Art And Culture Around 1492:

Art and Culture Around 1492, 1992      The Best of All Possible Islands Richard Maddox, 2012-02-01 The 1992 world's fair in Seville serves as a vantage point from which to examine Spain's developing democracy and Europe's emerging unification according to Richard Maddox in The Best of All Possible Islands. Visited by over fourteen million people, the Seville Expo drew the participation of more than one hundred countries and dozens of corporations. As part of Spain's miraculous year in which Barcelona hosted the summer Olympics and Madrid was designated the Cultural Capital of Europe, the Expo advanced a remarkably optimistic cosmopolitan and liberal vision of the past, present, and future of the new Spain and the new Europe. Yet no aspect of this vision went unchallenged, and the Expo was at the center of fierce political rivalries and dramatic manifestations of popular discontent. In an engaging and accessible narrative, Richard Maddox demonstrates how visitors and local residents understood the significance of the event in ways that largely escaped the knowledge and control of the Expo's organizers. Understanding how and why this occurred casts critical light on the transformation of Spain since the end of the Franco dictatorship in 1976 and illuminates some of the key cultural and political dilemmas that processes of European and global integration pose for citizens of democratic societies.      Art and Culture Around 1492

Sevilla, 1995-03-01      Hybrids of Modernity Penelope Harvey, 2013-02-01 Hybrids of Modernity considers the relationship between three western modernist institutions: anthropology, the nation-state, and the universal exhibition. It looks at the ways in which these institutions are linked, how they are engaged in the objectification of culture, and in how they have themselves become objects of cultural theory, the targets of critics who claim that despite their continuing visibility, these are all institutions with questionable viability in the late 20th century. Through analysis of the Universal Exhibition held in Seville in 1992, the themes of culture, nationality, and technology are explored. Particular attention is paid to how culture is produced and put to work by the national and corporate participants and to the relationship between the emergence of culture as commodity and the way in which the concept is employed in contemporary cultural theory.      Islamic Arms and Armor in

The Metropolitan Museum of Art David G. Alexander, 2015-12-31 Armor and weaponry were central to Islamic culture, not only as a means of conquest and the spread of the faith, but also as symbols of status, wealth, and power. The finest arms were made by master craftsmen working with the leading designers, goldsmiths, and jewelers, whose work transformed utilitarian military equipment into courtly works of art. This book reveals the diversity and artistic quality of one of the most important and encyclopedic collections of its kind in the West. The Metropolitan Museum's holdings span ten centuries and include representative pieces from almost every Islamic culture, from Spain to the Caucasus. The collection includes rare early works, among them the oldest documented Islamic sword, and is rich in helmets and body armor decorated with calligraphy and arabesques that were worn in Iran and Anatolia in the late fifteenth century. Other masterpieces include a jeweled short sword, yatagan, with a blade of watered steel that comes from the court of Suleyman the Magnificent, a seventeenth-century gold inlaid armor associated with Shah Jahan and two gold inlaid flintlock firearms belonging to the guard of Tipu Sultan of Mysore Presenting 126 objects each handsomely photographed and richly documented with a detailed description and discussion of its technical historical and artistic importance this overview of the Met's holdings is supplemented by an introductory essay on the formation of the collection and appendixes on iconography and on Turkman style armor

The Politics of Display Sharon Macdonald, 2010-10-05 The assumption that museum exhibitions particularly those concerned with science and technology are somehow neutral and impartial is today being challenged both in the public arena and in the academy The Politics of Display brings together studies of contemporary and historical exhibitions and contends that exhibitions are never and never have been above politics Rather technologies of display and ideas about science and objectivity are mobilized to tell stories of progress citizenship racial and national difference The display of the Enola Gay the aircraft which dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima is a well known case in point The Politics of Display charts the changing relationship between displays and their audience and analyzes the consequent shift in styles of representation towards interactive multimedia and reflexive modes of display The Politics of Display brings together an array of international scholars in the disciplines of sociology anthropology and history Examples are taken from exhibitions of science technology and industry anthropology geology natural history and medicine and locations include the United States of America Australia the United Kingdom France the Netherlands and Spain This book is an excellent contribution to debates about the politics of public culture It will be of interest to students of sociology anthropology cultural studies museum studies and science studies

The Book of Expo Guidebooks Gordon Linden, 2016-02 Guidebooks from major International Expositions held between 1929 Barcelona Seville and today 2015 Milan are interesting records of the entertaining and educational temporary worlds created at these events in various cities throughout the world Published as ephemeral items to be purchased by fairgoers copies occasionally turn up at flea markets in antiquarian bookstores and on internet bookstore sites This collection of images from the various events along with a description of the contents of the books is sure to appeal to memorabilia collectors as well as those seeking to learn more about the history of Expos and World's Fairs

Metalwork and Material Culture in the Islamic World Venetia Porter,Mariam Rosser-Owen,2012-06-29 The material and visual culture of the Islamic World casts vast arcs through space and time and encompasses a huge range of artefacts and monuments from the minute to the grandiose from ceramic pots to the great mosques Here Venetia Porter and Mariam Rosser Owen assemble leading experts in the field to examine both the objects themselves and the ways in which they reflect their historical cultural and economic contexts With a focus on metalwork this volume includes an important new study of Mosul metalwork and presents recent discoveries in the fields of Fatimid Mamluk and Qajar metalwork By examining architecture ceramics ivories and textiles seventeenth century Iranian painting and contemporary art the book explores a wide range of artistic production and historical periods from the Umayyad caliphate to the modern Middle East This rich and detailed volume makes a significant contribution to the fields of Art History Architecture and Islamic Studies bringing new objects to light and shedding new light on old objects

Critical Terms for Art History, Second Edition Robert S. Nelson,Richard Shiff,2010-03-15 Art has always been contested terrain whether the object in question is a medieval tapestry or Duchamp s Fountain But questions about the categories of art and art history acquired increased urgency during the 1970s when new developments in critical theory and other intellectual projects dramatically transformed the discipline The first edition of Critical Terms for Art History both mapped and contributed to those transformations offering a spirited reassessment of the field s methods and terminology Art history as a field has kept pace with debates over globalization and other social and political issues in recent years making a second edition of this book not just timely but crucial Like its predecessor this new edition consists of essays that cover a wide variety of loaded terms in the history of art from sign to meaning ritual to commodity Each essay explains and comments on a single term discussing the issues the term raises and putting the term into practice as an interpretive framework for a specific work of art For example Richard Shiff discusses Originality in Vija Celmins's To Fix the Image in Memory a work made of eleven pairs of stones each consisting of one original stone and one painted bronze replica In addition to the twenty two original essays this edition includes nine new ones performance style memory monument body beauty ugliness identity visual culture visual studies and social history of art as well as new introductory material All help expand the book's scope while retaining its central goal of stimulating discussion of theoretical issues in art history and making that discussion accessible to both beginning students and senior scholars Contributors Mark Antliff Nina Athanassoglou Kallmyer Stephen Bann Homi K Bhabha Suzanne Preston Blier Michael Camille David Carrier Craig Clunas Whitney Davis Jas Elsner Ivan Gaskell Ann Gibson Charles Harrison James D Herbert Amelia Jones Wolfgang Kemp Joseph Leo Koerner Patricia Leighton Paul Mattick Jr Richard Meyer W J T Mitchell Robert S Nelson Margaret Olin William Pietz Alex Potts Donald Preziosi Lisbet Rausing Richard Shiff Terry Smith Kristine Stiles David Summers Paul Wood James E Young
