to join in with the recent focus on subjectivity and self reflection as the means of understanding and engaging with the social and historical changes in the world through storytelling It examines the symbiosis between anthropology and fiction on the one hand by looking at various ways in which the two fields co emerge in a fruitful manner and on the other by re examining their political aesthetic and social relevance to world history Following the intellectual crisis of the 1970s anthropology has been criticized for losing its ethnographic authority and vocation However as a consequence of this ethnographic scope has opened towards more subjective and self reflexive forms of knowledge and representations such as the crossing of the boundaries between autobiography and ethnography The collection of essays re introduces the importance of authorship in relationship to readership making a ground breaking move towards the study of fictional texts and images as cultural sociological and political reflections of the time and place in which they were produced In this way the contributors here contribute to the widening of the ethnographic scope of contemporary anthropology A number of the chapters were presented as papers in two conferences organised by the Association of Social Anthropologists of the UK and Commonwealth at Jawaharlal Nehru University New Delhi entitled Arts and aesthetics in a globalising world 2012 and at the University of Exeter entitled Symbiotic Anthropologies 2015 Each chapter offers a unique method of working in the grey area between and beyond the categories of fiction and non fiction while creatively reflecting upon current methodological ethical and theoretical issues in anthropology and cultural studies This is an important book for undergraduate and post graduate students of anthropology cultural and media studies art theory and creative writing as well as academic researchers in these fields

After the Crisis James G. Carrier,2016-02-12 After the Crisis Anthropological Thought Neoliberalism and the Aftermath offers a thought provoking examination of the state of contemporary anthropology identifying key issues that have confronted the discipline in recent years and linking them to neoliberalism and suggesting how we might do things differently in the future The first part of the volume considers how anthropology has come to resemble as a result of the rise of postmodern and poststructural approaches in the field key elements of neoliberalism and neoclassical economics by rejecting the idea of system in favour of individuals It also investigates the effect of the economic crisis on funding and support for higher education and addresses the sense that anthropology has lost its way with uncertainty over the purpose and future of the discipline The second part of the book explores how the discipline can overcome its difficulties and place itself on a firmer foundation suggesting ways that we can productively combine the debates of the late twentieth century with a renewed sense that people live their lives not as individuals but as enmeshed in webs of relationship and obligation

Women Intellectuals, Modernism, and Difference Alice Gambrell, 1997-07-03 How do gender and race become objects of intellectual inquiry What happens to marginal discourses when they participate in the academic processes of scrutiny and evaluation In Women Intellectuals Modernism and Difference Alice Gambrell examines the careers of a group of women intellectuals Leonora Carrington Ella Deloria H D Zora Neale Hurston and Frida Kahlo whose scholarly rediscovery coincided with the rise of feminist and minority discourse studies in the academy She examines the exhibitions memoirs poems ethnographies and personal correspondences these women produced combining concrete local observation with contemporary theoretical perspectives on race and gender Through a mixture of empirical detail and theoretical speculation Gambrell explores the role these women played in expanding the conception of American literature by their involvement in the Harlem Renaissance She offers new ways of thinking about the relationships between cultural studies feminism and minority discourse within the ongoing reassessment of modernism

Thinking about Society: Theory and Practice Ian Jarvie, 2012-12-06 I C Jarvie was trained as a social anthropologist in the center of British social anthropology the London School of Economics where Bronislaw Malinowski was the object of ancestor worship Jarvie's doctorate was in philosophy however under the guidance of Karl Popper and John Watkins He changed his department not as a defector but as a rebel attempting to exorcize the ancestral spirit He criticized the method of participant observation not as useless but as not comprehensive it is neither necessary nor sufficient for the making of certain contributions to anthropology rather it all depends on the problem situation And so Jarvie remained an anthropologist at heart who in addition to some studies in rather conventional anthropological or sociological molds also studied the tribe of social scientists but also critically examining their problems especially their overall rather philosophical problems but not always so a few of the studies included in this volume exemplify his work on specific issues whether of technology or architecture or nationalism in the academy or moviemaking or even movies exhibiting excessive sex and violence These studies attract his attention both on account of their own merit and on account of their need for new and powerful research tools such as those which he has forged in his own intellectual workshop over the last two decades

Maya Intellectual Renaissance Victor D. Montejo, 2010-01-01 When Mayan leaders protested the celebration of the Quincentenary of the discovery of America and joined with other indigenous groups in the Americas to proclaim an alternate celebration of 500 years of resistance they rose to national prominence in Guatemala This was possible in part because of the cultural political economic and religious revitalization that occurred in Mayan communities in the later half of the twentieth century Another result of the revitalization was Mayan students enrollment in graduate programs in order to reclaim the intellectual history of the brilliant Mayan past Victor Montejo was one of those students This is the first book to be published outside of Guatemala where a Mayan writer other than Rigoberta Menchu discusses the history and problems of the country It collects essays Montejo has written over the past ten years that address three critical issues facing Mayan peoples today identity representation and Mayan leadership Montejo is deeply invested in furthering the discussion of the effectiveness of Mayan leadership because he believes that self evaluation is necessary for the movement to advance He also criticizes the racist treatment that Mayans experience and advocates for the construction of a more pluralistic Guatemala that recognizes cultural diversity and abandons assimilation This volume maps a new political alternative for the future of the movement that promotes inter ethnic collaboration alongside a reverence for Mayan culture

Modernism and the Celtic Revival

Gregory Castle,2001-05-21 In Modernism and the Celtic Revival Gregory Castle examines the impact of anthropology on the work of Irish Revivalists such as W B Yeats John M Synge and James Joyce Castle argues that anthropology enabled Irish Revivalists to confront and combat British imperialism even as these Irish writers remained ambivalently dependent on the cultural and political discourses they sought to undermine Castle shows how Irish Modernists employed textual and rhetorical strategies first developed in anthropology to translate reassemble and edit oral and folk cultural material In doing so he claims they confronted and undermined inherited notions of identity which Ireland often a site of ethnographic curiosity throughout the nineteenth century had been subject to Drawing on a wide range of post colonial theory this book should be of interest to scholars in Irish studies post colonial studies and Modernism

The American Intellectual Elite

John Sommer,2017-07-12 There are almost as many works about intellectuals as there are intellectuals Perhaps this is because intellectuals are masters of the word and their mastery is often used to write about themselves Indeed with the possible exceptions of sports figures and film actors intellectuals may be the most overpublicized people in America In this classic study originally published in 1974 Charles Kadushin examines the attitudes of that class of people known as the American intellectual elite While most works on intellectuals first establish who should be included under the title intellectual and debate their characteristics Kadushin instead sets forth a sociological history of leading American intellectuals of the late 1960s The book s concern however is primarily with time and place While The American Intellectual Elite is very much about social circles and the networked small world of intellectuals defined by the institutions such as the journals and magazines around which they gathered the uniqueness of this volume is the recognition that fact must come before theory Thus the collective attitude of leading intellectuals of the sixties are presented in a straightforward and dispassionate manner on topics as diverse as the Vietnam War race relations foreign and domestic policy and the place of intellectuals in the resolution of such issues Now in paperback with a new introduction by the author The American Intellectual Elite is an influential work that will be valued by students of sociology members of the intellectual elite and professionals and students of contemporary American history
