Automotive Engine Alternatives:

Automotive Engine Alternatives Robert L. Evans, 2013-06-29 This book contains the proceedings of the International Symposium on Alternative and Advanced Automotive Engines held in Vancouver B C on August 11 and 12 1986 The symposium was sponsored by EXPO 86 and The University of British Columbia and was part of the specialized periods program of EXPO 86 the 1986 world's fair held in Vancouver Some 80 attendees were drawn from 11 countries representing the academic automotive and large engine communities The purpose of the symposium was to provide a critical review of the major alternatives to the internal combustion engine The scope of the symposium was limited to consideration of combustion engines so that electric power for example was not considered This was not a reflection on the possible contribution which electric propulsion may make in the future but rather an attempt to focus the proceedings more sharply than if all possible propulsion systems had been considered In this way all of the contributors were able to participate in the sometimes lively discussion sessions following the presentation of each paper Alternatives to the Internal Combustion Engine Robert U. Committee on Science and Technology, 1975 The Future of Internal Combustion Engines Antonio Paolo Carlucci, 2019-09-11 Based on previsions the reciprocating internal combustion engine will continue to be widely used in all sectors transport industry and energy production Therefore its development while complying with the limitations of pollutants as well as CO2 emission levels and maintaining or increasing performance will certainly continue for the next few decades In the last three decades a significant effort has been made to reduce pollutant emission levels More recently attention has been given to CO2 emission levels too It is widely recognized that one single technology will not completely solve the problem of CO2 emissions in the atmosphere Rather the different technologies already available will have to be integrated and new technologies developed to obtain substantial CO2 abatement Fuels, Energy, and the Environment Ghazi A.
