Anthropologists In The Public Sphere Speaking Out On War Peace And American Power:

Anthropologists in the Public Sphere Roberto J. González, 2004-04-01 Anthropologists have a long tradition of prescient diagnoses of world events Possessing a knowledge of culture society and history not always shared by the media s talking heads anthropologists have played a crucial role in educating the general reader on the public debates from World War I to the second Gulf War This anthology collects over fifty commentaries by noted anthropologists such as Margaret Mead Franz Boas and Marshall Sahlins who seek to understand and explain the profound repercussions of U S involvement in the Middle East Asia Africa and Latin America Frequently drawing on their own fieldwork the anthropologists go beyond the headlines to draw connections between indigenous cultures corporate globalization and contemporary political and economic crises Venues range from the op ed pages of internationally renowned newspapers such as the New York Times and the Washington Post to magazine articles and television interviews Special sections entitled Prelude to September 11 and Anthropological Interpretations of September 11 include articles that provided many Americans with their first substantial introduction to the history of Islam Central Asia and the Middle East Each article includes a brief introduction contextualizing the commentary

Peasant Politics of the Twenty-First Century Marc Edelman, 2024-02-15 Peasant Politics of the Twenty First Century illuminates the transnational agrarian movements that are remaking rural society and the world s food and agriculture systems Marc Edelman explains how peasant movements are staking their claims from farmers fields to massive protests around the world shaping heated debates over peasants rights and the very category of peasant within the agrarian organizations and in the United Nations Edelman chronicles the rise of these movements their objectives and their alliances with environmental human rights women s and food justice groups The book scrutinizes high profile activists and the forgotten genealogies and policy implications of foundational analytical frameworks like moral economy and concepts such as food sovereignty and civil society Peasant Politics of the Twenty First Century charts the struggle of agrarian movements in the face of land grabbing counter agrarian reform and a looming climate catastrophe and celebrates engaged research from Central America to the UN Human Rights Council in Geneva

Taking Sides Heidi Armbruster, Anna Lærke, 2010 Concerns with research ethics have intensified over recent years in large part as a symptom of audit cultures M Strathern but also as a serious matter of engagement with the ethical complexities in contemporary research fields This volume written by a new generation of scholars engaged with contemporary global movements for social justice and peace reflects their efforts in trying to integrate their scholarly pursuits with their understanding of social science politics and ethics and what political commitment means in practice and in fieldwork This is a book of argument and analysis written with passion clarity and intellectual sophistication which touches on issues of vital significance to social scientists and activists in general

A History of Anthropological Theory, Fifth Edition Paul A. Erickson, Liam D. Murphy, 2017-01-01 An accessible and engaging overview of anthropological theory that provides a comprehensive history from antiquity through to the twenty first century The fifth edition has been revised throughout with substantial updates to the Feminism and Anthropology section including more on Gender and Sexuality and with a new section on Anthropologies of the Digital Age Once again A History of Anthropological Theory will be published simultaneously with the accompanying reader mirroring these changes in the selection of readings so they can easily be used together in the classroom Additional biographical information about some of theorists has been added to help students

Public Anthropology Edward J. Hecican, 2016-01-01 Contemporary anthropology has changed drastically in the new millennium expanding beyond the anachronistic study of primitive societies to confront the burning social economic and political challenges of the day In the process anthropologists often come face to face with issues that require them to take a public position issues such as race and tolerance health and well being food security reconciliation and public justice global terror and militarism and digital media This comprehensive but accessible book is both an interesting read and an excellent overview of public anthropology In depth case studies offer an opportunity to evaluate the pros and cons of engaging with public issues while profiles of select anthropologists ensure the book is contemporary but rooted in the history of the discipline

A History of Anthropological Theory Paul A. Erickson, Liam Donat Murphy, 2013-01-01 In the latest edition of their popular overview text Erickson and Murphy continue to provide a comprehensive affordable and accessible introduction to anthropological theory from antiquity to the present A new section on twenty first century anthropological theory has been added with more coverage given to postcolonialism non Western anthropology and public anthropology The book has also been redesigned to be more visually and pedagogically engaging Used on its own or paired with the companion volume Readings for a History of Anthropological Theory Fourth Edition this reader offers a flexible and highly useful resource for the undergraduate anthropology classroom For additional resources visit the Teaching Theory page at www.utpteachingculture.com

Battlegrounds - Constructions of Us and Them Before and After 9/11 Volume 1 Joanna Witkowska, Uwe

