Arms Transfers To The Third World 1971 1985:

Arms Transfers to the Third World, 1971-85 Michael Brzoska, Thomas Ohlson, 1987 The value of major conventional weapons imported by Third World countries between 1971 and 1985 was quadruple that for the previous two decades This spectacular increase reflects changes in the economic and technological relations between industrialized nations and the Third World as well as having profound political repercussions This book gives a comprehensive overview of the flow of major conventional weapons during the period 1971 85 It analyses both the suppliers and the main Third World recipients describing the inflow of arms and the reasons underlying it The facts that propel this arms trade are assessed in a concluding chapter which also analyses the structural changes that have occurred in the arms markets and their implications The detailed statistics and arms trade registers for the period in some cases from 1951 and the introduction of a new SIPRI price system for evaluating the arms trade make this a valuable reference work

Explaining and Influencing Chinese Arms Transfers Karl W. Eikenberry, 1995 China's role in missile and nuclear weapons proliferation has become one of 3 issues along with human rights and trade upon which the U S has focused its reassessment of U S policy toward China and whether to attach conditions to the renewal of China's MFN trade benefits Addresses the factors motivating Chinese conventional arms sales and speculates on means to influence them Describes the history of PRC weapons exports then examines various supply and demand side reasons for these transfers Discusses sources of arms transfer restraints

Arms Transfer Limitations and Third World Security Thomas Ohlson, 1988 Is the arms trade totally uncontrolled What are the main obstacles to limitations on arms transfers What can be learned from past attempts at arms transfer control This book which completes SIPRI's trilogy on the facts and implications of Third World build up of major conventional weapons assesses past efforts current proposals and future possibilities to limit the transfer of weapons and military technology to Third World countries It is a companion to the two SIPRI volumes Arms Production in the Third World 1986 and Arms Transfers to the Third World 1971 85 OUP 1987

Arms Transfers to the Third World, 1971-1985 Michael Brzoska, 1987

Bases Abroad Robert E. Harkavy, 1989 Analyzing the modern status of military bases and the diplomacy that defines their location and access this book explores the global basing networks of the world's major military powers their type location and the politics and economics of their acquisition It provides data on armaments intelligence communications research and space facilities tables and maps that display U S and Soviet global networks and the various military roles and nuclear deterrence capabilities for global power projection and support of client states in the Third World Harkavy also discusses emerging political and technological developments that could alter basing diplomacy

Weapons for Peace, Weapons for War Cassidy B. Craft, 1999-08-04 On the debate over whether or not arms transfers increase or deter the chances of war Cassidy B Craft offers a balanced assessment of the effect of arms transfers on war involvement and outcomes He considers correlations at the state and global level supplier and recipient relationships and the extent of the relationship in the perceptions of individual leaders This is the first study to examine the influence of arms transfers on combined interstate and civil wars Drawing on a variety of theories and quantitative methods including force on force attrition models it uses innovative techniques that have the potential to change the way analysts weigh the impact of weapons sales This book will provide both analysts and policymakers with a comprehensive examination of the various tradeoffs between weapons sales and the probability of conflict

The Global Arms Trade Andrew T. H. Tan, 2014-05-22 The Global Arms Trade is a timely comprehensive and in depth study of this topic a phenomenon which has continued to flourish despite the end of the Cold War and the preoccupation with global terrorism after 11 September 2001 It provides a clear description and analysis of the demand for and supply of modern weapons systems and assess key issues of concern This book will be especially useful to scholars policy analysts those in the arms industry defence professionals students of international relations and security studies media professionals government officials and those generally interested in the arms trade

The Romanian Revolution of December 1989 Peter Siani-Davies, 2007 The Romanian Revolution of 1989 was the most spectacularly violent and remains today the most controversial of all the East European upheavals of that year Despite or perhaps because of the media attention the revolution received it remains shrouded in mystery How did the seemingly impregnable Ceausescu regime come to be toppled so swiftly and how did Ion Iliescu and the National Salvation Front come to power Was it by coup d tat Who were the mysterious terrorists who wreaked such havoc on the streets of Bucharest and the other major cities of Romania Were they members of the notorious securitate What was the role of the Soviet Union Blending narrative with analysis Peter Siani Davies seeks to answer these and other questions while placing the events and their immediate aftermath within a wider context Based on fieldwork conducted in Romania and drawing heavily on Romanian sources including television and radio transcripts official documents newspaper reports and interviews this book is the most thorough study of the Romanian Revolution that has appeared in English or any other major European language Recognizing that a definitive history of these events may be impossible Siani Davies focuses on the ways in which participants interpreted the events according to particular scripts and myths of revolution rooted in the Romanian historical experience In the process the author sheds light on the ways in which history and the conflicting retellings of the 1989 events are put to political use in the transitional societies of Eastern Europe

