Sidney Burris

Antaeus Spring 1988:

Aleksander Wat Tomas Venclova, 1996-01-01 Aleksander Wat was in many ways the archetypal Central European intellectual of the mid twentieth century a man who experienced and influenced all the tumultuous political and artistic movements of his time Yet little has been published about him even in his native Poland This book is the first account of Wat s turbulent life accompanied by a thorough analysis of his extraordinary poems and prose works in their diverse periods and genres Tomas Venclova himself a poet of international renown has uncovered numerous new biographical details made the surprising discovery of an unfinished novel Wat began fifty years ago and woven together the themes of Wat s life and work At different times a futurist surrealist and Communist fellow traveler Wat turned away from communism after his imprisonment by the Soviet secret police and became a vociferous spokesman for democracy Venclova tells Wat s story from his Polish Jewish upbringing in the early 1900s his participation in the literary avant garde in the 1920s and his work as editor of an influential Communist journal before World War II through his emigration to the West in 1959 and his death in 1967 Venclova argues convincingly that Wat s literary achievement promoted the rejuvenation of Polish and East European letters after the Stalinist era His broad intellectual influence on many including Czeslaw Milosz helped to consolidate the moral and political opposition to totalitarian ideology that has profoundly changed political realities in the late twentieth century

Brown Dog of the Yaak Rick Bass, 1999 Midamerica , 1990 In Uncle Sam's Service Susan

Zeiger, 2019-05-15 During World War I the first American war in which women were mobilized on a mass scale by the armed services more than sixteen thousand women served overseas with the American Expeditionary Force Although wealthy women volunteers members of the so called heiress corps monopolized public attention Susan Zeiger reveals that the majority of AEF women were wage earners Their motives for enlistment ranged from patriotism to economic self interest from a sense of adventure to a desire to challenge gender boundaries Zeiger uses diaries letters questionnaires oral histories and memoirs to explore the women s experience of war She draws upon insights from labor history political history popular culture and the study of gender and war to analyze the ways in which women s wartime service heightened and made visible the contradictions in the prevailing gender relations Zeiger argues that the interests of AEF women clashed with those of the wartime state at a crucial historical moment Women sought to expand their personal opportunities for mobility and professional success and lay claim to equal citizenship The government determined to contain the disruption to the status quo created a separate subordinate status for women in the military domesticating women s service and reinscribing it within conventional limits
