Averno Poems:

Averno Louise Glück, 2021-08-26 Brilliant poems of complex haunting power Averno may be Glück's masterpiece The New York Times Book Review An acclaimed collection from the Nobel prize winning poet This startlingly original reworking of the Persephone myth takes us to the icy shores of Averno the crater lake regarded by the ancient Romans as the entrance to the underworld Here the consolations of rebirth and renewal are eclipsed by the immediacy of loss by a mother's possessive grief an abducted girl's equivocal memories a farmer's lament for a lost harvest This chorus offers neither comfort nor solace but deepened understanding its sorrow textured by the poet's luminous wit Together the poems of Averno swell to a staggeringly powerful lamentation through which the reader glimpses the ecstasy of the inevitable only to find it resisted by the insistent impersonal presence of the Earth

The Poetry of Louise Glück Daniel Morris, 2006-12-01 A dominant figure in American poetry for more than thirty five years Louise Glück has been the recipient of virtually every major poetry award She won the Nobel Prize in Literature in 2020 and was named U S poet laureate for 2003 2004 In a full length study of her work Daniel Morris explores how this prolific poet utilizes masks of characters from history the Bible and even fairy tales Morris treats Glück's persistent themes desire hunger trauma survival through close reading of her major book length sequences from the 1990s Ararat Meadowlands and The Wild Iris An additional chapter devoted to The House on Marshland 1975 shows how its revision of Romanticism and nature poetry anticipated these later works Seeing Glück's poems as complex analyses of the authorial self via sustained central metaphors Morris reads her poetry against a narrative pattern that shifts from the tones of anger despair and resentment found in her early Firstborn to the resignation of Ararat and proceeds in her latest volumes including Vita Nova and Averno toward an ambivalent embrace of embodied life By showing how Glück's poems may be read as a form of commentary on the meanings of great literature and myth Morris emphasizes her irreverent attitude toward the canons through which she both expresses herself and deflects her autobiographical impulse By discussing her sense of self of Judaism and of the poetic tradition he explores her position as a mystic poet with an ambivalent relationship to religious discourse verging on Gnosticism with tendencies toward the ancient rabbinic midrash tradition of reading scripture He particularly shows how her creative reading of past poets expresses her vision of Judaism as a way of thinking about canonical texts The Poetry of Louise Glück is a quintessential study of how poems may be read as a form of commentary on the meanings of great literature and myth It clearly demonstrates that through this lens of commentary one can grasp more firmly the very idea of poetry itself that Glück has spent her career both defining and extending

Lost Loss in American Elegiac Poetry Toshiaki Komura, 2020-10-07. Lost Loss in American Elegiac Poetry: Tracing Inaccessible Grief from Stevens to Post 9/11 examines contemporary literary expressions of losses that are lost on us, inquiring what it means to lose, loss, and what happens when dispossessory experiences go unacknowledged or become inaccessible. Toshiaki Komura analyzes a range of elegiac poetry that does not neatly align with conventional assumptions about the genre, including Wallace Stevens's The Owl in the Sarcophagus, Sylvia Plath's last poems, Elizabeth Bishop's Geography III, Sharon Olds's The Dead and the Living, Louise Glück's Averno, and poems written after 9/11. What these poems reveal at the intersection of personal and communal mourning are the mechanisms of cognitive myth-making involved in denied grief and its social and ethical implications. Engaging with an assortment of philosophical, psychoanalytic, and psychological theories, Lost Loss in American Elegiac Poetry elucidates how poetry gives shape to the vague despondency of unrecognized loss and what kind of phantomic effects these equivocal grieving experiences may create.
