Anthropology Study Of People:

Encyclopedia of Social and Cultural Anthropology Alan Barnard, Jonathan Spencer, 1996 Providing a guide to the ideas arguments and history of the discipline this volume discusses human social and cultural life in all its diversity and difference Theory ethnography and history are combined in over 230 entries on topics Studying Peoples in the People's Democracies Mihály Sárkány, C. M. Hann, Peter Skalník, 2005 Under socialism the anthropological sciences developed under conflicting pressures on the one hand Soviet influences Marxist ideology and institutional changes on the other the continued influence of national traditions and of the distinction between Volkskunde and Volkerkunde The chapters bring out striking differences between the countries considered the German Democratic Republic Poland Czechoslovakia and Hungary They also draw attention to variation within countries and between sub branches of the discipline Coverage extends from the Stalinist years to the end of the socialist era and the topics range from folklore studies at home to fieldwork expeditions abroad Studying Peoples in the People's Democracies II Vintila Mihailescu, Ilia Iliev, Slobodan Naumovic, 2008 Bulgaria and Serbia during socialism are outlined from many different points of view in this volume Beyond local and personal trajectories the authors illuminate more general and comparative questions Was there anything like a socialist anthropology common to all three countries Did Soviet and or Marxist influences in the discipline and in society in general penetrate so deeply as to form an unavoidable common denominator of anthropological practice The answers turn out to be complex and subtle While unifying ideological forces were very strong in the 1950s diversity increased thereafter Anthropology was entangled with national ideology in all three countries but the evidence nonetheless calls for polyphonic interpretations

Politics and Pitfalls of Japan Ethnography Jennifer

Robertson, 2013-10-18 Four anthropologists Elise Edwards Ann Elise Lewallen Bridget Love and Tomomi Yamaguchi draw on their fieldwork experiences in Japan to demonstrate collectively the inadequacy of both the Code of Ethics developed by the American Anthropological Association AAA and the dictates of Institutional Review Boards IRB when dealing with messy human realities The four candidly and critically explore the existential dilemmas they were forced to confront with respect to this inadequacy for the AAA s code and IRBs consider neither the vulnerability and powerlessness of ethnographers nor the wholly unethical and even criminal deportment of some informants As Jennifer Robertson points out in her Introduction whereas the AAA s Code tends to perpetuate the stereotype of more advantaged fieldworkers studying less advantaged peoples IRBs appear to protect their home institutions from possible litigation rather than living and breathing people whose lives are often ethically compromised irrespective of the presence of an ethnographer In her commentary Sabine Fr hst ck who incurred ample experience with ethical dilemmas in the course of her pathbreaking ethnographic research on Japan s Self Defense Forces situates the four articles in a broader theoretical context and emphasizes the link between political engagement and ethnographic accuracy This book was previously published as a special issue of Critical Asian Studies
