Az Of Haematology:

A - Z of Haematology Barbara J. Bain, Rajeev Gupta, 2008-04-15 A Z of Haematology provides an essential quick reference guide to definitions covering the entire spectrum of haematology from blood transfusion and coagulation through to recent advances in molecular haematology. It is the indispensable guide for all those practising or studying haematology including research scientists and biomedical scientists working in diagnostic laboratories. Scientists working in cytogenetics and immunophenotyping will also find it a valuable repository of relevant knowledge. A Z of Haematology includes Definitions cover the entire spectrum of haematology from blood transfusion and coagulation through to molecular haematology. Essential quick reference guide for all those practising or studying haematology. Over 100 figures to explain and clarify difficult concepts. Inclusion of all CD numbers and oncogenes to be encountered in daily practice. Appendices of laboratory data and normal values included. Multiple Myeloma and Related Disorders Gosta Gahrton, Brian Durie, Diana Samson, 2004-04-30 During the past decade there has been an enormous increase in knowledge of multiple myeloma and related disorders reflected in the publication of more than 5000 articles on the subject in scientific journals. Much of this has come about as new technologies have made it possible to refine studies on chromosomes and genes and to gain information about gene expression. It is therefore highly appropriate that this new comprehensive reference should appear at this time. The book covers the whole field of multiple myeloma and also related diseases such as Waldenström's macroglobulinaemia and incorporates both the basic science underlying the diseases and their clinical management. Each chapter has been written to stand alone allowing the reader to dip into a particular subject and find information quickly without the need to browse through multiple chapters. In addition to the developments described above all of which are considered here many other approaches to targeted therapy are reviewed. A-Z of Clinical Chemistry W. Hood, 2012-12-06 The newcomer to the field of clinical chemistry is faced with the daunting prospect of understanding the ever increasing aspects of the subject. New techniques, tests, terminology, methods of diagnosing diseases and other advances which relate to clinical chemistry. The aim of this book is to provide basic information regarding all branches of the subject which the trainee will need to understand. The book should also provide a basis for answering many of the examination questions of clinical chemistry. It is therefore hoped that this book will prove useful to any person starting a career in clinical chemistry be that person a laboratory scientific officer, graduate or trainee pathologist. Wherever possible suggestions for further reading are given. Many subjects are so broad however that the reader is referred to the general list of analytical and clinical textbooks supplied at the end of the book. My grateful thanks are extended to the three ladies who typed this manuscript: Christine Cliffe, Margaret Donnelly and Judith Hardy. I would like to thank Dr Brian Wisdom of Queens University Belfast for his suggestions on the entry Enzyme immunoassay. Finally my thanks go to Mr Martin Lister of MTP Press for his help and encouragement in this venture. W H ASHTON UNDER LYNE APRIL 1980 vii A ABETALIPOPROTEINAEMIA A rare hereditary
