Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History, 1993

Britain's Glorious Aircraft Industry J Paul Hodgson, 2021-03-03

The rich and diverse history of the British aircraft industry is captured in superb detail by the author in this weighty tome. Aviation News Great Britain's aircraft industry started in 1908 with the first formally registered organization in the world to offer to design and build an aeroplane for commercial gain. This book tells the complete story of the 110 years since the start: all the companies formed and the aircraft they produced, highlighting the advances in aeronautical ambition and technology. It is the story of the creation, survival and decline of all one hundred and twenty-three of the aircraft design and construction companies formed between 1908 and 2018. The exhilaration of success and the magic of aviation technology are vividly illustrated by the technical and political birth stories of iconic projects such as the Cirrus Gypsy Moths, the Tiger Moth, the flying boats of Imperial Airways, Spitfire, Lancaster, Viscount, Vulcan, Harrier, Buccaneer and many more. The rotary wing industry is not forgotten. The birth of the jet turbine engine and the quest for supersonic speed is included. The stories of the disappointments of failure and disaster such as the Brabazon Comet, Princess Rotodyne and TSR 2 and the growth of international collaboration in Concorde, Tornado, Airbus Eurofighter Typhoon and other projects are included in the context of the international scene and domestic politics. The conclusion highlights the prominent reminiscences and speculates on the future of the aircraft industry in Britain. An outstanding reference book and a thoroughly enjoyable canter through the decades from the days of wood and fabric to the modern composite structure of the wings of the A400 Atlas. RAF Historical Society

Avro Military 1910-63 Key Publishing, 2022-11-30. Founded in 1910, A V Roe and Company Limited built its first military aircraft two years later. By 1914 the company was literally flying when it designed the first of many iconic aircraft in the shape of the Avro 504, which sold in colossal numbers and was the key factor in keeping the company afloat after the end of World War One. With war looming again, new military designs gained momentum, although another huge success in the shape of the Anson was germinated from an Imperial Airways requirement. Success continued with the Blenheim, Manchester and Lancaster. The Lincoln and Shackleton were ordered in large numbers for the RAF and the most famous jet-powered delta bomber of all, the Vulcan, kept the company at the forefront of Britain's aviation industry. This new book edition of Aeroplane's Avro Company Profile 1910-1963 is testimony to what Avro's aircraft and the men who flew them achieved and shines a light on the great aircraft manufacturer that designed and built them.

Avro Harry Holmes, 2004-05-31. The story of A V Roe and Company Ltd Avro begins in the very earliest years of aviation, only three years after man's first powered flight. Alliot Verdon Roe was one of Britain's pioneer aviators and in 1910 he founded the company that bears his name. Famous for well-designed, reliable airplanes, Avro's greatest achievements were two bombers: the Lancaster and the Vulcan, which captivate public imagination to this day. World-renowned Avro expert Harry Holmes has written the complete history of this much-loved manufacturer from the earliest years to the recent revival of the Avro name.
