Anti Foreignism And Modernization In China 1860-1980:

Antiforeignism and Modernization in China, 1860-1980 Guangsheng Liao, 1984      Japan's Cultural Policy Toward China, 1918-1931 See Heng Teow, 2020-03-23 Most existing scholarship on Japan's cultural policy toward modern China reflects the paradigm of cultural imperialism. In contrast, this study demonstrates that Japan, while motivated by pragmatic interests, international cultural rivalries, ethnocentrism, moralism, and idealism, was mindful of Chinese opinion and sought the cooperation of the Chinese government. Japanese policy stressed cultural communication and inclusiveness rather than cultural domination and exclusiveness and was part of Japan's search for an East Asian cultural order led by Japan. China, however, was not a passive recipient and actively sought to redirect this policy to serve its national interests and aspirations. The author argues that it is time to move away from the framework of cultural imperialism toward one that recognizes the importance of cultural autonomy, internationalism, and transculturation.

Civilization, Nation and Modernity in East Asia Zhiyu Shi, 2012 This book explores the crisis of cultural identity which has assaulted Asian countries since Western countries began to have a profound impact on Asia in the nineteenth century. Confronted by Western civilization and by modernity, Asian countries have been compelled to rethink their identity and to consider how they should relate to Western civilization and modernity. The result, the author argues, has been a redefining by Asian countries of their own character as nations and an adaptation of civilization and modernity to their own special conditions. Asian nations, the author contends, have thereby engaged with the West and with modernity but on their own terms, occasionally and in various inconsistent ways in which they could assert a sense of difference, forcing changes in the Western concept of civilization. Drawing on postmodern theory, the Kyoto School, Confucian and other traditional Asian thought, and the actual experiences of Asian countries, especially China and Japan, the author demonstrates that Asian countries' redefining of the concept of civilization in the course of their quest for an appropriate postmodern national identity is every bit as key a part of the rise of Asia as economic growth or greater international political activity.

Borrowed Gods and Foreign Bodies
 Eric Reinders, 2004-11-15 Borrowed Gods and Foreign Bodies explores the Western imagination of the Chinese body in Protestant missionary encounters with Chinese religion 1807-1937

China Made Karl Gerth, 2020-05-11 Chinese people should consume Chinese products This slogan was the catchphrase of a movement in early twentieth century China that sought to link consumption and nationalism by instilling a concept of China as a modern nation with its own national products From fashions in clothing to food additives from museums to department stores from product fairs to advertising this movement influenced all aspects of China's burgeoning consumer culture Anti imperialist boycotts commemorations of national humiliations exhibitions of Chinese products the vilification of treasonous consumers and the promotion of Chinese captains of industry helped enforce nationalistic consumption and spread the message patriotic Chinese bought goods made of Chinese materials by Chinese workers in factories owned and run by Chinese In China Made Karl Gerth argues that two key forces shaping the modern world nationalism and consumerism developed in tandem in China Early in the twentieth century nationalism branded every commodity as either Chinese or foreign and consumer culture became the place where the notion of nationality was articulated institutionalized and practiced Based on Chinese Japanese and English language archives magazines newspapers and books this first exploration of the historical ties between nationalism and consumerism reinterprets fundamental aspects of modern Chinese history and suggests ways of discerning such ties in all modern nations

Discovering Chinese Nationalism in China Yongnian Zheng, 1999-04-28 This book explores the revival of Chinese nationalism in the 1990s and analyses the ways in which the West deals with this phenomenon Yongnian Zheng discusses the complicated nature of China's new nationalism and presents the reader with a very different picture to that portrayed in Western readings of Chinese nationalism He argues that China's new nationalism has been a reaction to changes in the country's international circumstances and can be regarded as a voice over the existing unjustified international order Zheng shows that the present Chinese leadership is pursuing strategies not to isolate China but to integrate it into the international community Based on the author's extensive research in China the book provides a set of provocative arguments against prevailing Western attitudes to and perceptions of China's nationalism
