

An aerial photograph of a city skyline at sunset. The sky is a mix of orange, pink, and purple. In the foreground, a tall, modern building with a grid-like facade stands out. To its right, a large, older brick building is visible. A wide street runs along the bottom right. The city extends into the distance under the colorful sky.

Neo-Avantgarde and Culture Industry Benjamin H. D. Buchloh, 2003-02-28 Eighteen essays written by Buchloh over the last twenty years each looking at a single artist within the framework of specific theoretical and historical questions Some critics view the postwar avant garde as the empty recycling of forms and strategies from the first two decades of the twentieth century Others view it more positively as a new articulation of the specific conditions of cultural production in the postwar period Benjamin Buchloh one of the most insightful art critics and theoreticians of recent decades argues for a dialectical approach to these positions This collection contains eighteen essays written by Buchloh over the last twenty years Each looks at a single artist within the framework of specific theoretical and historical questions The art movements covered include Nouveau Realisme in France Arman Yves Klein Jacques de la Villegle art in postwar Germany Joseph Beuys Sigmar Polke Gerhard Richter American Fluxus and pop art Robert Watts and Andy Warhol minimalism and postminimal art Michael Asher and Richard Serra and European and American conceptual art Daniel Buren Dan Graham Buchloh addresses some artists in terms of their oppositional approaches to language and painting for example Nancy Spero and Lawrence Weiner About others he asks more general questions concerning the development of models of institutional critique Hans Haacke and the theorization of the museum Marcel Broodthaers or he addresses the formation of historical memory in postconceptual art James Coleman One of the book's strengths is its systematic interconnected account of the key issues of American and European artistic practice during two decades of postwar art Another is Buchloh's method which integrates formalist and socio historical approaches specific to each subject

European Avant-garde Dietrich Scheunemann, 2000 This collection of critical essays is designed to lay the foundations for a new theory of the European avant garde It starts from the assumption that not one all embracing intention of all avant garde movements i.e. the intention of reintegrating art into the practice of life Peter Bürger but the challenge of new cultural technologies in particular photography and cinema constitutes the main driving force of the formation and further development of the avant garde This approach permits to establish a theoretical framework that takes into account the diversity of artistic aims and directions of the various art movements and encourages a wide and open exploration of the multifaceted and often contradictory nature of the great variety of avant gardist innovations Following the theoretical foundation of the new approach individual contributions concentrate on a diverse range of avant gardist concepts trends and manifestations from cubist painting and the literary work of Apollinaire and Gertrude Stein to the screeching voices of futurism dadaist photomontage and film surrealist photographs and sculptures and neo avant gardist theories as developed by the French group OuLiPo The volume closes with new insights gained from placing the avant garde in the contexts of literary institutions and psychoanalytical and sociological concepts The main body of the volume is based on presentations and discussions of a three day research seminar held at Yale University New Haven in February 2000 The research group formed on this occasion will continue with its efforts to elaborate a new theory of the avant garde in the coming years

Experimental Cinema Wheeler W. Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2002 Brings together key writings on American avant garde cinema to explore the long tradition of underground filmmaking from its origins in the 1920s to the work of contemporary film and video artists Experimental Writing in Composition Patricia Suzanne Sullivan, 2012-12-15 From the outset experimental writing has been viewed as a means to afford a more creative space for students to express individuality underrepresented social realities and criticisms of dominant socio political discourses and their institutions Yet the recent trend toward multimedia texts has left many composition instructors with little basis from which to assess these new forms and to formulate pedagogies In this original study Patricia Suzanne Sullivan provides a critical history of experimental writing theory and its aesthetic foundations and demonstrates their application to current multimodal writing Sullivan unpacks the work of major scholars in composition and rhetoric and their theories on aesthetics particularly avant gardism

She also relates the dialectics that shape these aesthetics and sheds new light on both the positive and negative aspects of experimental writing and its attempts to redefine the writing disciplines. Additionally, she shows how current debates over the value of multimedia texts echo earlier arguments that pitted experimental writing against traditional models. Sullivan further articulates the ways that multimedia is and isn't changing composition pedagogies and provides insights into resolving these tensions.

Art and Emancipation John Roberts, 2023-11-07 Across a powerfully wide ranging set of themes, theoretical registers and historical examples, John Roberts analyses the key problems that continue to confront art after conceptual art in the light of art's longstanding relationship to market and institution, the commodity and mass culture, namely artistic labour and technology, modernity and the new art and negation, identity and subjectivity, agency and audience, form and value. In these terms, the book provides a rigorous and ambitious examination of the limits and possibilities of art's contribution to emancipatory discourse and practice.

Grand Design Tino Balio, 1995 Covering a tumultuous period of the 1950s, this work explores the divorce of movie studios from their theater chains, the panic of the blacklist era, the explosive emergence of science fiction as the dominant genre, and the rise of television and Hollywood's response with widescreen spectacles.

Chinese Poetry in Times of Mind, Mayhem and Money Maghiel van Crevel, 2008-08-31 Chinese Poetry in Times of Mind, Mayhem and Money is a groundbreaking contribution to scholarship, well suited to classroom use, in that it combines rigorous analysis with a lively style. Covering the period from the 1980s to the present, it is organized around the notions of text, context and metatext, meaning, poetry, its socio-political and cultural surroundings, and critical discourse in the broadest sense. Authors and issues studied include Han Dong, Haizi, Xi Chuan, Yu Jian, Sun Wenbo, Yang Lian, Wang Jiaxin, Bei Dao, Yin Lichuan, Shen Haobo, and Yan Jun, and everything from the subtleties of poetic rhythm to exile bashing in domestic media. This book has room for all that poetry is: cultural heritage, symbolic capital, intellectual endeavor, social commentary, emotional expression, music, and the materiality of language, art in a word.
