Autopsie Della Terra Illuminismo E Geologia In Alberto Fortis 17411803:

Selected Writings of an Eighteenth-Century Venetian Woman of Letters Elisabetta Caminer Turra, 2007-11-01 Elisabetta Caminer Turra 1751-96 was one of the most prominent women in eighteenth century Italy and a central figure in the international Republic of Letters. A journalist and publisher, Caminer participated in important debates on capital punishment, freedom of the press, and the abuse of clerical power. She also helped spread Enlightenment ideas into Italy by promoting and publishing Voltaire's latest works and translating new European plays. Plays she herself directed to great applause on Venetian stages. Bringing together Caminer's letters, poems, and journalistic writings, nearly all published for the first time here, Selected Writings offers readers an intellectual biography of this remarkable figure as well as a glimpse into her intimate correspondence with the most prominent thinkers of her day. But more important, Selected Writings provides insight into the passion that animated Caminer's fervent reflections on the complex and shifting condition of women in her society, the same passion that pushed her to succeed in the male-dominated literary professions. The Invention of Humboldt Mark Thurner, Jorge Cañizares-Esguerra, 2022-12-28 The Invention of Humboldt is a game-changing volume of essays by leading scholars of the Hispanic world that explodes many myths about Alexander von Humboldt and his world. Rather than follow in Humboldt's footsteps, this book outlines the new critical horizon of post-Humboldtian Humboldt studies: the archaeology of all that lies buried under the Baron's epistemological footprint. Contrary to the popular image of Humboldt as a solitary adventurer and hero of science surrounded by New World nature, The Invention of Humboldt demonstrates that the Baron's opus and practice were largely derivative of the knowledge communities and archives of the Hispanic world. Although Humboldtian writing has invented a powerful cult that has served to erase the sources of his knowledge and practice, in truth Humboldt did not invent nature nor did he pioneer global science; he was the beneficiary of Iberian natural science and globalization. Nor was Humboldt a pioneering postcolonial cultural relativist. Instead, his anthropological views of the Americas were Orientalist and historicist and in most ways were less enlightened than those of his Creole contemporaries. This book will reshape the landscape of Humboldt scholarship. It is essential reading for all those interested in Alexander von Humboldt, the Hispanic American enlightenment, and the global history of science and knowledge. Encyclopedia of Italian Literary Studies Gaetana Marrone, Paolo Puppa, 2006-12-26 The Encyclopedia of Italian Literary Studies is a two-volume reference book containing some 600 entries on all aspects of Italian literary culture. It includes analytical essays on authors and works from the most important figures of Italian literature to little-known authors and works that are influential to the field. The Encyclopedia is distinguished by substantial articles on critical themes, genres, schools, historical surveys, and other topics related to the overall subject of Italian literary studies. The Encyclopedia also includes writers and subjects of contemporary interest such as those relating to journalism, film, media, children's literature, food, and vernacular literatures. Entries consist of an essay on the topic and a bibliographic portion listing works for further reading, and in the case of entries on individuals a brief biographical paragraph and list of works by the person It will be useful to people without specialized knowledge of Italian literature as well as to scholars

Lettere di Alberto Fortis (1741-1803) a Giovanni Fabbroni (1752-1822) Alberto Fortis, Giovanni Fabbroni, Luca Ciancio, 2010

Studies on Eighteenth-Century Geology Rhoda Rappaport, edited by Kenneth L. Taylor, 2023-04-21 In a scholarly career spanning five decades Rhoda Rappaport published perceptive analyses of science in the culture of early Modern Europe France in particular with strong emphasis on geology's early development Of the sixteen papers in this volume most focus on aspects of geology's cultivation during the long 18th century from the times of Hooke Leibniz and Fontenelle to those of Lavoisier Werner and Cuvier Among the topics most closely treated here are the French mineralogical mapping project initiated by Guettard contemporary efforts to interpret the earth historically such as through Noah's Flood and difficulties presented by the vocabulary often used in traditional histories of geology Much of Rappaport's research addressed two problems prevalent within 18th century earth science the proper understanding of petrifications or fossil objects and struggles to establish reliable knowledge of the earth's past She also examined the chemistry of G F Rouelle which she saw as effectively an attempt at systematic comprehension of the entire mineral realm transnational features of scientific pursuits as illustrated in the careers of the naturalist Vallisneri and the mineralogist and philosophe d'Holbach and aspects of science's promotion in France through government patronage and academic privilege

Plants and Politics in Padua During the Age of Revolution, 1820-1848 Ariane

Dröschner, 2021-10-22 This book highlights the close interactions between plants plant knowledge politics and social life in Padua during the age of revolution It explores the lives and thoughts of two brothers the lawyer Andrea Meneghini and the botanist Giuseppe Meneghini illustrating the unspoken dreams of progress and a new social order but also sheds light on the ambiguous relationship between the Paduan elite and Austrian rule before the 1848 revolution A closer look at park designs gardening associations and networks flower exhibitions agricultural societies organicist metaphors and botanical research on the organization of living bodies opens up unexpected parallels between actors and ideas of two apparently distant areas botany and political economy