Zagratzki, 2014-10-16 The effects of 9/11 ramify through a network of conduits and pathways including the examples of expressive culture this volume explores and the registration of those effects will likewise be felt in an array of documents and texts The cultural literary and mass mediated effects of 9/11 encompass the globe and the chapters in this volume assume a transnational and international range of vantage points The topics examined include the representation of Islam and Moslems in a number of texts and genres the political and psychological dilemmas faced by characters in a number of literary works and the refraction of current psycho cultural political tensions in forms of expressive culture in which the effects of 9/11 are felt in other than explicit ways Was 9/11 a moment that punctuated and disrupted the movement of history or as one of the authors suggests did it act as a catalyst to escalate existing stereotypes The chapters investigate not just different genres and cultural forms but distinct modes of intersection between the political the cultural and the psychological One achievement of this volume is to show how 9/11's effects at times insinuate themselves in discourse through nuance and subtlety and at other times frontally assault texts and images In the words of one article modern Dutch post 9/11 novels directly participate in current cultural and political discourses By the same token these cultural and political discourses participate in novels films TV shows and the effects of 9/11 proliferate and concentrate in this exchange This volume draws timely attention to the multiple forms of this complex interaction Dr Patrick Hagopian University of Lancaster

Humanity's Last Stand Mark Schuller, 2021-01-15 Are we as a species headed towards extinction As our economic system renders our planet increasingly inhospitable to human life powerful individuals fight over limited resources and racist reaction to migration strains the social fabric of many countries How can we retain our humanity in the midst of these life and death struggles Humanity's Last Stand dares to ask these big questions exploring the interconnections between climate change global capitalism xenophobia and white supremacy As it unearths how capitalism was born from plantation slavery and the slaughter of Indigenous people it also invites us to imagine life after capitalism The book teaches its readers how to cultivate an anthropological imagination a mindset that remains attentive to local differences even as it identifies global patterns of inequality and racism Surveying the struggles of disenfranchised peoples around the globe from frontline communities affected by climate change to BlackLivesMatter activists to Indigenous water protectors to migrant communities facing increasing hostility anthropologist Mark Schuller argues that we must develop radical empathy in order to move beyond simply identifying as allies and start acting as accomplices Bringing together the insights of anthropologists and activists from many cultures this timely study shows us how to stand together and work toward a more inclusive vision of humanity before it's too late More information and instructor resources <https://humanityslaststand.org> An Asian Frontier Robert Oppenheim, 2016 In the nineteenth century the predominant focus of American anthropology centered on the native peoples of North America and most anthropologists would argue that Korea during this period was hardly a cultural area of great anthropological interest. However, this perspective underestimates Korea as a significant object of concern for American anthropology during the period from 1882 to 1945, otherwise a turbulent transitional period in Korea's history. An Asian Frontier focuses on the dialogue between the American anthropological tradition and Korea from Korea's first treaty with the United States to the end of World War II, with the goal of rereading anthropology's history and theoretical development through its Pacific frontier. Drawing on notebooks and personal correspondence as well as the publications of anthropologists of the day, Robert Oppenheim shows how and why Korea became an important object of study. With, for instance, more published about Korea in the pages of American Anthropologist before 1900 than would be seen for decades after, Oppenheim chronicles the actions of American collectors, Korean mediators, and metropolitan curators who first created Korean anthropological exhibitions for the public. He moves on to examine anthropologists such as Ales Hrdlicka, Walter Hough, Stewart Culin, Frederick Starr, and Frank Hamilton Cushing, who fit Korea into frameworks of evolution, culture, and race, even as they engaged questions of imperialism that were raised by Japan's colonization of the country. In tracing the development of American anthropology's understanding of Korea, Oppenheim discloses the legacy present in our ongoing understanding of Korea and of anthropology's past.

Cultural Melancholia: US Trauma Discourses Before and After 9/11 Christina Cavedon, 2015-09-01. In Cultural Melancholia: US Trauma Discourses Before and After 9/11, Christina Cavedon frames her examination of 9/11 fiction, especially Jay McInerney's The Good Life and Don DeLillo's Falling Man, with a thorough discussion of what US reactions to the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, disclose about American culture. Offering a comparative reading of pre and post 9/11 literary, public, and academic discourses, she deconstructs the still commonly held belief that cultural repercussions of the attacks primarily testify to a cultural trauma in the wake of the collectively witnessed media event. She innovatively reinterprets discourses to be symptomatic of a malaise which had afflicted American culture already prior to 9/11 and can best be approached with melancholia as an analytical concept.
