"Attached Files" Imre Lázár, 2015-06-18 Attached Files is a selection of lectures and papers written by Imre Lázár a medical anthropologist with twenty five years of experience situated at the crossroads and frontiers of several disciplines including anthropology health sciences religious studies human ecology and environmental ethics The shared focus connecting these borderlands into a common semantic network is the problem of the synergic logic of human bonds and attachment embodied by somatic social institutional and cultural life Explorations in Psychoanalytic Ethnography Jadran Mimica, 2007-05-01 Whereas most anthropological research is grounded in social cultural and biological analysis of the human condition this volume opens up a different approach its concerns are the psychic depths of human cultural life worlds as explored through psycho analytic practice and or the psychoanalytically framed ethnographic project In fact some contributors here argue that the anthropological interpretation of human existence is not sustainable without psychoanalysis others take a less extreme radical stance but still maintain that the unconscious matrix of the human psyche and of the intersubjective social reality of any given cultural life world is a vital domain of anthropological and sociological inquiry and understanding

Archeology of Intangible Heritage Francisco Vaz da Silva, 2008 It is remarkable how often we consider certain constructs in other peoples worldview to be myths while in our own case we regard equally arbitrary assumptions as inherent to the nature of things As every anthropologist knows one s most cherished cultural assumptions tend to remain implicit in other words worldview is largely unconscious This book explores the possibility of plumbing obscure aspects of one s own culture in order to assess what some might call regarding other cultures the mythic underpinnings of worldview Seven explorations in folklore and ethnography exhume a conceptual heritage that still influences perception albeit in unconscious ways This archeology of intangible heritage provides the sort of break in intellectual routine that allows us to look anew at familiar things      Imaginary Homelands of Writers in Exile Cristina Emanuela Dascalu, 2007 The effects of the displacement of peoples their forced migration their deportation their voluntary emigration their movement to new lands where they made themselves masters over others or became subjects of the masters of their new homes reverberate down the years and are still felt today The historical violence of the era of empire and colonies echoes in the literature of the descendants of those forcibly moved and the exiles that those processes have made The voices of its victims are insistent in the literature that has come to be called post colonial Although the term post colonial is insufficient to capture fully the depth and breadth of those writers that have been labeled by it for it is itself something of a colonial instrument ghettoizing writers in English who are still considered to be foreign there is a common bond among the works of those novelists who understand the process of exile and see themselves as exiles both from their homes and from themselves In this eloquently argued book with meticulous theoretical groundwork Dr Cristina Dascalu presents a most lucid and concise examination of exile In addition to her negotiation of the term exile what is most original and significant about Imaginary Homelands of Writers in Exile is the selection of authors Reaching across national in terms of country of exile and ethnic in terms of region religion of birth boundaries Dr Dascalu elegantly shows the persistent relevance of the experience and implications of exile to the writing of fiction in the world today Rushdie Mukherjee and Naipaul are very distinct authors whose works are not often discussed together in this context Using Benedict Anderson's notion of unimagined communities among other critical lenses she makes significant connections between the way exile functions as a theme and as a condition for their writing pub desc      Masculinity, Motherhood, and Mockery Eric Kline Silverman, 2001 An important ethnographic analysis of motherhood in one Melanesian society      Abandoning the Black Hero John C. Charles, 2012-12-15 Abandoning the Black Hero is the first book to examine the postwar African American white life novel novels with white protagonists written by African Americans These fascinating works have been understudied despite having been written by such defining figures in the tradition as Richard Wright Zora Neale Hurston James Baldwin Ann Petry and Chester Himes as well as lesser known but formerly best selling authors Willard Motley and Frank Yerby John C Charles argues that these fictions have been overlooked because they deviate from two critical suppositions that black literature is always about black life and that when it represents whiteness it must attack white supremacy The authors are however quite sympathetic in the treatment of their white protagonists which Charles contends should be read not as a failure of racial pride but instead as a strategy for claiming creative freedom expansive moral authority and critical agency In an era when Negro writers were expected to protest their sympathetic treatment of white suffering grants these authors a degree of racial privacy previously unavailable to them White writers after all have the privilege of racial privacy because they are never pressured to write only about white life Charles reveals that the freedom to abandon the Negro problem encouraged these authors to explore a range of new genres and themes generating a strikingly diverse body of novels that significantly revise our understanding of mid twentieth century black writing

