The Effective Teaching of Secondary Science John Parkinson, 2014-06-03 The Effective Teaching of Secondary Science encourages the trainee teacher to develop effective skills for teaching science to secondary school pupils The comprehensive coverage of topics and issues provides good foundations for trainee teachers who are encouraged to test and evaluate different techniques Practical advice is offered in areas such as lesson planning the preparation of worksheets planning practical activities and safety in the laboratory The book also discusses the use of information technology as well as multicultural and gender issues and the teaching of pupils with special needs Much of the work covered is undepinned by areas of educational research such as educational theory and psychology and sociology of education Information on the requirements of the national curriculum and on post 16 science courses is given and includes a number of assessment techniques for the problematic area of assessing science attainment target 1

Preparing Antiracist Teachers Christine Montecillo Leider, Christina L. Dobbs, Erin Nerlino, 2024-12-27 Preparing Antiracist Teachers Fostering Antiracism and Equity in Teacher Preparation examines multiple strategies and theories for developing antiracist attitudes and actions in teachers and teacher candidates This textbook uses critical consciousness as a framework to help practitioners and scholars to facilitate the process of doing antiracist work The book is divided into three sections with Part 1 focusing on critical reflection which refers to a social analysis and moral rejection of societal inequities such as social economic racial ethnic and gender inequities that constrain well being and human agency It shows that those who are critically reflective view social problems and inequalities in systemic terms and are therefore better able to address them Part 2 examines sociopolitical efficacy which refers to the perceived capacity to effect social and political change by individual and or collective activism Part 3 centers on critical action that is individual or collective action taken to change aspects of society such as institutional policies and practices that are perceived to be unjust This is a broad view of activism that can include participation in activities such as voting community organizing and peaceful protests Showcasing both USA based and international case studies Preparing Antiracist Teachers will support teacher educators in their work by presenting nuanced and important means of teacher education for antiracism and critical consciousness It will also benefit those studying related courses including Teacher Education Social Justice Education and Multicultural Education of Teaching Secondary Science Sandra Amos, Richard Boohan, 2003-09-02 This book's structure reflects the different dimensions to learning science. The first section focuses on the importance of talk in the science classroom while the second explores the key role of practical work. The third section is concerned with the creative theoretical aspect of science. Section four follows this by considering the communication of ideas and how pupils learn to participate in the discourse of the scientific community. Section five emphasizes the place of science in the broader context considering its moral and ethical dimensions and its place in a cultural context. Finally, section six explores the complexity of the task faced by science teachers highlighting the knowledge and skills science teachers must acquire in order to create an environment in which students are motivated to learn science.

Spiritual, Moral, Social, & Cultural Education Stephen Bigger, 2013-10-23 First published in 1999, this book by a range of teachers and teacher trainers explores specified values in the curriculum as well as whole curriculum issues including religious education, drama, citizenship and vocational education as well as the National Curriculum subjects. As a hugely controversial topic area without general consensus on many key points, this book provides an introductory platform consistently pointing to sources of further reading and suggesting signposts through the issues. Readers will get a wider insight into spiritual, moral, social and cultural issues as well as the development of values in general by reading the specialist chapters.

Antiracist Occupational Therapy Various, 2023-10-19 Social justice inclusion and person-centredness are the cornerstones of occupational therapy, but despite this, the experiences and inequities faced by Black and minoritised populations in health and social care often go unseen and unattended in occupational therapy practice. This timely book provides a compendium of global insights into the inequities faced by Black and minoritised groups in health and social care and considers how key changes in occupational therapy practice and education can redress disparities. Each contributor is active in the occupational therapy community and is incredibly well placed to provide guidance and practical suggestions on how to create sustainable antiracist practice and disrupt the current status quo. Invaluable to occupational therapy professional bodies, academics and students alike, this expansive collection of voices is essential reading for those looking to redress the imbalance of power caused by racism.

Racism, Culture, Markets John Gabriel, 2012-11-12 Racism, Culture, Markets explores the connections between cultural representations of race and their historical institutional and global forms of expression and impact. John Gabriel examines the current fixation with market place philosophies in terms of the crisis in anti-racist politics and concern over questions of cultural identity. He explores issues such as the continuing relevance of terms like 'black' as a basis for self-definition, the need to think about identities in more fluid and complex ways, and the need to develop a much more explicit discussion of the construction of whiteness and white identities. Racism, Culture, Markets brings together a range of historical and contemporary case studies including the Rushdie affair, the Gulf War, debates around fostering, adoption and domestic violence, separate schooling, the service economy and its employment practices, tourism in the Third World, the Bhopal chemical disaster and racism in the new Europe. His case studies also consider the role played by contemporary media and popular culture in these debates including film television music and the press
