Chicano Culture, Ecology, Politics Devon Gerardo Pena, 1998 Until recently mainstream American environmentalism has been a predominantly white middle class movement essentially ignoring the class race and gender dimensions of environmental politics In this provocative collection of original essays the environmental dimensions of the Chicana o experience are explicitly expressed and debated Employing a variety of genres ranging from poetry to autobiography to theoretical and empirical essays the voices in this collection speak to the most significant issues of environmentalism and social justice recognizing throughout the need for a pluralism of Chicana o philosophies The contributors provide an excellent basis for understanding how multiple Chicana o views on the environment play out in the context of dominant social political and economic views Chicano Culture Ecology Politics examines a number of Chicana o ecological perspectives How can the ethics of reciprocity present in Chicana o agropastoral life be protected and applied on a broader scale How can the dominant society whose economic structure is invested in placeless mobility take note of the harm caused to land based cultures take responsibility for it and take heed before it is too late Will the larger society be ecologically housebroken before it destroys its home Grounded in actual political struggles waged by Chicana o communities over issues of environmental destruction cultural genocide and socioeconomic domination this volume provides an important

the ways in which postmodernism not only designates the effects of this transnationalism in Latin America but also registers the cultural and political impact on an increasingly simultaneous global culture of a Latin America struggling with its own set of postcolonial contingencies particularly the crisis of its political left the dominance of neoliberal economic models and the new challenges and possibilities opened by democratization With new essays on the dynamics of Brazilian culture the relationship between postmodernism and Latin American feminism postmodernism and imperialism and the implications of postmodernist theory for social policy as well as the text of the Declaration from the Lacandon Jungle of the Zapatatista National Liberation Army this expanded edition of boundary 2 will interest not only Latin Americanists but scholars in all disciplines concerned with theories of the postmodern Contributors Xavier Alb Jos Joaqu n Brunner Fernando Calder n Enrique Dussel N stor Garc a Canclini Mart n Hopenhayn Neil Larsen the Latin American Subaltern Studies Group Norbert Lechner Mar a Milagros L pez Raquel Olea An bal Quijano Nelly Richard Carlos Rinc n Silviano Santiago Beatriz Sarlo Roberto Schwarz and Hern n Vidal Patriots and Traitors in Revolutionary Cuba, 1961-1981 Lillian Guerra, 2023-01-17

Authorities in postrevolutionary Cuba worked to establish a binary society in which citizens were either patriots or traitors This all or nothing approach reflected in the familiar slogan patria o muerte fatherland or death has recently been challenged in protests that have adopted the theme song patria y vida fatherland and life a collaboration by exiles that predictably has been banned in Cuba itself Lillian Guerra excavates the rise of a Soviet advised Communist culture controlled by state institutions and the creation of a multidimensional system of state security whose functions embedded themselves into daily activities and individual consciousness and reinforced these binaries But despite public performance of patriotism the life experience of many Cubans was somewhere in between Guerra explores these in between spaces and looks at Cuban citizens complicity with authoritarianism leaders exploitation of an earnest anti imperialist nationalism and the duality of an existence that contains elements of both support and betrayal of a nation and of an ideology
