranches Lili DeBarbieri, 2012-07-24 Experience southwestern heritage culture and cuisine while learning to rope and herd cattle trail ride through the wilderness or make prickly pear syrup With roots dating back to the mid 1800s southern Arizona's historic guest ranches and farm stays include Spain's first mission in the continental United States a former World War II prison camp and boys boarding school and a Butterfield Stagecoach stop Intimately connected to Arizona's land and legacy these unparalleled retreats have hosted countless artists movie stars and politicians and continue to enrich their present day communities through food education and conservation Pack your bags and join travel writer Lili DeBarbieri for a journey into the rural west south of the Gila River A Guide to Tucson Architecture Anne M. Nequette, R. Brooks Jeffery, 2002-02 A comprehensive illustrated guide to Tucson's historical and contemporary architectural resources covers all facets of the city's architecture from one of a kind homes on Main Avenue and historic downtown buildings to destination resorts in the Catalina Foothills and other modern structures Included are walking and driving tours of fourteen areas along with maps and annotated descriptions of individual structures residences schools churches government buildings offices commercial establishments and others accompanied by more than 140 photographs Proposed Location for Southern Arizona Auxiliary Airfield, Environmental Assessment (EA), 1981 Regionalism and the Humanities Timothy R. Mahoney, Wendy J. Katz, 2008-12-01 Although the framework of regionalist studies may seem to be crumbling under the weight of increasing globalization this collection of seventeen essays makes clear that cultivating regionalism lies at the center of the humanist endeavor With interdisciplinary contributions from poets and fiction writers literary historians musicologists and historians of architecture agriculture and women this volume implements some of the most innovative and intriguing approaches to the history and value of regionalism as a category for investigation in the humanities In the volume's inaugural essay Annie Proulx discusses landscapes in American fiction comments on how she constructs characters and interprets current literary trends Edward Watts offers a theory of region that argues for comparisons of the United States to other former colonies of Great Britain including New Zealand Australia and Canada Whether considering a writer's connection to region or the idea of place in exploring what is meant by regionalism these essays uncover an enduring and evolving concept Although the approaches and disciplines vary all are framed within the fundamental premise of the humanities the search to understand what it means to be human Gateways to the Southwest Jay M. Price, 2004-02

Arizona is home to some of the region's most stunning national parks and monuments and has had a long tradition of strong federal agencies along with effective local governments developing and managing parklands. Before World War II, protecting sites from development seemed counterproductive to a state government dominated by extractive industries. By the late 1950s, this state that prided itself on being a tourist destination found its lack of state parks to be an embarrassment.

Gateways to the Southwest is a history of the creation of state parks in Arizona, examining the ways in which different types of parks were created in the face of changing social values. Jay Price tells how Arizona's parks emerged from the recreation and tourism boom of the 1950s and 1960s, were shaped by the environmental movement of the 1970s and 1980s, and have been affected by the financial challenges that arose in the 1990s. He also explains how changing political realities led to different methods of creating parks like Catalina, Homolovi Ruins, and Kartchner Caverns. In addition, places that did not become state parks have as much to tell us as those that did. By the time the need for state parks was recognized in Arizona, most choice sites had already been developed, and Price reveals how acquiring land often proved difficult and expensive. State parks were, of necessity, developed in cooperation with the federal government, other state agencies, community leaders, and private organizations. As a result, parks born from land exchanges, partnerships, conservation easements, and other cooperative ventures are more complicated entities than the state park designation might suggest. Price's study shows that the key issue for parks has not been who owns a place but who manages it, and today Arizona's state parks are a network of lake-based recreation, historic sites, and environmental education areas reflecting issues just as complex as those of the region's better-known national parks.

Gateways to the Southwest is a case study of resource stewardship in the Intermountain West that offers new insights into environmental history as it illustrates the challenges and opportunities facing public lands all over America.

Houses for a New World Barbara Miller Lane, 2022-07-12 The fascinating history of the twentieth century's most successful experiment in mass housing. While the work of Frank Lloyd Wright, Richard Neutra, and their contemporaries frequently influences our ideas about house design, at the midcentury, most Americans during this period lived in homes built by little-known builders who also served as developers of the communities. Often dismissed as little boxes made of ticky tacky, the tract houses of America's postwar suburbs represent the twentieth century's most successful experiment in mass housing.

Houses for a New World is the first comprehensive history of this uniquely American form of domestic architecture and urbanism. Between 1945 and 1965, more than thirteen million houses, most of them in new ranch and split-level styles, were constructed on large expanses of land outside city centers, providing homes for the country's rapidly expanding population. Focusing on twelve developments in the suburbs of Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Los Angeles, Barbara Miller Lane tells the story of the collaborations between builders and buyers, showing how both wanted houses and communities that espoused a modern way of life: informal, democratic, multiethnic, and devoted to improving the lives of their children. The resulting houses differed dramatically from both the European International Style and older forms of American domestic architecture Based on a decade of original research and accompanied by hundreds of historical images plans and maps this book presents an entirely new interpretation of the American suburb The result is a fascinating history of houses and developments that continue to shape how tens of millions of Americans live Featured housing developments in Houses for a New World Boston area Governor Francis Farms Warwick RI Wethersfield Natick MA Brookfield Brockton MA Chicago area Greenvew Estates Arlington Heights IL Elk Grove Village Rolling Meadows Weathersfield at Schaumburg Los Angeles and Orange County area Cinderella Homes Anaheim CA Panorama City Los Angeles Rossmoor Los Alamitos CA Philadelphia area Lawrence Park Broomall PA Rose Tree Woods Broomall PA Publications of the American Folklife Center ,1977
