An essential collection of scholarly essays on the anthropology of Africa offering a thorough introduction to the most important topics in this evolving and diverse field of study The study of the cultures of Africa has been central to the methodological and theoretical development of anthropology as a discipline since the late 19th century As the anthropology of Africa has emerged as a distinct field of study anthropologists working in this tradition have strived to build a disciplinary conversation that recognizes the diversity and complexity of modern and ancient African cultures while acknowledging the effects of historical anthropology on the present and future of the field of study A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa is a collection of insightful essays covering the key questions and subjects in the contemporary anthropology of Africa with a key focus on addressing the topics that define the contemporary discipline Written and edited by a team of leading cultural anthropologists it is an ideal introduction to the most important topics in the field both those that have consistently been a part of the critical dialogue and those that have emerged as the central questions of the discipline's future Beginning with essays on the enduring topics in the study of African cultures A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa provides a foundation in the contemporary critical approach to subjects of longstanding interest With these subjects as a groundwork later essays address decolonization the postcolonial experience and questions of modern identity and definition providing representation of the diverse thinking and scholarship in the modern anthropology of Africa

Violence Pamela Stewart, Andrew Strathern, 2002-01-01 This book provides a wide ranging introduction to the meaning and context of violence The authors build upon David Riches's concept of the triangle of violence which examines the relationship between performers victims and witnesses and his proposition that violence is marked by contests regarding its legitimacy as a social act Adopting an approach which looks at the negotiated and contingent nature of violent behavior Stewart and Strathern particularly stress the powerful underlying motivation for revenge and the often unacknowledged association between ideas of revenge and concepts of justice These theoretical perspectives are applied to in depth case studies from Rwanda Urundi

Sri Lanka and Northern Ireland The authors also draw on extensive field experience in Papua New Guinea and ethnographic detail is used to address broader issues of considerable global importance Material Perspectives on Religion, Conflict, and Violence ,2022-09-12 How do objects become contested in settings characterized by violent conflict Why are some things contested by religious actors How do religious actors mobilize things in conflict situations and how are conflict and violence experienced by religious groups This volume explores relations between materiality religion and violence by drawing upon two fields of scholarship that have rarely engaged with one another research on religion and violent conflict and the material turn within religious studies This way this volume sets the stage for the development of new conceptual and methodological directions in the study of religion related violent conflict that takes materiality seriously Contributors are Christoph Baumgartner Margaretha van Es Lucien van Liere Erik Meinema Birgit Meyer Daan F Oostveen Younes Saramifar Joram Tarusarira Tammy Wilks Anthropology Matters Shirley A. Proceedings of the Prehistoric Society for ..., 2005 From Culture to Ethnicity to Conflict Jack David Eller, 2005-10-01 In the post Cold War era the most common and often the most violent conflicts are ethnic conflicts Many people including many scholars see ethnic conflicts as a return to the past as contests between ancient and well defined groups with long standing grievances and animosities Jack David Eller argues instead that these conflicts are a defining phenomenon of the new world order that they are in many ways modern day inventions based only loosely on traditional cultures and hostilities From Culture to Ethnicity to Conflict presents in depth case studies on Sri Lanka the Kurds Rwanda and Burundi Bosnia and Quebec along with two theoretical introductory chapters that offer the reader the tools to understand the relationship between culture or tradition and contemporary ethnic conflicts Eller finds that ethnicity is not a simple instantiation of traditional culture nor is conflict a simple consequence of ethnicity Rather each is constructed out of certain raw cultural materials through a process of remembering forgetting interpreting and inventing Ultimately Eller demonstrates these groups are fighting not about culture but with culture No other book combines the level of analysis offered here with in depth case studies of several important examples It will appeal to anyone with an interest in understanding these conflicts It will be assigned reading for students and scholars of cultural diversity and ethnic conflict in anthropology history political science and peace and conflict studies Jack David Eller is Assistant Professor of Anthropology University of Colorado Denver Teikyo Loretto Heights University
