Sensory Environmental Relationships: Between Memories of the Past and Imaginings of the Future

Blaž Bajič, Ana Svetel, 2023-09-26 Sensory environmental relationships understood as dynamic embodied and emplaced affective sensory perceptions in and of the environment invite us to remember the past infuse our experiences of the present and entice us to imagine the future Ethnographically specific socially and culturally nuanced approaches to environmental relationships require considerable conceptual and practical flexibility and inventiveness Reflecting this commitment Sensory Environmental Relationships aims to offer a new anthropological understanding of how in our individual and collective lives senses places and temporalities intersect While anthropologists have been studying the sensory environmental relationships in connection to people's pasts and presents futures remain conspicuously absent By bringing different timeframes into the foreground of the analysis this volume contributes to filling in the gap in our understanding of the human experience The volume's ethnographically based contributions address the questions of how embodied and emplaced practices of sensing while moving or staying in place in diverse environments engender inform and affect the processes of remembering and forgetting the past experiencing the present and imagining the future Drawing on the fields of environmental anthropology sensory studies studies of movement and mobility memory studies and other related sub disciplines as well as diverse epistemologically and methodologically experimental approaches the volume explores the ways in which sensory environmental relationships touch upon our pasts presents and futures

The Lives of Extraction, 2023-11-13 The frontiers of extraction are expanding rapidly driven by a growing demand for minerals and metals that is often motivated by sustainability considerations Two volumes of International Development Policy are dedicated to the paradoxes and futures of green extractivism with analyses of experiences from five continents In this the first of these two volumes 16 authors offer a critical and nuanced understanding of the social cultural and political dimensions of extraction The experiences of communities indigenous peoples and workers in extractive contexts are deeply shaped by narratives imaginaries and the complexity of social contexts These dimensions are crucial to making extraction possible and to sustaining its expansion but also to identifying possibilities for resistance and to paving the way for alternative post extractive economies This volume is accompanied by IDP 16 The Afterlives of Extraction Alternatives and Sustainable Futures

Haunting Futures Marek Pawlak, 2024-12-01 The 2008 economic collapse in Iceland sent its residents into a destabilising crisis with far reaching temporal and affective consequences Haunting Futures explores how the complex relationships of this unstable past and the anticipatory modes of the ongoing present keep Icelanders and the Polish migrant community in their midst alert to looming futures in crisis. It offers insights into timely crisis ridden impacts and imaginings migration processes and social understandings and practices. Through its attention to how people engage with crisis temporally and affectively the book presents the crisis not simply as an isolated and distressing event but as a spectre embodied in time through ongoing anticipation.

Media and Nation Building John Postill, 2006-05-01 With the end of the Cold War and the proliferation of civil wars and regime changes the question of nation building has acquired great practical and theoretical urgency. From Eastern Europe to East Timor Afghanistan and recently Iraq the United States and its allies have often been accused of shirking their nation building responsibilities as their attention and that of the media turned to yet another regional crisis. While much has been written about the growing influence of television and the Internet on modern warfare little is known about the relationship between media and nation building. This book explores for the first time this relationship by means of a paradigmatic case of successful nation building Malaysia. Based on extended fieldwork and historical research the author follows the diffusion adoption and social uses of media among the Iban of Sarawak in Malaysian Borneo and demonstrates the wide ranging process of nation building that has accompanied the Iban adoption of radio clocks print media and television. In less than four decades Iban longhouses villages under one roof have become media organizations shaped by the official ideology of Malaysia a country hastily formed in 1963 by conjoining four disparate territories.

Urban Hunters Lars Hojer, Morten Axel Pedersen, 2019-11-26 An ethnography of the Mongolian capital city of Ulaanbaatar during the nation's transition from socialism to a market based economic system. Urban Hunters is an ethnography of the Mongolian capital city Ulaanbaatar during the nation's transition from socialism to a market based economic system. Following the Soviet Union's collapse in 1991 Mongolia entered a period of economic chaos characterized by wild inflation disappearing banks and closing farms factories and schools. During this time of widespread poverty a generation of young adults came of age. In exploring the social cultural and existential ramifications of a transition that has become permanent and acquired a logic of its own Lars Hojer and Morten Axel Pedersen present a new theorization of social agency in postsocialist as well as postcolonial contexts.

Excursions in Realist Anthropology David Zeitlyn, 2014-10-16 Realism has become a dirty word in some social sciences yet despite fashionable new approaches involving multiple ontologies and the like when anthropologists actually produce ethnographic accounts they are still indulging in realism in some form. Perhaps this is why ethnography too is unfashionable. Given the authors background as anthropologists committed to fieldwork this book provides a theoretical grounding to justify and explain the sorts of accounts that anthropologists produce as the result of ethnographic research. The book's approach starts from an acceptance that understanding is always incomplete always improvable. This sort of partiality is viewed throughout the book as a strength. The challenge of anthropology is that it involves forms of translation often across languages but always between the unstated and the explicit.

Accepting provisionality and incompleteness in the resulting translations provides ways of finding a middle ground between extreme versions of positivism and relativism As such this book argues for moderate realisms in a dappled world

Temporal Urban Design Filipa Matos Wunderlich, 2023-12-19 Temporal Urban Design Temporality Rhythm and Place examines an alternative design approach focusing on the temporal aesthetics of urban places and the importance of the sense of time and rhythm in the urban environment The book departs from concerns on the acceleration of cities its impact on the urban quality of life and the liveability of urban spaces and questions on what influences the sense of time and how it expresses itself in the urban environment From here it poses the questions what time is this place and how do we design for it It offers a new aesthetic perspective akin to music brings forward the methodological framework of urban place rhythm analysis and explores principles and modes of practice towards better temporal design quality in our cities The book demonstrates that notions of time have long been intrinsic to planning and urban design research agendas and whilst learning from philosophy urban critical theory and both the natural and social sciences debate on time it argues for a shift in perspective towards the design of everyday urban time and place timescapes Overall the book explores the value of the everyday sense of time and rhythmicity in the urban environment and discusses how urban designers can understand analyse and ultimately play a role in the creation of temporally unique both sensorial and affective places in the city The book will be of interest to urban planners designers landscape architects and architects as well as urban geographers and all those researching within these disciplines It will also interest students of planning urban design architecture urban studies and of urban planning and design theory Waiting for Macedonia Ilk  Thiessen, Ilka Thiessen, 2007-01-01 Thiessen crafts a fine ethnography of a changing society after the fall of socialism and independent nationhood Anastasia Karakasidou Wellesley College
