Anthropology And Migration:

A Literary Anthropology of Migration and Belonging Cicilie Fagerlid, Michelle A. Tisdell, 2020-01-30 This collection pushes migration and the minor to the fore of literary anthropology What happens when authors who thematize their minority background articulate notions of belonging self and society in literature The contributors use interface ethnography and fieldwork on foot to analyze a broad selection of literature and processes of dialogic engagement The chapters discuss German speaking Herta Müller's perpetual minority status in Romania Bengali Scottish Bashabi Fraser and the potentiality of poetry vagrant pastoralism and heritagization in Puglia Italy the self representation of European Muslims post 9 11 in Zeshan Shakar's acclaimed Norwegian novel the autobiographical narratives of Loveleen Rihel Brenna and the artist collective Queendom in Norway the immigrant as a permanent guest in Spanish language children's literature and Slovenian roots searching in Argentina This anthology examines the generative and transformative potentials of storytelling while illustrating that literary anthropology is well equipped to examine the multiple contexts that literature engages Chapter 4 of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4.0 license at link.springer.com Anthropology of Migration and Multiculturalism Steven Vertovec, 2013-09-13 The field of anthropology of migration and multiculturalism is booming Throughout its hundred odd year history studies of migration and diverse or plural societies have arguably been both marginal and central to the discipline of Anthropology However recent years have witnessed the rapid growth of anthropological studies concerning these topics This has particularly been the case since the 1970s when anthropologists developed a keen interest in the subject of ethnicity especially in post migration communities Since the 1990s migrant transnationalism has become one of the most fashionable topics There is still much to do in research and theory surrounding this field not least with regard to contemporary public debates around multiculturalism immigration and integration policy This book presents essays pointing toward a number of possible new directions both theoretical and methodological for anthropological inquiry into migration and multiculturalism including innovative ways of examining diversity discourses urban conditions social complexities scales of analysis transnational marriages entangled politics and interwoven cultures This book was published as a special issue of the Ethnic and Racial Studies Migration Theory Caroline B. Brettell, James F. Hollifield, 2014-08-25 During the last decade the issue of migration has increased in global prominence and has caused controversy among host countries around the world To remedy the tendency of scholars to speak only to and from their own disciplinary perspective this book brings together in a single volume essays dealing with central concepts and key theoretical issues in the study of international migration across the social sciences Editors Caroline B Brettell and James F Hollifield have guided a thorough revision of this seminal text with valuable insights from such fields as anthropology demography economics geography history law political science and sociology Each essay focuses on key concepts questions and theoretical frameworks on the topic of international migration in a particular discipline but the volume as a whole teaches readers about similarities and differences across the boundaries between one academic field and the next How for example do political scientists wrestle with the question of citizenship as compared with sociologists and how different is this from the questions that anthropologists explore when they deal with ethnicity and identity Are economic theories about ethnic enclaves similar to those of sociologists What theories do historians the essentializers and demographers the modelers draw upon in their attempts to explain empirical phenomena in the study of immigration What are the units of analysis in each of the disciplines and do these shape different questions and diverse models and theories Scholars and students in migration studies will find this book a powerful theoretical guide and a text that brings them up to speed quickly on the important issues and the debates All of the social science disciplines will find that this book offers a one stop synthesis of contemporary thought on migration

Anthropology and Migration Caroline Brettell,2003 Brettell s new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective She analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal and many other countries Key issues she discusses include immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states ethnic group composition illegal immigration city vs suburban enclaves ethnic entrepreneurship the role of religion men and women as migrants and the use of oral histories in understanding immigration and the mediation of new social boundaries This book will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology race and ethnic studies immigration studies urban studies sociology and international relations Visit our website for sample chapters

