AWAKENING OF ASIA. VLADIMIR. LENIN, 2022 Eurasia Without Borders Katerina Clark, 2021-11-02 A long awaited corrective to the controversial idea of world literature from a major voice in the field Katerina Clark charts interwar efforts by Soviet European and Asian leftist writers to create a Eurasian commons a single cultural space that would overcome national cultural and linguistic differences in the name of an anticapitalist anti imperialist and later antifascist aesthetic At the heart of this story stands the literary arm of the Communist International or Comintern anchored in Moscow but reaching Baku Beijing London and parts in between Its mission attracted diverse networks of writers who hailed from Turkey Iran India and China as well as the Soviet Union and Europe Between 1919 and 1943 they sought to establish a new world literature to rival the capitalist republic of Western letters Eurasia without Borders revises standard accounts of global twentieth century literary movements The Eurocentric discourse of world literature focuses on transatlantic interactions largely omitting the international left and its Asian members Meanwhile postcolonial studies have overlooked the socialist aligned world in favor of the clash between Western European imperialism and subaltern resistance Clark provides the missing pieces illuminating a distinctive literature that sought to fuse European and vernacular Asian traditions in the name of a post imperialist culture Socialist literary internationalism was not without serious problems and at times it succumbed to an orientalist aesthetic that rivaled any coming from Europe Its history is marked by both promise and tragedy With clear eyed honesty Clark traces the limits compromises and achievements of an ambitious cultural collaboration whose resonances in later movements can no longer be ignored The Awakening of Asia, 1957 The Awakening of Asia Henry M.

Contemporary, 1975 The Making of Northeast Asia Kent Calder, Min Ye, 2010-08-16 Northeast Asia where the interests of three major nuclear powers and the world's two largest economies converge around the unstable pivot of the Korean peninsula is a region rife with political economic paradox It ranks today among the most dangerous areas on earth plagued by security problems of global importance including nuclear and missile proliferation Yet despite its insecurity the region has continued to be the most rapidly growing on earth for over five decades and it is emerging as an identifiable economic political and strategic region in its own right As the locus of both economic growth and political military uncertainty in Asia has moved further to the Northeast a need has developed for a book that focuses analytically on prospects for Northeast Asian cooperation within the context of both Asia and the Asia Pacific regional relationship This book does exactly that while also offering a more general theory for Asian institution building
