inspiring people of all ages to work together value differences and take care of the environment As the sun set over the meadow and left a warm golden glow the ants bees beekeeper and all the other animals felt a deep sense of happiness So the story of the field its people and the way they worked together inspired people who came after them It told everyone that if we all work together we can make a world where peace and cooperation thrive and where the beauty of nature is always appreciated How the story started A busy group of ants used to live in a beautiful field between rolling hills People knew them for how hard they worked to find food and build complicated underground tunnels Every day the ants ran back and forth picking up crumbs and seeds to keep their society alive A small worker ant named Annie lived with the other ants She had bright curious eyes and a strong will that didn't match her small size Annie was always eager to find out and try new things Annie wanted to try something new but the other ants were happy with their pattern Annie found a sparkling stream at the edge of the meadow one beautiful morning when the ants were going about their normal business of gathering food Its clean water sparkled in the sun calling her closer Annie's friends told her about the dangers that lay outside of their familiar area but she was too curious to listen Annie ran as fast as she could toward the stream As she got closer to the water she saw a beautiful water lily gently floating on the top Annie was drawn to it by its beautiful pink flowers She liked how beautiful it was and thought about the world outside of her village Annie was thinking about something when she heard a faint voice It said Hello there little ant Annie looked around confused to try to figure out where the voice was coming from Then a wise old turtle sitting on a nearby rock caught her eye The turtle said his name was Timothy and that he had lived near the creek for a long time He had seen how hard the ants worked and he was amazed by how well they worked together and how determined they were Timothy was interested in how Annie looked so he asked her why she had gone so far away from her village Annie didn't hide her desire for excitement and adventure in the world outside the field She told Timothy how much she wanted to see new places and meet new animals Timothy nodded and smiled when he saw that Annie wanted to go exploring Timothy said I've seen a lot of amazing things in my life and I think you have the spirit of a true adventurer But don't forget that your colony depends on your hard work and dedication and there's a lot to learn and discover even in your meadow The