Anthropology and Migration Caroline B. Brettell,2003-09-08 Brettell s new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective It has been estimated at the turn of the millennium that 160 million people are living outside of their country of birth or citizenship The author analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal as well as research in Germany Brazil France the United States and Canada Key issues she discusses include the value of immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states the role of ethnicity and ethnic groups the effects of clandestine or illegal immigration the differing commitments to host vs sending communities the shift from city enclaves to suburban areas the constraints and opportunities that lead to ethnic entrepreneurship the role of religion in transnational linkages and the differing experiences of men and women as migrants Brettell also explores the relevance of life histories and oral narratives in understanding the immigration process and the mediation of boundaries in a new society This book provides a fresh perspective on the contemporary experience of migration and will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology race and ethnic studies immigration studies urban studies sociology and international relations migration data are best collected to contemporary techniques for analyzing such data Part III of the handbook contains summaries of present trends across all world regions Part IV rounds out the volume with several contributions assessing pressing issues in contemporary policy areas The volume s editor Michael J White has spent a career studying the pattern and process of internal and international migration urbanization and population distribution in a wide variety of settings from developing societies to advanced economies In this Handbook he brings together contributors from all parts of the world gathering in this one volume both geographical and substantive expertise of the first rank The Handbook will be a key reference source for established scholars as well as an invaluable high level introduction to the most relevant topics in the field for emerging scholars

Migration - Networks - Skills Astrid Wonneberger,Mijal Gandelsman-Trier,Hauke Dorsch,2016-05-15 Migration networks skills these keywords not only denote three popular and important fields of current investigation in Social Sciences and Cultural Studies they also mark the wide range of interests of cultural and social anthropologist Waltraud Kokot who is to be honoured in this Festschrift Internationally distinguished scholars from five European countries and various academic disciplines present their most recent research findings on topics such as diaspora and migration studies urban anthropology and the anthropology of crafts all of which are connected by the common themes of mobility and transformation

Migration as Transnational Leisure Jun Nagatomo,2014-11-27 In Migration as Transnational Leisure The Japanese Lifestyle Migrants in Australia Jun Nagatomo discusses a new type of migration in which lifestyle is at the core of middle class aspirations to migrate Traditionally international migration has been commonly seen as resulting from economic political and religious causes However this book studies an intriguing new dynamic between the social transformation and the Japanese engagement with tourism and migration Since the 1990s when Japan was struggling with the recession increasing numbers of young middle class Japanese began to drift from the safe and assured life course model and chose to live abroad This book explores how lifestyle values affect migration decision of Japanese migrants in Australia and settlement processes in the migration destination

Childhood and Migration Jacqueline Knörr,2015-09-15 This volume puts an emphasis on the question how children themselves experience and manage migration and by means of which they construct an identity for themselves which takes into account their experiences from both their places of origin and their host societies What role does the cultural background of the society of origin on the one hand and the strategies of integration found in the host society on the other play in the creation of identity and of a concept of home origin and belonging How do children express processes of cultural orientation and integration music media fashion style and what role do peer groups and social milieus play in this regard How do migrant children experience xenophobia and a lack of acceptance on the side of the host society and how do they counter balance such experiences The approach taken is both comparative and interdisciplinary the contributors having different theoretical and methodological backgrounds the contributions dealing with different social and cultural settings both with regard to place of origin and host society

Women and Migration Jacqueline Knörr, Barbara Meier, 2000 All contributions to this book to this volume describe women as social actors within specific migration processes and point out women's creativity in shaping migrant settings. This perspective counterbalances common descriptions of women as more or less invisible and dependent of male migration. At the same time, the anthropological approach ensures the careful consideration and analysis of the culturally specific contexts within which the different processes of migration are taking place. Regional and cultural diversity of the data presented renders possible intercultural comparison of the investigated phenomena.

Migration and Economy Lillian Trager, 2005-10-13 Trager and her coauthors focus on migration not as a single event but as a dynamic process that responds to and is shaped by broader economic, cultural, and social forces. Individual essays consider issues of international and internal migration of voluntary migration and forced movements due to civil conflicts and environmental degradation and of macro level forces and micro level institutions. The authors investigate a wide variety of types of mobility, describe transnational and multilocal networks through which remittances and other flows take place, focus on migrants as active agents, and examine the impacts of ethnicity and assimilation. They offer original studies on Mexico, Puerto Rico, West Africa, Kazakhstan, and Mozambique. This new volume will be a valuable resource for researchers and practitioners in development, anthropology, migration studies, and international planning and policy.