Anonymity in Eighteenth-Century Italian Publishing Lodovica Braida, 2022-09-22 This book focuses on the different forms in which authorship came to be expressed in eighteenth century Italian publishing It analyses both the affirmation of the author function and above all its paradoxical opposite the use of anonymity a centuries old practice present everywhere in Europe but often neglected by scholarship The reasons why authors chose to publish their works anonymously were manifold including prudence fear of censorship modesty fear of personal criticism or simple divertissement In many cases it was an ethical choice especially for ecclesiastics The Italian case provides a key perspective on the study of anonymity in the European context contributing to the analysis of an overlooked topic in academic studies

Tourism in Natural and Agricultural Ecosystems in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries Martino Lorenzo Fagnani, Luciano Maffi, 2023-08-24 This book analyzes the roots of one of the main human activities that can be developed in natural and agricultural ecosystems tourism Attention to natural and agricultural ecosystems and their conservation has intensified in recent decades responding to increasing social sensitivity to the environment as also witnessed by Agenda 2030 The book explores the development of tourism in natural and agricultural ecosystems in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries when some of its essential features derived from the practices of exploration scientific study business healing practices and also a desire for personal growth This research is intended to open up international scholarly debate and discussion and draw in contributions from all disciplines and geographical areas In addition it intends to add an important piece to the mosaic of international literature that has rarely considered the origins of nature and rural tourism in an array of practices not always embodying a stated intent of recreation This book is based on handwritten documents and travelogues circulating during the period in question Most of the travel experiences analyzed regard men and women of European descent but their travels were global with ecosystems considered on all populated continents This volume is essential reading for students and scholars alike interested in tourism history and the history of science and travel

Encyclopedia of Italian Literary Studies: A-J Gaetana Marrone, 2007 Publisher description

Bursting the Limits of Time Martin J. S. Rudwick, 2008-11-15 In 1650 Archbishop James Ussher of Armagh joined the long running theological debate on the age of the earth by famously announcing that creation had occurred on October 23 4004 B C Although widely challenged during the Enlightenment this belief in a six thousand year old planet was only laid to rest during a revolution of discovery in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries In this relatively brief period geologists reconstructed the immensely long history of the earth and the relatively recent arrival of human life Highlighting a discovery that radically altered existing perceptions of a human s place in the universe as much as the theories of Copernicus Darwin and Freud did Bursting the Limits of Time is a herculean effort by one of the world s foremost experts on the history of geology and paleontology to sketch this historicization of the natural world in the age of revolution Addressing this intellectual revolution for the first time Rudwick examines the ideas and practices of earth scientists throughout the Western world to show how the story of what we now call deep time was pieced together He explores who was responsible for the discovery of the earth s history refutes the concept of a rift between science and religion in dating the earth and details how the study of the history of the earth helped define a new branch of science called geology Rooting his analysis in a detailed study of primary sources Rudwick emphasizes the lasting importance of field and museum based research of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Bursting the Limits of Time the culmination of more than three decades of research is the first detailed account of this monumental phase in the history of science

On the Edge of Eternity Ivano Dal Prete, 2022 On the Edge of Eternity overturns the paradigm of the eighteenth century discovery of geological time showing that the antiquity of our planet was a widespread and culturally acceptable notion in pre 1800 Europe In this ground breaking study Ivano Dal Prete brings to life a long forgotten world in which the biblical story of the creation and of the Flood was only one among many doctrines that could be freely taught and discussed University scholars and students artists like Leonardo da Vinci and the readers of easily accessible vernacular books envisaged painted and debated an ageless Earth scarred by innumerable deluges raised and submerged continents annihilated and resurgent humanities Rather than discover deep time the eighteenth century erased its rich and complex history replacing it with a simplistic account that suited its political agendas and still informs our culture On the Edge of Eternity invites the reader to revisit engrained beliefs on the relationship of science and religion the history of the Earth sciences and the cultural assumptions that have underpinned the modern controversy on young Earth creationism The Making of the Geological Society of London Cherry Lewis, Simon J. Knell, 2009 Volta Giuliano Pancaldi, 2018-06-05

Giuliano Pancaldi sets us within the cosmopolitan cultures of Enlightenment Europe to tell the story of Alessandro Volta the brilliant man whose name is forever attached to electromotive force Providing fascinating details many previously unknown Pancaldi depicts Volta as an inventor who used his international network of acquaintances to further his quest to harness the power of electricity This is the story of a man who sought recognition as a natural philosopher and ended up with an invention that would make an everyday marvel of electric lighting Examining the social and scientific contexts in which Volta operated as well as Europe's reception of his most famous invention Volta also offers a sustained inquiry into long term features of science and technology as they developed in the early age of electricity Pancaldi considers the voltaic cell or battery as a case study of Enlightenment notions and their consequences consequences that would include the emergence of the scientist at the expense of the natural philosopher Throughout Pancaldi highlights the complex intellectual technological and social ferment that ultimately led to our industrial societies In so doing he suggests that today's supporters and critics of Enlightenment values underestimate the diversity and contingency inherent in science and technology and may be at odds needlessly Both an absorbing biography and a study of scientific and technological creativity this book offers new insights into the legacies of the Enlightenment while telling the remarkable story of the now ubiquitous battery The Cambridge History of Science: Volume 4, Eighteenth-Century Science David C.
