Foreign Actors' Influence on Azerbaijan's Energy Policy Tina Flegel, 2015-10-03. The author traces several energy policy decisions taken between 2006 and 2013 in Azerbaijan to find out how international actors tried to influence policy making. The book facilitates understanding of the political mechanisms, threats, and opportunities that characterize activities in Azerbaijan's energy sector, illustrating strategic pitfalls and chances. Based on a detailed country analysis and the in-depth comparison of four policy cases, the book deduces the political elite's rationale and its practical consequences for transnational relations. It is relevant for scholars studying the political economy of rentier states and regimes in the authoritarian realm, as well as for young strategists in organizations that conduct business in countries dominated by tight informal networks.

Glocalized Security Abu Bakarr Bah,2025-06-03 What forces drive violent conflicts and whose interests are protected by military involvement In those conflicts how do domestic factors fuse with external dynamics and what issues spell the difference between successful and failed intervention Enter Glocalized Security a concept that argues that this fusion of domestic and external matters produces new war dynamics which require both substantial domestic reforms and realignment of external interests to achieve sustainable peace In this edited collection contributors use this concept to examine grievances and interests in and around war torn countries Combining a variety of disciplines from sociology and political science to peace studies and public policy and administration these case studies draw from over three decades of international military interventions around the world including Afghanistan Turkey Somalia Iraq Nigeria and Nepal Analyzing the intersectional relationship of the local and global Glocalized Security provides new insights into the problems of international security and why international military interventions often fail to ensure peace and security in conflict zones where these factors have morphed into terrorism warfare or zones of national interest among major world and regional powers By focusing on ethnicity religion poverty governance and the other most common motivators of violent conflicts Glocalized Security provides a crucial conceptual basis for understanding international relations in the twenty first century
