Horn, Jr., David R. Seibert, Antonio Apap, Norman S. Bull, 2018-07-10 The stories in this book were supplied by squadron mates who served with the U S Navy s Airborne Early Warning Squadron One or VW 1 a squadron that supported the Seventh Fleet and also engaged in typhoon tracking The squadron s existence spanned a nearly 20 year period that began with the Korean War and ended with the Vietnam War This collection is titled From Guam and Beyond because the squadron was stationed on Guam but it also includes the authors experiences as they were stationed at or came in contact with populations at other sites in the Western Pacific ranging from Yap in the Caroline Islands to Japan Okinawa the Philippines and Vietnam      War and the Arc of Human Experience Glenn Petersen, 2021-05-20 Glenn Petersen flew seventy combat missions in Vietnam when he was nineteen launching from an aircraft carrier in the Tonkin Gulf He d sought out the weighty responsibilities and hazardous work But why What did the cultural architecture of the society he grew up in have to do with the way he went to war In this book he looks at the war from an anthropological perspective because that s how he s made his living in all the subsequent years it s how he sees the world While anthropologists write about the military and war these days they do so from the perspective of researchers What makes this a fully original contribution is that Petersen brings to the page the classic methodology of ethnographers participant observation a kind of total immersion He writes from the dual perspectives of an insider and a researcher and seeks in the specifics of lived experience some larger conclusions about humans social lives in general Petersen was long oblivious to what had happened to him in Vietnam and he fears that young men and women who ve been fighting the US military s wars in Afghanistan and Iraq might be similarly unaware of what s happened to them Skills that allowed him to survive in combat in particular his ability to focus tightly on the challenges directly in front of him seemed to transfer well to life after war The same intensity led him to a successful academic career including the time he represented the Micronesian islands at the United Nations how could anything be wrong Then surreptitiously the danger the stress and the trauma he d hidden away broke through a brittle shell and the war came spilling out As an anthropologist he sees in this a classic pattern an adaptation to one set of conditions is put to a new and practical use when conditions change but in time what had once been beneficial turns into maladaptive behavior In writing about why we fight he shed lights on what the fighting does to us      Military Review ,2004      A Cognitive Approach to Situation Awareness:

Theory and Application Sébastien Tremblay, 2017-03-02 The importance of situation awareness SA in assessing and predicting operator competence in complex environments has become increasingly apparent in recent years It has been widely established that SA is a contributing factor to many commercial and military accidents and incidents Yet determining exactly what constitutes SA is a very difficult task given the complexity of the construct itself and the many different processes involved with its acquisition and maintenance This volume brings together recent developments from researchers and practitioners from around the world who are studying and applying SA from a cognitive perspective The 41 contributors represent many different theoretical perspectives research approaches and domains of application Each chapter has a primary emphasis around one of three main topics theory measurement and application and examines the considerable inter linkage between them To bring further coherence to the book all of the contributors received draft manuscripts of those chapters most relevant to their own Designed to be completely international and interdisciplinary the authors themselves present varied perspectives from academic departments and industrial organisations from around the world and from broad applications with contributions from researchers in the domains of process control sport aviation transportation and command and control The readership includes practitioners academics and researchers within human factors ergonomics and industrial psychology Graduate and Undergraduate students specialising within these areas during their final year
