Subject Guide to Children's Books in Print 1997 Bowker Editorial Staff,R R Bowker Publishing,1996-09 Author Index to Psychological Abstracts ,1964 e-Learning in Aviation Dr Suzanne K Kearns,2012-10-01 Whereas traditional classroom instruction requires pilots to be pulled off the line a training facility to be maintained and instructors to be compensated e learning is extremely cost effective and therefore an attractive alternative However e learning only saves money if the training is effective Eager to reap financial benefits e learning courses have a history of varying dramatically in quality The poorest courses are those that directly convert classroom based presentations to an online format not recognizing that computer based instruction is an entirely different medium Addressing this issue directly e Learning in Aviation explores the characteristics of computer based course design and multimedia that are associated with improved learning It then provides guidance regarding how to use research based instructional design principles to plan design develop and implement an e Learning course within an aviation organization and continually evaluate whether or not the course is accomplishing instructional goals A blended learning strategy which incorporates both face to face and computer based instruction is suggested as the most appropriate choice for the majority of aviation companies The goal of this approach is to utilize e Learning as a tool to reduce time at the training centre and thereby increase pilot productivity and potentially improve the quality of training Although the examples within this book focus on pilot training the suggestions and guidelines are applicable to all employee groups within the industry

Competency-Based Education in Aviation Assoc Prof Tim Mavin,Dr Steven Hodge,Dr Suzanne K Kearns,2016-01-28 Whether a trainee is studying air traffic control piloting maintenance engineering or cabin crew they must complete a set number of training hours before being licensed or certified The aviation industry is moving away from an hours based to a competency based training system Within this approach training is complete when a learner can demonstrate competent performance Training based on competency is an increasingly popular approach in aviation It allows for an alternate means of compliance with international regulations which can result in shorter and more efficient training programs However there are also challenges with a competency based approach The definition of competency based education can be confusing training can be reductionist and artificially simplistic professional interpretation of written competencies can vary between individuals and this approach can have a high administrative and regulatory burden Competency Based Education in Aviation Exploring Alternate Training Pathways explores this approach to training in great detail considering the four aviation professional groups of air traffic control pilots maintenance engineers and cabin crew Aviation training experts were interviewed and have contributed professional insights along with personal stories and anecdotes associated with competency based approaches in their fields Research based and practical strategies for the effective creation delivery and assessment of competency based education are described in detail The Airline Training Pilot Tony Smallwood,Michael Fraser,1995-01-01 Technological advances in modern aircraft and their operation have prompted airline and regulatory authorities to look again at training methods The importance of human factors and resource management as keys to flight safety have focused attention on how to improve overall training effectiveness

Aviation Training Ross A.Telfer,Phillip J. Moore,2017-03-02 The book is in three parts which consider training from the perspective of the learner the instructor and the organization Its intended readership includes civil and military training and senior pilots flying instructors check pilots CRM facilitators Human Factors and safety departments and aviation and educational psychologists as well as those in operations and air traffic management and regulatory authorities Training

Design in Aviation Norman MacLeod,2017-03-02 Well structured training based on sound theoretical principles can transform the system in which high performance is essential and in turn the organisation Yet the strategic role of cost effective training provision is often less well understood than it might be in all branches of aviation whether civil or regional general business or military This book analyzes the cycle of training design from the identification of requirement through to measurement of effectiveness Key issues in training design and management are illustrated with examples and learning is consolidated through case studies The book provides advice tools procedures and examples of best practice both recent and well established to assist aviation training personnel who aim to guarantee cost effective training The approach is highly practical but does not avoid covering the theory when needed An informative guide to the process of training analysis and course design the book examines each stage of the training design cycle in some depth In addition it looks at the application of quality management and of project management to training design Each chapter contains advice and techniques as well as examples drawn from the author s wealth of experience of training in aviation Designing Instruction for Human

Factors Training in Aviation Graham J. F. Hunt,1997 This work covers the main aspects of human factors in aviation training It sets out the underlying ingredients of instruction and evaluation and deals with human factors instruction in airlines air traffic control and aviation medicine Pilot Knowledge of Automated Flight Controls Matthew A.