Classic Anthropology John William Bennett, Classic Anthropology is Bennett s label for the work produced by anthropologists during the period 1915 1955 which many believe represents the most productive era in the discipline s history It is also one that can never be repeated given the fact that most of anthropology s basic data the ideas and customs of tribal peoples have been extinguished or greatly transformed by modernization and nationalization The book is composed of some fifteen essays Among the issues examined are the emergence of a functionalist viewpoint in ethnology the difficulties of developing a theory of human behavior because of the focus on culture the search for concepts of culture to serve specialized needs the neglect of social psychology by the culture and personality field how value judgments emerged willy nilly or conversely were neglected in ethnological research how applied anthropology was challenged by Action Anthropology and how the interdisciplinary anthropology of the late 1940s was submerged in the postwar effort to return the discipline to traditional roots Individual anthropologists whose work is examined include among others Bronislaw Malinowski Leslie Spier Alfred Kroeber Ralph Linton Margaret Mead Ruth Benedict Clyde Kluckhohn Gregory Bateson and Walter Taylor

Anthropological Fieldwork James Davies, Dimitrina Spencer, 2020-05-22 Anthropologists are affected by and affect others through emotional engagement they manage emotions or allow them to unfold as vehicles of understanding The contributors to this volume argue that participant observation is an embodied relational process mediated by emotions If fieldwork is to attain its fullest potential emotional reflexivity must complement the wider reflexive task of anthropologists This makes particular demands on the training of anthropologists and the contributors to this volume propose new ways of practising emotional reflexivity such as radical empiricism that enhance anthropological knowledge Emotions in anthropology are explored from a variety of methodological and theoretical standpoints drawing on fieldwork in Nepal the UK Taiwan Russia India and the Philippines

Mental Health Services for Minority Ethnic Children and Adolescents Carol Joughin, Mhemooda Malek, 2004-03-15 The authors consider how ethnicity is defined and how the field of mental health has developed in the West according to Western concepts of health and well being and show how an understanding of the key practice issues and policy and academic debates can enable professionals to develop and fine tune their cultural competence

Manhood and Morality Suzette Heald, 2002-01-22 An impressive and meticulously crafted African ethnography which has theoretical and practical relevance for understanding masculinity and violence in general David Parkin Professor of Anthropology Cambridge University Manhood and Morality explores issues of male identity among the Gisu of Uganda and the moral dilemma faced by men who define themselves by their capacity for violence Drawing extensively on twenty years of fieldwork and on psychological theory the book covers circumcision Oedipal feelings witchcraft deviance joking sexuality and ethnicity This ethnographic study challenges our preconceptions of manhood especially African virility inviting a wider re evaluation of masculinity

In Search of Cool Ground Tim Allen, 1996 Concentrates attention on crucial issues which have been largely ignored and must become key aspects of assistance programs in war torn areas of the Horn of Africa      Making Meaning of Narratives Ruthellen Josselson, Amia Lieblich, 1999-04-05 The sixth volume in this series provides guides for doing qualitative research analysis of several autobiographies hints on how to interpret what is not said in narrative interviews discussion on how cultural meanings and values are transmitted across generations and illustrations of the transformational power of stories      Social Experience and Anthropological Knowledge Kirsten Hastrup, Peter Hervik, 2003-12-16

Anthropology poses an explicit challenge to standard notions of scientific knowledge It claims to produce genuine insights into the workings of culture in general on the basis of individual social experience in the field Social Experience and Anthropological Knowledge traces the process from the ethnographic experience to the analytical results showing how fieldwork enables the ethnographer to arrive at an understanding not only of culture and society but also of the processes by which cultures and societies are transformed The contributors challenge the distinction between subjectivity and objectivity redefine what we should mean by empirical and demonstrate the complexity of present day epistemological problems through concrete examples By demystifying subjectivity in the ethnographic process and re emphasizing the vital position of fieldwork they do much to renew confidence in the anthropological project of comprehending the world      Wages of

