A Thickness of Particulars Jonathan F. S. Post, 2015 A Thickness of Particulars The Poetry of Anthony Hecht uses Hecht's own correspondence to present the first book length study of one of the great formal poets of the later twentieth century 1923-2004 True Friendship Christopher Ricks, 2010-03-02 True Friendship looks closely at three outstanding poets of the past half century Geoffrey Hill, Anthony Hecht and Robert Lowell through the lens of their relation to their two predecessors in genius T.S. Eliot and Ezra Pound. The critical attention then finds itself reciprocated with Eliot and Pound being in their turn contemplated anew through the lenses of their successors. Hill, Hecht and Lowell are among the most generously alert and discriminating readers as is borne out not only by their critical prose but best of all by their acts of new creation: those poems of theirs that are thanks to Eliot and Pound. Opposition is true Friendship. So William Blake believed or at any rate hoped. Hill, Hecht and Lowell demonstrate many kinds of friendship with Eliot and Pound: adversarial, artistic, personal. In their creative assent and dissent, the imaginative literary allusions like other wider forms of influence are shown to constitute the most magnanimous of welcomes and of tributes. American Writers Leonard Unger, A. Walton Litz, Molly Weigel, Jay Parini, Lea Bechler, 1974 Madison Smartt Bell to John Edgar Wideman What the Furies Bring Kenneth Sherman, 2009 In the foreword to his new book What the Furies Bring, acclaimed poet and essayist Kenneth Sherman asks in the wake of 9/11: What help is writing to the writer? What help to the reader? Examining the works of authors who have lived and written under great duress, Sherman suggests how writing can serve as equipment for living. He contemplates Primo Levi's desire to tell his story, a yearning that kept the Holocaust survivor writing through periods of crushing depression. Sherman's insight into the ways diary writing afforded Chaim Kaplan and Anne Frank a means to keep their sanity and humanity under the most harrowing conditions will prove inspirational to readers. In The Angel of Disease, Sherman examines the curative aspects of writing by discussing authors who though critically ill persisted in their quest for the right word. Sherman's book is not limited to writers from our past. He captures our current situation in Poetry and Terrorism, a prescient essay that delves into the moral and aesthetic considerations brought to the foreground since the terrorist attacks on NYC. He follows this with essays that consider whether contemporary poets and novelists have risen to the task of articulating the new age. The furies in Sherman's title belong to history and what they bring is not only destruction but the opportunity to transform our art and ourselves. Critical Survey of Poetry Philip K. Jason, 2003 Presents alphabetized profiles of nearly seven hundred significant poets from around the world, providing biographies, primary and secondary bibliographies, and analysis of their works. Collected Poems of Anthony Hecht Anthony Hecht, 2023-11-07 The New York Times Book Review Editors' Choice. In his centenary year, this volume of the Pulitzer Prize winner and former poet laureate's poems celebrates the indispensable artistry of a writer who faced the history of his era with a clear-eyed mercy toward human weakness. Stand Magazine, 2005 Stand, 2004 Two Minds of a Western Poet David Mason, 2011 Meditations on the life of poetry by an award winning poet The Pleasures and Horrors of Eating Marion Gymnich, Norbert Lennartz, 2010 Browsing through books and TV channels we find people pre occupied with eating cooking and competing with chefs Eating and food in today's media have become a form of entertainment and art A survey of literary history and culture shows to what extent eating used to be closely related to all areas of human life to religion eroticism and even to death In this volume early modern ideas of feasting banqueting and culinary pleasures are juxtaposed with post 18th and 19th century concepts in which the intake of food is increasingly subjected to moral theological and economic reservations In a wide range of essays various images rhetorics and poetics of plenty are not only contrasted with the horrors of gluttony they are also seen in the context of modern phenomena such as the anorexic body or the gourmandizing le bon et le mal It is this vexing binary approach to eating and food which this volume traces within a wide chronological framework and which is at the core not only of literature art and film but also of a flourishing popular culture Three Poets in Conversation Dick Davis, Rachel Hadas, Timothy Steele, 2006 This is the fourteenth volume from Between The Lines and it marks an interesting departure from the previous thirteen featuring as it does three poets not just one each of whom is rather younger than the poets appearing in the earlier books Though younger each has a claim to being called senior having a long list of highly regarded publications behind them and a number of coveted honors and awards to his/her name. The three poets have been questioned at length about their life and their work by three distinguished poet critics: Clive Wilmer, Isaac Cates, and Cynthia Haven. Their carefully meditated responses will be helpful to the general reader and the specialist alike. The three poets interviewed are Tim Steele, who teaches at California State University; Dick Davis, who teaches at Ohio State University; and Rachel Hadas, who teaches at Rutgers University.
