Market Design Powers of the European Commission? Korbinian Reiter,2020-02-06 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the remedies practice the European Commission has adopted on the basis of articles 7 and 9 of regulation 1 03 Using article 7 as a normative benchmark it shows that most of the criticism levelled at the Commission s article 9 decisions and the Alrosa judgment of the CJEU is not justified since critics tend to over state both the rigour of article 7 and the laxness of article 9 Remaining inconsistencies between the commitment practice and the standards for infringement decisions can it be submitted be justified by the consensual nature of commitment decisions and their underlying goal of procedural economy Moreover it is suggested that too little importance is generally assigned to the beneficial effect which commitments bring about by providing for precise and enforceable obligations without sacrificing the concerned undertakings freedom to choose how to put the infringement to an end Adopting a case oriented approach this study provides valuable insights for academics and practitioners alike

Boosting the Enforcement of EU Competition Law at the Domestic Level Anne Looijestijn-Clearie,Catalin S. Rusu,Marc Veenbrink,2017-05-11 The role of the EU competition law rules in shaping the EU Internal Market can hardly be overstated The EU substantive rules dealing with cartels abuse of dominance and State aid have ensured in the past decades a much desired unity of the law applied in the diverse European markets Yet much of the success of the EU competition law provisions depends on its practical enforcement. The proliferation of competition law enforcement especially since 2004 stands testimony in this respect. However, this has not come without challenges. In this context, this book aims to critically discuss certain key elements relating to the domestic enforcement of the said rules in order to place the discussion of further boosting this enforcement exercise in the correct context. This book aims in this respect to find an answer to the following question: to what extent would boosting the domestic enforcement of the EU competition law rules aid the ambition of more forceful, better targeted and more resource efficient EU competition law enforcement in the Internal Market. Topics such as the following are discussed in the contributions included in this book: the sufficiency of the enforcement toolbox of national competition authorities; the interaction between fundamental rights and competition law; and the duties of domestic bodies in this context.

Liner Conferences in Competition Law Hongyan Liu, 2009-09-24. A liner conference as a self-regulation organisational form of liner shipping companies constitutes a typical hard core cartel with significant anti-competitive effect. One of the main three trade routes of liner shipping traffic is the Europe-Asia Trade, on the two ends of which both the European Community (EC) and the People's Republic of China (PRC) play important roles in the international liner shipping market. However, the competition regimes on liner conferences in both jurisdictions are not equivalent. From a comparative point of view, this book reviews the historical development of maritime policy and regulatory legislation in the EC and the PRC, catches insight into the system of regulation regime and individual provisions in substantive and procedural meaning and finally provides a wide-ranging perspective on the future competition regulation in respect of the latest developments in both jurisdictions.

The International Dimension of EU Competition Law and Policy Anestis S. Papadopoulos, 2010-10-28. Modern competition law was first employed by countries over one hundred years ago in order to address issues relating to restrictions of trade at the national level. Recent international economic integration has weakened the distinction between the domestic and the international in several fields of economic activity and consequently the laws which regulate such activity. Competition law included several attempts to address the paradox of adopting national competition rules to address international issues. Have been made at the international, regional and lately bilateral levels. This book discusses the international dimension of EU competition law and examines the position taken by the EU in four distinct categories of international agreements which are devoted to competition or include competition provisions. In particular, it analyses the EU's position with regard to bilateral enforcement.