Violence Thomas Blom Hansen, 2018-06-05 When Bombay changed its name to Mumbai in 1995 it was the culmination of a long process that transformed India's primary symbol of modernity and cultural diversity into a site of intense ethnic conflict and violent nationalism Wages of Violence is a startling account of how the city's atmosphere dominant public languages and power structures have changed since the 1960s The book centers on how Shiv Sena a militant Hindu movement has advanced a new plebeian political culture and has undermined democratic rule in India's premier city Drawing on a large body of archival material and conversations with people from all walks of life Thomas Blom Hansen paints a vivid picture of this dynamic and violent movement Challenging conventional views of recent trends in Indian politics Hansen shows that the xenophobic public culture of today's Mumbai has deep roots in the region's history and its contested identities We are also given revealing insights into the city's Muslim communities and the authorities understanding and control of the ethno religious subcultures in the city Hansen argues cogently that Shiv Sena's success represents the violent possibilities of the vernacularization of democracy in India Unfolding at a juncture where the globalization of India's economy is having a deepening impact on the lives of ordinary people this is a story that resonates with the directions urban growth is taking both elsewhere in India and beyond      After Writing Culture Andrew Dawson, Jenny Hockey, Allison James, 2003-12-16 This collection addresses the theme of representation in anthropology Its fourteen articles explore some of the directions in which contemporary anthropology is moving following the questions raised by the writing culture debates of the 1980s It includes discussion of issues such as the concept of caste in Indian society scottish ethnography how dreams are culturally conceptualised representations of the family culture as conservation gardens theme parks and the anthropologist in Japan representation in rural Japan people's place in the landscape of Northern Australia representing identity of the New Zealand Maori

The Cultural Psyche Dinesh Sharma, 2021-04-01

As envisaged by Robert A LeVine many years ago the human development indicators have improved in many societies as income healthcare and educational opportunities have been enlarged Global transformations have led to significant decline in extreme poverty and an increase in working class and middle class families around the world in the emerging economies throughout Africa and Asia As the technological and global influences continue to challenge the dominant narrative in academic psychology conflated with WEIRD data assumptions interdisciplinary research will continue to increase in value and scope where LeVine's classical approach in psychological anthropology combined with psychoanalysis developmental psychology demography language or area research and population studies offers a path forward The essays collected here in addition to honoring LeVine's work hold out the promise of a real convergence between psychology and anthropology or the development of a psychosocial science a confluence between positivism and relativism empiricism and ethnography and social sciences and human sciences The scientific search for universal laws and the ever expanding search for cultural meanings in the diverse communities around the world must continue simultaneously and in conjunction with the transnational or global challenges we face today Hybridity fostered by interdisciplinary researchers has stood the test of time as the social sciences have gradually outgrown the monolithic ways of looking at the world The project of a psychosocial science represented by the work of Robert A LeVine at the intersection of psychology anthropology demography child development and psychoanalysis maps out some of the challenges of a hybrid discipline Hybridity impacts not only the humanities and social sciences but physical sciences in genetics and genomics or applied disciplines like biotechnology and life sciences Thus it is important that we not lose sight of LeVine's spirit of interdisciplinary research Advocates for universalism the psychologists or behavioral scientists pursuing universal laws of human nature must collaborate with the growing number of relativistic scientists anthropologists sociologists or cultural studies experts searching for local meanings in small scale village communities There will be a confluence of social and human sciences or what C P Snow the English literary critic called the two cultures of the scientific revolution the sciences and humanities Praise for The Cultural Psyche This edited collection by Dinesh Sharma of his mentor Robert LeVine's papers is uniquely positioned between psychology anthropology and human development As one surveys its wide ranging and fascinating papers one not only comes to understand the principal lines of work carried out over a half century by a remarkable scholar At the same time one gains a sense of the history of these lines of work by a person who has lived through it reflected on it and contributed significantly to its advances This exceptionally valuable volume not only surveys child and human development in depth and across cultures it also points out ways in which these lines of work ought to be pursued in the years to come Howard E Gardner Hobbs Professor of Cognition and Human Development Harvard University Cambridge MA This book offers an overview of the wide ranging contributions of one of the giants of thinking about human development parenting and culture of the last 50 years By bringing together a large body of Bob's writings some of them entirely new this volume represents only one important dimension of LeVine's enormous influence on the thinking of today's scholars but in addition it should be noted how much his scholarship has shaped the work and the thinking of his many students and collaborators in ways that will persist through several academic generations Catherine E Snow Patricia Albjerg Graham Professor of Education Harvard University Cambridge MA