Pakistan and United States Nuclear Nonproliferation Policy United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on Arms Control, International Security, and Science, 1988 Soviet Policy Towards South Asia Since 1970 Linda Racioppi, 1994-04-07 This book seeks to understand the evolution of Soviet policy towards the countries of South Asia the regional constraints and policy opportunities which influenced the policy process in Moscow and the relationship between Soviet perceptions and policy objectives The author divides Soviet foreign policy into three aspects a perceptual aspect in which assessment of the regional and international environment occurs a formulative aspect in which aims and strategies are developed and an implementation aspect The book analyses Soviet policy objectives and instruments in distinct historical phases 1970 1978 which covers the Indo Pakistani War and bilateral relations 1979 1985 which covers the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and its impact on regional politics and 1985 to the present which examines the Gorbachev era and the withdrawal from Afghanistan Towards a Brave New Arms Industry? Richard Bitzinger, 2014-08-27 In the post Cold War era most countries have been forced to radically reduce their arms industries and abandoned self sufficiency in favour of a subordinate role in an increasingly globalized worldwide defence industry This has significant implications for the future of armaments production for proliferation and for arms control

Moscow's Third World Strategy Alvin Z. Rubinstein, 2021-04-13 The description for this book Moscow's Third World Strategy will be forthcoming Provision of an Airborne Early Warning System for Pakistan United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on Asian and Pacific Affairs, 1988

Arming Asia Richard Bitzinger, 2016-12-19 Bitzinger examines the phenomenon of attempted self reliance in arms production within Asia and assesses the extent of success in balancing this independence with the growing requirements of next generation weapons systems He analyzes China India Japan South Korea and Southeast Asia The overarching question in the book is whether self reliance is a strategically viable solution for development and manufacturing of arms Given the ever changing dynamics and increasing demand for sophisticated next generation weaponry will these countries be able to individually sustain their domestic defense industries and constantly update their technologies This is the first book to analyze arms production from a regional perspective

Peace Research Abstracts Journal, 1990

Research Handbook on the Arms Trade Andrew T.H. Tan, 2020-12-25 This comprehensive Research Handbook examines the key drivers of the arms trade mapping the main trends in Asia Europe the Middle East Africa and Latin America It also explores the principal defence markets internationally including the US China India Russia and the UK in greater detail

India and the Soviet Union Santosh K. Mehrotra, 1990 India was the Soviet Union's most important trading partner among the less developed countries LDCs and the largest recipient of Soviet aid to non socialist LDCs Similarly the Soviet Union is one of India's largest trade partners In this 1991 book Santosh Mehrotra presents a comprehensive study of this trading relationship and the transfer of technology from the Soviet Union He begins by outlining Indian economic strategy since the 1950s and the role of Soviet and East European technical assistance Part II examines Soviet technological transfer to India since 1955 The final chapters analyse Indo Soviet trade in the 1970s and 1980s covering payment arrangements and bilateral trading The book is an exhaustive analysis of economic relations between an industrialised planned economy and a developing market economy It will therefore become essential reading for students and specialists of development economics and international relations as well as for government and institutional economists in international trade and finance

Arms and the State Keith Krause, 1995-08-10 This book analyses the structure and motive forces that shape the global arms transfer and production system

Soviet Military Assistance William H. Mott, William H. Mott IV, 2001-03-30 The second of a series this study analyzes the historical relationships between the provision of military assistance and success in achieving Soviet aims during the Cold War Mott looks at Soviet donor recipient relationships across seventeen case studies to identify the generalities or regularities that relate the classical wartime relationship to achievement of donor Cold War aims He refines the four critical features of the wartime donor recipient relationship convergence of donor and recipient aims donor control commitment of donor military forces and coherence of donor policies and strategies to reflect the unique political economic constraints of the Cold War Findings challenge orthodox separation of politics history military science and economics and refute the common wisdom that economic aid is a more effective policy instrument than military assistance Mott contends that both successes and failures of Cold War Soviet military assistance were predictable explicit consequences of donor policies and strategies and of convergence of donor and recipient aims This book presents a pattern for both policy development and theoretical analysis in which military assistance is a viable robust policy option and bilateral relationship with a clear set of requirements features processes and predictable results Its primary methodology is the search for uniformities across historical observations through low level ordinary multivariate regressions Each chapter focuses on Soviet military assistance in a region and refines the relevant features of the observed relationships into a tentative pattern for comparison with other regions

Revolution and Foreign Policy Fred Halliday, 2002-04-04 This book is a study of the foreign policy of South Yemen the most radical of Arab states from the time of its independence from Britain in 1967 until 1987 It covers relations with the west including the USA and with the USSR and China and also highlights South Yemen s conflicts with its neighbours North Yemen Saudi Arabia and Oman The author provides a detailed analysis of the foreign relations of one of the USSR s closest allies in the Third World and shows how conflicts within the country relate to changes in foreign policy South Yemen has traditionally not been an easy country to study both because it is so secretive and because the revolutionary regime still arouses such strong passions Professor Halliday was able to visit the country and to make an outstandingly thorough study of the foreign policy of an Arab state
