([With A] Translation of the Persian Commentary on the Recital of Ḥayy Ibn Yaqẓān, [attributed to Juzjānī]) Henry Corbin, 1960 Avicenne Et Le Récit Visionnaire. Avicenna and the Visionary Recital. Including a Translation of the Persian Commentary on the "Recital of Ḥayy Ibn Yaqẓān." Translated ... by Willard R. Trask Henry Corbin, Willard Ropes TRASK, 1960 Avicenna and the Visionary Recital Henry Corbin, 1988 Avicenna and the Visionary Recital. Translated from the French by Willard R. Trask Henry Corbin, The Phenomenological Quest Between Avicenna

and Heidegger Nader El-Bizri, 2000 The Phenomenological Quest between Avicenna and Heidegger investigates Avicenna's 980-1037 ontological, epistemological, mystic, and linguistic accounts of being while at the same time accounting for Martin Heidegger's critique of the history of metaphysics. This investigation constitutes one of the first elaborate examinations of Avicenna's phenomenological considerations of the question of being. The consideration of Avicenna's philosophical works has been mainly conducted through primary Arabic medieval texts that have not yet been translated into English, French, or German, nor sufficiently addressed by Western scholarship. Martin Heidegger claims that the history of metaphysics is the history of the oblivion of being while holding that his fundamental ontology presents a genuine phenomenological account that attempts to overcome metaphysics. However, Avicenna's philosophical works do testify to the emergence of a phenomenological philosophical tradition that took the question of being to be the most central question of philosophical investigations. This Avicennian philosophical heritage grounded subsequent developments that attested to the rise of a new strain in ontology that overcomes substance and subject-based ontology while being characterized by salient phenomenological dimensions. To sum up, Avicenna's philosophical accounts of being present phenomenological dimensions in ontology that offer alternative phenomenological methods of investigation in ontology that would contribute to the renewal of philosophy in general and ontology and metaphysics in particular.

Allah Transcendent Ian Richard Netton, 2013-01-11 Examines the role of God in medieval Islamic philosophy and theology in a new and exciting way. Renouncing the traditional chronological method of considering Islamic philosophy, Netton uses modern literary modes of criticism derived from structuralism, post-structuralism, and semiotics.

Allegory and Philosophy in Avicenna (Ibn Sînâ) Peter Heath, 2010-11-24 Islamic allegory is the product of a cohesive literary tradition to which few contributed as significantly as Ibn Sina. Avicenna, the eleventh-century Muslim philosopher, Peter Heath here offers a detailed examination of Avicenna's contribution, paying special attention to Avicenna's psychology and poetics and to the ways in which they influenced strains of theological, mystical, and literary thought in subsequent Islamic and Western intellectual and religious history. Heath begins by showing how Avicenna's writings fit into the context and general history of Islamic allegory and explores the interaction among allegory, allegoresis, and philosophy in Avicenna's thought. He then provides a brief introduction to Avicenna as an historical figure. From there, he examines the ways in which Avicenna's cosmological, psychological, and epistemological theories find parallel or diverse expression in the disparate formats of philosophical and allegorical narration. Included in this book is an illustration of Avicenna's allegorical practice. This takes the form of a translation of the Mi'raj Nama, 'The Book of the Prophet Muhammad's Ascent to Heaven', a short treatise in Persian generally attributed to Avicenna. The text concludes with an investigation of the literary dimension of Avicenna's allegorical theory and practice by examining his use of description, metaphor, and allegory.

Joshua Hoeynck, 2019-08-19 Staying Open Charles Olson's Sources and Influences investigates the interdisciplinary influences on the work of the mid-Century American poet Charles Olson. This edited collection of essays covers Olson's diverse non-literary interests including his engagement with the music of John Cage and Pierre Boulez, his interests in abstract expressionism and his readings of philosopher Alfred North Whitehead. The essays also examine Olson's pedagogy which he developed in the experimental environment at Black Mountain College as well as his six-month archeological journey through the Yucatan Peninsula in 1950 to explore the culture of the Maya. This book will therefore be a strong research aid to scholars working in diverse fields: music, archeology, pedagogy, philosophy, art, and psychology, as it outlines methods for close interdisciplinary work that can uncover the mechanics of Olson's creative literary processes. Building on the straightforward scholarship of George Butterick whose Guide to the Maximus Poems remains indispensable for readers of Olson's work, the essays in this volume will also guide readers through the thick allusions within The Maximus Poems itself. New interest in the wide-ranging and non-literary nature of Olson's thought in several recent academic works makes this book both timely and necessary. Physics Envy: American Poetry and Science in the Cold War and After by Peter Middleton as well as Contemporary Olson edited by David Herd have started the process of uncovering the extent to which Olson's interdisciplinary interests inflected his poetic compositions. Staying Open extends the preliminary investigations of Olson's non-literary sources in those volumes by bringing together a community of scholars working across disciplines and within a wide variety of humanistic concerns.

The Texture of the Divine Aaron W. Hughes, 2003-12-09 The Texture of the Divine explores the central role of the imagination in the shared symbolic worlds of medieval Islam and Judaism. Aaron W. Hughes looks closely at three interrelated texts known as the Hayy ibn Yaqzan cycle, dating roughly from 1000-1200 CE, to reveal the interconnections not only between Muslims and Jews but also between philosophy, mysticism, and literature. Each of the texts is an initiatory tale recounting a journey through the ascending layers of the universe. These narratives culminate in the imaginative apprehension of God in which the traveler gazes into the divine presence. The tales are beautiful and poetic literary works as well as probing philosophical treatises on how the individual can know the unknowable. In this groundbreaking work, Hughes reveals the literary, initiatory, ritualistic, and mystical dimensions of medieval Neoplatonism. The Texture of the Divine also includes the first complete English translation of Abraham Ibn Ezra's Hay ben Meqitz.