Mediating Mobility Steffen Köhn, 2016-03-08 Images have become an integral part of the political regulation of migration; they help produce categories of legality versus illegality, foster stereotypes, and mobilize political convictions. Yet how are we to understand the relationship between these images and the political in the discourse surrounding migration? How can we as anthropologists, migration scholars, or documentary filmmakers visually represent people who are excluded from political representation? And how can such visual representations gain political momentum? This volume not only considers the images that circulate with reference to migrants or draw attention to those that accompany, show, or conceal them. The book explores the phenomena of migration with the help of images. It offers an in-depth analysis of the documentary approaches of Ursula Biemann, Renzo Martens, Bouchra Khalili, Silvain George, Raphael Cuomo, and Maria Iorio. Alex Rivera and Rania Stephe, which evoke the particularities of migrant lifeworlds and examine urgent questions regarding the interrelations between politics and poetics, mobility and mediation, and the ethics of probability and possibility. The author also discusses his own cinematic practice in the making of Tell Me When (2011), A Tale of Two Islands (2012), and Intimate Distance (2015), a trilogy of films that explore the potential to communicate the bodily, spatial, and temporal dimensions of the experience of migration.

Introduction to Anthropology Jennifer Hasty, David G. Lewis, Marjorie M. Snipes, 2024-09-16 Designed to meet the scope and sequence of your course, Introduction to Anthropology is a four-field text integrating diverse voices, engaging field activities, and meaningful themes like Indigenous experiences and social inequality to engage students and enrich learning. The text showcases the historical context of the discipline with a strong focus on anthropology as a living and evolving field There is significant discussion of recent efforts to make the field more diverse in its practitioners in the questions it asks and in the applications of anthropological research to address contemporary challenges In addressing social inequality the text drives readers to consider the rise and impact of social inequalities based on forms of identity and difference such as gender ethnicity race and class as well as oppression and discrimination The contributors to and dangers of socioeconomic inequality are fully addressed and the role of inequality in social dysfunction disruption and change is noted This is an adaptation of Introduction to Anthropology by OpenStax You can access the textbook as pdf for free at openstax org Minor editorial changes were made to ensure a better ebook reading experience Textbook content produced by OpenStax is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License

Migration and Health Heide Castañeda,2022-07-27 Migration and Health Critical Perspectives offers a radical rethinking of the field by unsettling conventional ideas of mobility and borders to highlight the ways in which they produce health inequalities Covering a wide range of topics the text provides insight through a critical lens and proposes areas for intervention along with an added emphasis on the need for future research to address the health inequities that affect migrants It illustrates how a critical perspective can deepen our understanding of the relationship between migration and health which remains a defining global issue of our century The text employs a critical approach to examine the structural conditions of inequality and larger historical and political processes recognizing that exclusionary bordering practices increasingly occur away from physical points of entry It posits the concept of migration as complex tangled and multi directional and underscores how migrant vulnerability can shape the lives of people in wider communities Furthermore it acknowledges diverse and intersectional standpoints as well as shifting spatial and temporal influences Chapters include coverage of health in transit healthcare access and utilization clinical encounters communicable disease labor and occupational health gender and sexuality immigration enforcement detention deportation and the effects of forced displacement on refugee and asylum seeker health The text is useful for students and scholars of migration or health disparities seeking to understand how the two issues can be approached in a more holistic and critical way It is further aimed at practitioners and policymakers who are interested in gaining familiarity with the structural conditions of inequality along with the larger historical and political processes that influence contemporary migration patterns

Digesting Difference Kelly McKown,John Borneman,2020-09-05 Migration across Europe s external and internal borders has introduced unprecedented sociocultural diversity and with it new questions about belonging identity and the incorporation of others into extant and emergent groups and communities Bringing together leading cultural anthropologists Digesting Difference offers a series of ethnographic studies that show incorporation to be a process rooted in the everyday encounters and exchanges between strangers friends lovers neighbors parents workers and others Rich in ethnographic detail and ambitious in its theorizing the volume tells the stories of Europe s transformative engagement with sociocultural difference in the wake of migration associated with EU expansion the Eurozone meltdown and the 2015 2016 refugee crisis It promises to be essential reading for scholars and students of cultural anthropology migration integration and European studies
